From time to time, Prometric must temporarily close a test site for a variety of reasons, including unforeseen events such as extreme weather, natural disasters, power outages, technical problems, pandemic effects or other circumstances. We provide the sparing test with as much advance notice as possible of the upcoming closure of the site, in some cases, we acknowledge that there is a limited opportunity to reach the testers who have taken up it much earlier. The current list of site closures is presented below. Please note that the list provides information by prometric test center number. Some physical locations have more than one Prometric test center number, and some sites may be tested, while others need to be closed. Therefore, we recommend that you check your planning confirmation email to confirm the Prometric Test Center number when viewing this site closure list.
