We are the Lhaq'temish, the Lummi people. We are the native inhabitants of the northernmost coast of Washington and southern British Columbia. For thousands of years, we worked, fought and celebrated life on the beaches and waters of Puget Sound.We are fishermen, hunters, gatherings, and generatic nature. We imagine our homeland as a place where we enjoy a large amount of life, safe, and healthy in mind, body, society, the environment, space, time and spirituality; where all are encouraged to succeed and nothing is left behind.
