Accurate Digital Temperature Control This may be the first (and perhaps only) tutorial on how to assemble a collection bag for Arizer 'Extreme-I' Vaporizer. The lower seam of my collection bag recently started leaking steam, so I needed to collect my spare bag for use as a replacement, but no longer had my instructions to do so. This tutorial was inspired by the absurd amount of time I spent scouring the internet for instructions and tutorials, only to find none (except for the PDF original written instructions, the plentiful effluence indecorously entangled in everything). Of the dozens I've seen, no videos have shown how to assemble a bag. If you're new to Extreme-I, have one already, or are considering buying one, then watch this short video all the way through. In the first half, you'll watch and learn how to assemble a collection bag. In the second half, you'll see some ideas on how to waape with the bag. Others will surely need this information too, so please help them find it easier in finding by clicking Like... Thank you! (Also, be sure to see my review of Extreme-I, soon!) Author: HerbalSweetleaf Extreme from Arizer fills the list of features with a wide range of temperatures, like whip and bag options, and remote control! Immerse yourself in our quick start guide to get up to speed and start vaping with your Extreme. With the box the number of pieces and accessories can be a bit overwhelming, but Arizer included everything you may need for your Extreme, and more. Extreme -Vaporizer Whip with glass end and adapter Two Cyclone Bowls Two bags with a glass end piece and o-ring (one bag tied, one bag not tied) Mini whip for bags remote control adapter Aromatherapy dish glass mix tool Two additional glass parts end Extra screens Multiple controls While you can control everything from the onboard display, Arizer went one step further and the remote control of your desk You can warm it up with certain temperatures, or at a given remote rate all the way through the room, change the fan speed, set a session timer, and even adjust the light settings. We will use on-board controls for this first session. Heat it to press the bottom left power button on the block to light the heater. Use the button up and down to the right of the display to set the temperature to 390 degrees Fahrenheit (199 degrees Celsius) for this first session. If you're looking for thicker hits out of the gate, start with 420 F (215 C). The red light under the Heat will flash when it heats up and come out when it has reached your temperature. If you Thicker steam from the start, place the cyclone bowl on top as it heats up to warm it up. Let's get your herbs ready at the same time. The average extreme grind is pretty flexible when it comes to grinding herbs, but we offer medium consistency for this If you bought a vape from Veip Planet, our included grinder works just fine. Grind some herbs and fill the cyclone bowl loosely, somewhere from a quarter to three quarters of the way up to the bottom of the black protective coating. More than that and you don't get a consistent roast. Hit the whip is great for long, elongated sessions. Connect the end with a glass adapter in a bowl, and draw hard enough to move the grass around. Shoot for a good 10 to 15 seconds draw. The cyclone bowl is designed to set your herbs around as you draw to reduce stirring, but like any convection of the veep, stirring can help. Drawing too slowly or too fast creates a subtle, underwhelming pair, so if you have trouble finding the right draw speed, grab the remote control and tap the fan speed of three for an auxiliary hit. Blast the Extreme bag is one of the few desktop vapes that allows you to choose between a whip or a bag. To blow up the bag, pack the bowl as before, attach the mini whip to the bowl and then plug the mouthpiece bag into the mini whip. Turn on the fan, either the second or third level, and fill the bag. Steam can become harsher the longer it sits, so don't fill it any more than you'll use for five minutes. Once it is full to your liking, turn off the fan and remove the mouthpiece from the mini whip. Use your finger to cover the hole, or you will lose a few fumes. Clean after you're done with your session, turn off the heater and clean the bowl and whip any leftovers. It's easier to do while still warm, but be careful not to burn yourself. The black protective coating will be warm to the touch, but the glass below will stay a lot hot a bit. Find the settings! Extreme th performs like a champion when you get all the details in hand. Different grinding machines, packets, temperature or speed of anyone can radically change your sessions. If you want a softer, balmey session, lower the temperature and take soft draws. If you're looking for massive clouds that will make you tap, pick up the tempo, pack in a little more grass, and take more hits. Mess around a bit and find the perfect setup that works best for you. Okay, maybe I'm too high, maybe I'm just an idiot (probably the last one), but I'm having trouble figuring out how to put the bag on the balloon stalk. Is there an easy way to put an O Ring around the bag and you need both? Or... is it just necessary to be on reliably? In advance thanks for help!Page 2 Arizer Extreme was introduced to the market to be a lower priced competitor for Volcano Classic and Volcano Digit. Most reviews and vape shop owners sing praises of the quality of the pair, as the glass mouthpiece eliminates impurities that can affect the taste. Some people believe that the advanced features of this model don't add enough value to justify their price, but even these people usually give the model a good rating in terms of steam quality. - Guarantee - The ceramic element inside Arizer Extreme and Vaporizer relies on a lifetime warranty, giving it one of the longest guarantees in the industry. There is also a 3-year warranty on general craftsmanship and other parts. - Preparation time - Compared to the Digit volcano, Arizer Extreme has a slower preparation time, as it can take up to 2 minutes to fill the balloon with dense steam; However, if you use other drawing techniques, Extreme will be ready to use faster.
