More The Cartoon Network Wiki Share Cartoon Network TKO (Titanic Kungfubot Offensive) was a crossover game that featured Total Drama Action, produced by Cartoon Network. The game was first released in early 2009, but has since been removed from the site. Gameplay Each character in the game had an individual special attack which inflicted more damage than regular attacks, so you would have a lot of choices to conquer your opponents and win the match. The only two playable characters from Total Drama in Cartoon Network TKO were Duncan and Chef Hatchet. They were both added on June 20, 2009, just after the premiere of Total Drama Action on Cartoon Network. Duncan's particular attack was stomped on the ground, causing stony spikes to rise up and injure his opponent. Cook Hatchet's particular attack was to throw a sink at his opponent. Badges From 2011, the player could earn badges for his profile by achieving certain goals in the game. One of the badges featured Chef and Duncan together. It could have been earned if the player won a game to play as both Duncan and Chef. Showing Cartoon Network shows that had aired new premieres and episodes from 2007-2010 were all represented with characters in the game. These shows are: Adventure Time, Chowder, Ben 10: Alien Force, Ben 10: Ultimate Alien, Generator Rex, Johnny Test, The Marvelous Misadventures of Flapjack, Sym-Bionic Titan, The Secret Saturdays and Total Drama.
