Mistakes received? What we need to know to help! Tell us more.1) Device name and model number. With smartphones these days, it can be quite difficult to determine hardware on multiple devices. With Android, there can be several different hardware configurations with a device with the same name. I.E. Samsung Galaxy S4, Nexus 7 and/or HTC One phones and tablets. Including both the device name and the model - will help us to detect these problems more quickly.2) How long did you play before the crash happened? When was the last time you restarted your phone? Answering these answers for us will help us determine if it is a functional crash or a memory crash. Restarting memory-related crashes can help your phone in the short term.3) Which screen were you in when this problem occurred? Were you in a fight, or in the front-end menus? 4) Any other weirdness you've seen before and after an exception? Q2. Known issue: Driver issues with Android devices running Mali-400 GPU with r3p2. Hey All, Our team has investigated an issue where users get an Android error while playing our game on certain models of devices (Galaxy Note II, Galaxy Tab 3 8.0, Galaxy Note 10.1, Galaxy Note 8.0, Galaxy S3, Galaxy S4 Zoom, etc.). After a thorough investigation, we have identified a critical issue regarding Marvel Contest of Champions on Android devices with ARM Mali-400 GPUs. This problem can cause the game to crash, most often at the beginning of battles. We believe that some of the graphics features of the game have revealed a bug in the older device driver software (i.e. r3p2), which is installed on some Androids, because devices with newer versions of the driver do not have the problem. Unfortunately, the driver software is not under our control and we cannot do this internally. The only solution we found is to update the operating system of the device that might contain a driver update. However, we are aware that a driver update may on all affected devices is possible.10 Tips for you to know1. Don't Button Mash to Death! Start the fight by blocking. Use your blocking and evasion.2.
