Players have three ways they can enter codes. The first way is by going to the home screen of Animal Jam and selecting the box next to I have a code to enter!, activating a text box where the player can enter his code inside However, the player cannot be logged in as the box is only visible when the player's login is being displayed. If a code expires and becomes available for use again, anyone who typed the code earlier before expiration can use the code again. Animal Jam CEO Clark Stacey announced on his Twitter account the PENGUINS code because of the closure of the Club Penguin Island game.
