Rob Gaertner on Trustpilot Almost get a perfect transaction exactly what I was looking for. Site was very well thought out to make the search easy to ensure no errors at my end. Product fast left... But. OnTrac (OnCrack) was the shipper. The worst in the industry. Was out for delivery for almost a week. Since I paid for cargo, I would have appreciated a shipping experience on par with the rest of the otherwise flawless transaction. Call TodayGeneral InfoFixing things just makes sense. Why replace an expensive tool or device when a cheap part can make it run again like new? Saving money is just one of the benefits of repairing the things you own. Throwing away a repairable product causes waste, and waste contributes to numerous problems for individuals and the whole world. Waste harms the economy, harms our environment, weakens our sense of self-reliance and shrinks our paperbacks. The solution? DIY repair gives each of us a chance to make a difference in the world. When we take responsibility for making things last, we reject the culture of waste that surrounds us and inspire others with our example. Our company strives to help the world solve things by enabling better repairs everywhere. We strive to fulfill this mission by more for more products, simplification of parts ordering, publication of free repair advice by expert experts and support of our customers throughout the repair process.
