Wands of horus for sale

The deciding factor in choosing the fillers were the qualities of crystalline jealousy. Jasper, amber or shungites, for example, were not used as fillers for the Horus Rods by ancient Egyptians because of the inadequate qualities of their crystalline jealousies. The use of quartz was driven by its unusual and surprising qualities. To better understand the essence of the process, it should be borne in mind that BA and KA or Yin and Yang, are two energy flows, two vital energy sources located within the human being itself. Therefore, its harmonization requires minerals that have the relevant properties. It should be noted that when choosing the fillers for the cylinders it is absolutely not right to divide them into Yin and Yang, or associate the qualities of the fillings with the horoscope. This connection is very conditional. One of the basic concepts in crystallography is the symmetry axis of a crystal. If you take a quartz crystal with well-developed facets, then from the position of these facets it is possible to observe a peculiar fact: the vertical axis of symmetry in a quartz crystal is twisted into a spiral. X-ray examination of the structure of quartz crystals confirms the deduction made on the basis of morphological and optical peculiarities, that the quartz structure has a spiral, i.e. helical character. According to these two types of structure you can distinguish - left and right. It is important to note that the orientation of the white sand crystals of small grain or large grain quartzite within the rods has no relevance with regard to the harmonic resonance law. In this case the important thing is not the shape or orientation of each individual grain, but the peculiarities of crystalline jealousy. To explain a more significant peculiarity of quartz we must return once again to the conceptual system of the Old East. Quartz crystal, like any other, has its energy center (chakra). However, because in quartz the symmetry axis forms a spiral, [The spiral is a resonant form. It is a topological invariant (direct consequence) of the diagonal of a rectangle or the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle. Building this spiral in a circle, then returning, completing the cycle there and back and forth, BA and KA, we come to the proof that the Pythagoras Theorem is a fundamental theorem, which reveals the idea of the phenomenon of resonance as the harmonic principle upon which the whole universe is built.] various projections of the main shape of the energy center within the crystal. That is, a center receives energy, but several give it. It can be imagined more accurately in this way: an area of the crystal accumulates energy within itself, transforms it and disperses it. What was a flow becomes several. Precisely because of the helical i, com a a This dispersion effect, Horus rods filled with quartz crystals have a mild and general healing effect on the energy-informative structure of a person and his entire body. Perhaps it was for this very reason that some ancient civilizations considered quartz a sacred mineral. Obviously it was also connected with the ability of quartz to transmit information. In this context it is appropriate to quote from an interview with Professor Vlai Kaznachejev, director of the Institute of Clinical and Experimental Medicine of the Siberian Branch of the Russian Academy of Medical Sciences, full member of this academy and the Academy of Natural Sciences of the Russian Federation: In our experiments we get some amazing things : when a cell culture experiences some stress , can transmit its condition to another cell culture, if there is an optical communication channel. The ray of light conveys the essence of matter – and itself comes alive in a way. On the other hand, a culture of tissues of living cells of this type that has perceived the state of its neighbors in an optical channel of quartz or little, can transmit this state to other cell cultures; and so the accumulation of a property of living material unknown to us passes through the cells for 5, 6, 7 generations in the optical sphere. Mica and quartz are transparent to these effects, just as they are for ordinary light... In other words, quartz is capable of transmitting not only information, but also a psychological state. In ancient Egypt horus rods were filled with quartz crystals of different sizes. The size of the crystals depending on the work they sought to carry out, the state of the user's health and energy system. In the initial phase, fine grain quartzite (a special white sand) was used. Cylinders containing white sand have a positive effect on a person's energy channels, activating them. The ancients then used medium and large grain quartzite, raising their energy systems to a higher level of potential. We call this kind of HorusQuartz cylinder rods. HorusQuartz rods, filled with quartz crystals, produce a pranic cocoon that has a mild, even but profound effect on the human body. The cocoon created by this type of cylinder is very stable. If you work with HorusQuartz rods continuously for a week, the cocoon they create will last three weeks, continuing their corrective effect on the whole organism. The following variety of Horus Rods contain mono crystalline quartz. This type of cylinder was intended for priestly healers. The cocoon energy created by this type can have a powerful harmonising effect on the patient, while implementing and transmitting a signal originating in the consciousness of the There are two types of these rods. The type of cylinder called Rods of mono crystal quartz. The type of cylinder called HorusMonoal Rods also contain quartz mono crystals, but selected in a special way and processed in a special way. The cylinders containing these crystals were something like miniature energy sources, intended to provide energy and strengthen the effect of psychic efforts. The final variety is the HorusKont Rods. This filling is a later refinement, which are filled with carbon and ferromagnetic material in the form of powders or small crystals in the form of nuclei inserted into the cylinders, carbon in copper, ferromagnetic material in zinc. It should be noted that in Ancient Egypt carbon and magnetic ferromagn material were not used as a filler for horus rods. These types of HorusKont Rod cylinders are named after polish researcher Earl (Earl) Walewski who first informed humanity about this type of cylinder in the early 20th century.

To regulate the energy balance in the body, the ancient Egyptians used Horus Rods — cylinders with various contents. As a result of many years of research and according to ancient texts we have developed 10 main types of the Wands of Horus. All varieties of the Horus Rods, as well as materials from which copper and magnetic patches, as well as insoles with copper-zinc coatings, experience 12-day exposure cycles in a large pyramid built especially for purpose. This gives the Horus Rods special properties and allow them to tune in quickly and deeply with the human organism. All varieties of the Horus Rods, the marks Wands of Horus and the Russian Еёзлы Гора, the pyramids and templates with copper-zinc coatings are protected by patents of the Russian Federation and have all the necessary certificates. QUARS* Horus QUARTZ rods with a filling of fine-grained quartz crystals are irreplaceable for people who have suffered a stroke, myocardial infarction from other serious vascular problems. With daily use they gently, deeply and effectively improve the state of the vascular system after severe catastrophes, restoring the elasticity of the vessels and improving the reology (fluid capacity) of the blood. 327 USD QUARTZ Horus QUARTZ large grain rods are a unique preventive device designed for people with an intensive lifestyle accompanied by stress and large workloads. The filling used for this type of rod is specially selected quartz with a general stimulating effect on the human nervous, endocrine and energetic systems. 398 USD CRYSTAL Horus Rods have the same properties as Horus MONO Rods but differ in having a more effect because of the heterogeneous structure of the crystals. 460 USD KONT Horus rods with coal and ferromagnetic filling synchronize that of a user with the energy flow of the earth's core. Synchronization of the energy shell and energy channels is achieved at low frequency and therefore the HORUS KONT Rods have a positive and restful reflection on the heart rate. 563 USD MONO Horus MONO rods contained monocrystallic quartz. This type of rod was intended for priestly healers. The cocoon energy created by this type on the one hand has a powerful stimulating and harmonising effect on the patient, on the others acts to implement and relay programs of thought (images) originating from the consciousness of the healer. 480 USD MONO 6-faced Priests with a well-developed and prepared energy system used Horus MONO Rods with crystals cut in a special way that strengthened some of the properties of the rods. Creating a tool to interact with particular energy flows, they were placed inside the Horus Rods crystals cut into the form of six-faceted prisms. 790 9-sided USD MONO To stimulate and synchronize the human energy system with the energy flows of the ninth level of the Universe's energy system transformed by the Earth's core, priests used Horus Rods containing nine-faceted crystals. 990 USD MONO 12-sided Horus Mono rods with a twelve-sided crystal are designed to stimulate and synchronize the 12 bodies of human energy with the 12 energetic bodies of our solar system and 12 energetic bodies of The Universe (God). This efficient technology follows the beginning of 12! Cycles of 12 parts (rhythms): 12 hours a day and night, 12 months of the year and the main cycle of 12 years, consisting of three cycles of 4 years, the 12 divisions of the main precession cycle and so on. All this is necessary to get the human energy system to refine to the rhythms of the most important cycles in the energy flows of the Earth and the cosmos. 1.220 USD BJA Horus BJA rods are a type of rod filled according to an ancient formula with native iron (naturally pure, uncombined) that the ancient Egyptians called Bja. In the priestly practices and spiritual traditions of Egypt Bja occupied a special place. 1.782 USD BJA-Pharaoh Horus Rods BJA FARAÓ are a type of rods filled according to an ancient formula with meteorite iron. The knowledge gained from the Neferu and carried out over the centuries by Horus's followers about the special properties of meteorite iron was full of mystery and Horus's rods with this special type of iron was owned by a tight group of beginnings.
