Google's Android Go initiative is about making quality smartphones available to users no matter where they live or how much money they have to spend. Much of it comes from affordable hardware that is powered by Go, but along with that Google also offers a wide range of Go apps. Go apps are designed to offer basic features to their regular counterparts while being more suited to lower-end hardware, and the ones we've seen so far are damn great. Most of them are installed on android go phone by default, but you can download them to any phone no matter what you have. Without further ado, here are all the Go apps that are available right now! Google Go If you want the best of Google in a thin, light package, this is where Google Go comes into play. Google Go lets you do almost everything you'd do in a regular Google app, including searching the web for anything you want, finding and quickly sharing GIFs, voice search, and more. The home screen for Google Go has quick links to its best features, in addition to web apps for things like Twitter, Instagram etc. Best part? Google says Google Go can help save up to 40% of your data usage compared to a regular Google app. Download: Google Go (free) YouTube Go Just as we love YouTube, its Android app can be quite challenging at times. With the YouTube Go app, you can access all of your favorite YouTube videos and features without having to worry about slowing down on your phone or burning too much data. YouTube Go lets you browse and watch all the videos you'd find in a regular YouTube app, while providing you with tools to download videos for offline viewing, sharing with friends without using any data and seeing accurately how much MB the video is. There's no subscription page or option to like a video, but there's a lot to like about an app that weighs just 9.4 MB. Download: YouTube Go (free) Gmail Go What is so amazing about Gmail Go is that it's virtually indistinguishable from the regular Gmail app. The interface is mostly unchanged, emails are grouped into intelligent categories such as social networks and promotions, quick replies are here and there is support for both Gmail and non-Gmail email accounts. The app is just 9.9MB in size and even comes with 15GB of free storage, so you never have to worry about running out of space. Download: Gmail Go (free) Go Maps Whether you're doing well, looking for a number for a local restaurant or looking for a new place for coffee to try, Google Maps is doing it all. Fortunately, all the best Google Maps features are present in Maps Go. There are over 70 different languages to choose from, information for over 100 million sites, and the application is only 167 KB. Download: Maps Go (free) Assistant Go Google Assistant is one of the Google services I rely on the most, and whether you want to learn about the weather tomorrow or find out how to commute to work, Assistant Go offers basic features that so great in a slimmed down 5.0MB application. You can open the Go Assistant by tapping the app icon. Application. If you have an Android Go phone, you can ask the assistant to make phone calls, send text messages, navigate, and more. While it's great, Go Assistant can't currently set reminders, control smart home gadgets, or use assistant actions. Download: Assistant Go (free) Go files As you use your phone over time, it can be easy to forget about old apps, pictures and other local digital items that eat away at your internal storage. If you want to help regain your precious space, this is where files go comes into play. Files Go is cluttered with useful features that offer easy access to delete old files you no longer need, a powerful search tool to find certain photos or videos you're looking for, and encrypted file sharing that requires no internet connection.
