2019 Description SkillFlix™ for Parents (SkillFlix) is an online video library designed for parents of mildly cognitively impaired youth. Modeling effective conversations, SkillFlix videos teach parents conversational skills and sexual health information that allows them to have more productive conversations with their children. SkillFlix for Parents is undergoing a formative evaluation to improve the program's design and implementation and add to the teen pregnancy prevention proof-base. A formative evaluation will be followed by an evaluation of the effectiveness of the programme. Program Snapshot Population: Parents of cognitively-impaired students (ages 10-26) Location(s): Kent, Ionia, and Montcalm Counties, MI Partners: Nine School Districts in Kent, Ionia, and Montcalm Counties Goals Increase Parents' Knowledge About Teen sexual health Teach parents conversational skills and increase their ability to have effective conversations about sexual health with their cognitively-impaired teens Increase the frequency of communication about sexual health between parents and their cognitively-impaired teen strategies Skill-building videos for SkillFlix parents for parents is skill-building online video library that teaches parents how to have conversations about sexual health with their cognitively-impaired teens. SkillFlix videos feature actors showing cognitively-impaired youth and their parents having conversations about sexual health. Every sixty-second video models micro-skill™, small actions parents can take to improve the quality of their conversations. The videos are organized by skillset; Each skill contains three to five videos that teach separate Micro-skills. For example, the skill of using conversational tone involves videos on Micro-skills using relaxed and open body language and staying positive or neutral when surprised. The videos also include information on sexual health topics, including abstinence, pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections (SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED INFECTIONS). By watching videos and exercising, parents learn skills that enable them to talk effectively with their children and respond to unpredictable situations. SkillFlix for Parents is an extension of SkillFlix educational technology, originally developed for medical dfusion educators with National Institutes of Health funding. Parallel school lessons for young people All participants in SkillFlix for Parents have children who receive the Making a Difference curriculum at school. Funded by the HHS Report on Children's and Families' Families and Youth Services Authority and conducted by the Kent Intermediate School District, this evidence-based program has been tailored for moderate cognitively-impaired students and provides them with the knowledge and skills to reduce their risk pregnancy. SkillFlix for parents videos comply with making a difference curriculum and allow parents to have conversations with their children about what they are learning at school as they learn it. Teachers at these schools have been trained by intermediaries and provide students and their families with an additional layer of support. Just as the corporate council provides governance and oversight, the school board monitors fiscal responsibility and budgets, and helps integrate the community's vision of what students should know and be able to do. Primary responsibility of the school ensure the best possible learning experience for all students. This includes analysing curricula and educational programmes and prioritising how money should be spent. In some cases, the school board may decide what can and cannot be taught in specific schools The School Board monitors all expenditure on the school district. This includes discussing and finaling budgets for the District each year, monitoring spending activity to ensure it meets budget guidelines, and making difficult decisions when cuts are needed. The council is also reviewing proposals put forward for new construction, refurbishment of schools and other major investments in district funds. The board is also considering all options for the district to generate additional revenue. The secondary task of school boards is to serve as a link between the district and the community. Councillors must take into account the needs of district faculties and staff, parents, students and others in the general population affected by school activities and financial management. An important part of the work of the Community Relations Board is to listen to stakeholders' contributions to board meetings and address the concerns of educators, students and community members. The council must also answer questions from local media about important issues and keep in touch with local and state lawmakers to lobby for school district concerns. Ensuring that school district operations comply with local, state and federal laws is another responsibility of the school board. This could include the development of a human resources system that provides fair and objective recruitment, promotion and evaluation of school staff. The Council shall also supervise disciplinary hearings relating to the conduct of staff. Photo: shutterstock.comNene you don't need kids to understand that good public schools promote the value of homes in your district. And while better quality schools are usually accompanied by higher property taxes, homeowners in these counties are eventually repaid through higher house sales prices. Getting paid back sounds great, but how much do we say? New research from Realtor.com shows that to enter a desirable school district, 9% of buyers say they would pay 11% to 20% over budget. Separately, 17% said they'd pay extra to be close enough for their children to be able to walk to and from school. Realtor.com that 62% of buyers would go to a spa home if it meant getting into the right school district. 50% would allow easy access to shopping, while 44% would give up space in the form of a bonus room. If the house you plan to sell is located in a highly sought after school district, do everything in your power that fact in all your real estate marketing marketing Many potential buyers are parents of children currently in the school system, so make sure to get the word out between neighbors and local friends. If you're buying a home, use a search engine that allows you to filter by school district because district boundaries don't always align with city, village and city lines. After all, you can't assume that your kids will be assigned to attend the same school as the kids on the block or even next door. Jonathan Kirn/Stone/Getty Images The best way to find out your school district is to consult an online search engine that uses geographic identifiers to determine the school district. The U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Educational Statistics provides one such tool, and the Great Schools provides a similar one. When a person designates the right school district, sometimes it is still necessary to find out which school is allocated. This can be done by calling the local school district. Many larger school districts, including Los Angeles and New York counties, provide online search tools that use the customer's home address to determine assigned schools. School.
