It had grown into a weekly event held for nine months in Mobile, Alabama, before it began touring other U.S. cities. The revival has been led by John Kilpatrick, pastor of his presence at the Church, and Nathan Morris from Ravista nations in the UK. [1] The meetings have been characterized by long periods of worship led by Lydia Stanley, sermons challenging people to turn back to God, prayer for the sick, and claims of divine healing that have been widely publicized. It has also gained attention through an international television audience. History Bay Revival has its roots in the Brownsville Revival period from 1995 to 2000, led by John Kilpatrick and evangelist Steve Hill in Pensacola, Florida, reportedly attended by four million people. During this time, Kilpatrick became well known as he traveled more and more across the United States, encouraging shepherds to pursue a revival. [2] Kilpatrick finally left Brownsville in 2003 and moved on to Daphne to take on the role of pastor in the Church of His Presence. It was during the Church's 2010 Open the Heavens Conference that attendees claimed that the revival phenomenon had returned: It was said to have happened while Nathan Morris was preaching on the last night of the event, 23 June. [3] The outbreak of recovery at the 2010 Conference was characterised by claims that people had supernaturally improved. The daphne civic center meetings were then expanded and held every weekend, attracting people from all over America and other countries. The revival was moved to mobile convention center, Mobile, adapted to the growing crowds and became known as the Bay of The Holy Ghost Revival after the original Spanish name of Mobile Bay. Historically, Mobile Bay was marked in the early Maps of Spain by Bahía del Espíritu Santo (Holy Ghost Bay). [4] The revival continued in Mobile until April 2011, lasting nine months, and on April 15, 2011, the 15th of April 2011, the 15th of April 2011 was the first time that the 1990s had been completed. Since then, the Bay Revival on Tour has been held in cities across the United States, including: Youngstown, OH; Dallas, TX. Sayreville, NJ; Detroit Mi; Lake Charles, LO; Phoenix, AZ. The Orlando Sentinel reports that The Bay Revival was also held in Orlando as part of god TV's launch into the city. [5] Media attention When people claimed to be cured, Bay Revival became media attention. ABC News was involved in the Nightline report as part of its Faith Matters series, questioning the fine line between faith and false hope. [6] The report includes reports of people saying they are cured and an interview with Nathan Morris and John Kilpatrick. The Huffington Post found that thousands of people from across the U.S. attended meetings after being encouraged by internet videos of viruses. [7] GOD TV began broadcasting three-hour broadcasts of Bay Revival in November 2010, expanding it into a global audience and rapidly growing its international followings. [8] Delia Knox Many people have claimed to be cured through Bay Revival, posting their stories on the Internet and YouTube. The most famous of these is Delia Knox, a well-known Gospel singer who was paralyzed 22 and a half years after a car accident but got out of her wheelchair and now walks after attending. A video showing Nathan Morris praying to her has received over 400,000 hits on YouTube. [9] For years, Delia was known as a wheelchair-bound gospel singer who amazed the audience with her singing tones. However, attending the Revival of the Holy Ghost on August 27, 2010, he was an international sensation, Ed Reilly of Channel 7 Eye Witness News reported. During the wake-up call, Delia heard a voice telling her to 'Just get up'. After being prayed to, he got out of his wheelchair and began to move his legs. With help, he walked in front of a stunned crowd. [10] Channel 7 report also includes footage of Delia meeting her parents who were amazed to see her walk again. The message preaching the Revival of Lahti focuses on inviting people back to holy life with an emphasis on Jesus' blood and cross. Nathan Morris has gone from being addicted to life and encouraging people to follow his example and turn to God. [11] One of his messages is Loosen that man, let him go based on Lazarus' story in Joh. Sin makes you a slave when God has called you a son or daughter. It's time to put it on. graves, he says, those who live in the grave of addiction or fear are enslaved and God wants to free them. [12] John Kilpatrick teaches revival in church based on what he's been through in Brownsville. He says: The revival is not saved, it is time for the Church to go after and accept those who are in sin. That's what Revival is all about. God first catch his fish and clean them. [13] Music The Bay Revival has developed its own separate sound with songs composed by Lydia Stanley and written and performed two albums: Bay of the Holy Spirit Revival Worship, Volume 1[14] and Oh, What My Eyes Have Seen, Bay Revival Worship, Volume 2. Stanley attended the Brownsville Revival in 1996, where he is said to have received his invitation to serve. He had graduated from brownsville's revival school in 2004 and has served as worship leader in His Presence in a Church in Mobile, AL.[15] He has been interviewed by Sid Roth of It's Supernatural, who said: God hand-picked him to lead worship and he will teach you how to fill your home with God's glory. [16] According to the Bay Revival Worship Volume 1 cover, Lydia Stanley and the team have led millions around the world in passionate worship through GOD TV. References ^ Personnel (4.9.2010).
