Winged dragon of ra chant yami

Gather around the kids, Pope V has a story to tell. To understand how Ra works in the show, we have to point out a few important things about divine beasts. We all know that Pegasus created maps of the Duel Monster based on the stone tablets he found in ancient Egypt. Unconsciously, Pegasus recreated the ritual battles used by magicians and kings to resolve their conflicts, and turned it into a game of cards. It is celebrated throughout each bracket of the series that duel monster spirits living inside the cards. Slifer (or Osiris in the Japanese version), Ra and Obelisk, where literally egyptian gods and these deities, where people are forced into the world trying to develop maps based on them. so against the gods will be, these people are unconscious, where creating a vessel for the spirit of the gods that they will now be required to reside an inch needles say, anyone who worked on designing maps was either hurt or killed. Pegasus was also going to suffer the same fate, but he experienced the wrath of the gods only because he was protected by the magic of his millennia of eyes. Some people could not understand why Pegasus regretted creating the maps, but could not break them and destroy them. These people easily forget the part where spirits (in this case gods) are directly related to maps. Destroying them will mean that you are attacking a true deity, and you risk bringing the wrath of the gods thyself. Therefore, Pegasus decided to seal them away. Maps have their own will. Especially God's cards. So let's talk about the strongest map of God (At least in anime), Winged Dragon Ra. The first time Ra was shown was when Odion used a fake version of the card. Keep in mind that the spirit of the real Ra, resides in the original card that was inside Maryk, and it was an evil anger when it was caused by a trot fake card. That's why we don't see Ra clearly when he appeared in this duel. It was disrespectful being forced into another vessel's trood field. Ra's wrath struck both Odion and Joey with lightning, and then the divine beast disappeared from the field. Odion and Joey survived, however the same cannot be said of people who had previously tried to use Ra's fake card. The flashback shows that whenever one of Marina's minions tried to summon Ra trout with a false map, a divine beast would hit and kill a man who would dare to do so. (I think the show really wanted to teach people that playing with fake cards is not ok XD) Now let's talk about what happens when you play the real card. May Valentine managed to call the winged dragon Ra and she wasn't injured when she did it. However, God felt that she had no royal heritage, and so she went out on the field in a sealed state in the form of a sphere. Ra wanted to check if she was worthy to control her strength by forcing her to speak ancient singing is written on the card. She couldn't, so even though Ra was on the side of May's field, control of the monster shifted to Marina, who knew how to read the ancient text. This means that only those who proved themselves worthy could use the power of god. Later in the series, Maryk summoned Ra several times throughout the series, without having to read the ancient chant. However, in the final match against FC Atem, when Merik summoned winged dragon Ra for the last time before the end of the game, Ra reappeared in sealed sphere mode, although Maric had played Ra 2 times before during the same match and he did not need to speak singing until that point. This is a perfect example of how a divine beast has its own mind, and it will test its owner to know if he is still worthy of possessing his power. What I understood then and was that reading singing is not only necessary to prove if you are worthy to possess the power of God's strongest map, but also a way to show your respect for god. Now let's finally move on to the fight with Yami Maric and Yami Bakura. Yami Bakura was in control during the fight, and his aura was not merely mortal. It is not possible that Ra felt it and considered it unnecessary to test Bakura. It is also worth noting that the soul of the good side of Marina was also inside Bakura, so even if Ra decided to check out Bakura, a good maryk side would help with reading the singing. It is worth mentioning for those who did not know that singing in dub and singing in the sub sound completely different. And it's not because in dub they speak English and in sub they speak Japanese. In Dabi, Marine says the whole Big Beast of heaven, please start my cry to uncover Ra from his Sphere mode, however in the sub-version, Maric literally grumbles with words that no one could understand. Many Ra effects are hidden inside the singing text. That's why when Marine uses a point to point out the transmission ability and instant attack, in the sub-version he grumbles part of the ancient singing because the effect is hidden in it. While in the Dub version, Yami Marin is simple to say what effects he's going to use. A good Maryk knew how to read singing, but he's obviously not smart enough to figure out the hidden effects in it. That is why Marina's good side was so surprised to learn that Ra has more ability. Yami Marine was needed all the time while he was sealed in the subconscious of his good colleague to find out the consequences in singing. He also slowly but surely manipulated the mind of his good colleague, distracting him with feelings of hatred, thoughts of revenge and the pursuit of power. Bonus information: In Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, Industrial Illusions have created a new copy of the winged dragon ra, since one day Atem went into the aftertasic, he god's original maps with him. It does not explain if there were any incidents when creating the card, but the company wanted to recreate the card for testing purposes. The map was very original, and it served as a new vessel for the spirit of the winged dragon Ra. Franz, who was a card designer working for Industrial Illusion, stole a copy of the winged dragon ra. He was able to create a single map capable of linking the Egyptian God against his will, the Mound of the Connected Creator. This explains why Ra never went out on the field in his sphere mode. Franz could also use all ra's abilities without chanting an ancient text. Because of the connection to his will and unable to take revenge, Jayden can feel the sadness emanating from the map. Later in the same fight, Jayden summoned winged dragon Ra to his pitch to defeat Franz. Whether because Jayden was the reincarnation of the supreme king or because Ra wanted revenge on French, Ra allowed Jayden to use his power, without having to speak ancient singing. Ancient singing for the winged dragon Ra card: All the mighty defender of the sun and sky. Please contact myself with my shouting. Transform yourself from a fork of light and bring me victory in this fight. Please, grace our humble game, but first I will call out your name: Winged Dragon Ra. 28 of 28 found this interesting interesting? | Share this In Season 1, there were a lot of problems when comparing the card game to the show with how the card game was to be completed. This included players calling out attacks while turning their opponents, adding spells/traps while turning their opponents, attacking with monsters already on the field and then attacking and then causing another monster and attacking again. 21 of 21 found this interesting interesting? | Share this Final Duel between Yugi and Yami Yugi ended just like their duel in Season 4.
