Hetalia prussia birthdays

From Hetalia Archives Prussia ( , Puroisen) is a supporting character in the Hetalia: Axis Powers series. In his younger years, he is known as the Teutonic Knights[3] and now represents the former East Germany and present-day east German region[4] (although he remains a separate character from his younger brother and is generally referred to only as Prussia throughout the series). In 2008, Himaruya gave human names to some of the characters and received the name Gilbert Beilschmidt (ギベールシュミット, Giruberuto Bairushumitto). Attributes A 'chibi' version of Prussia. Shown in Hetakaz Himaruya's blog and in the perfect Character CD Guide. Prussia looks short and light with asymmetrical fringe[5] and red eyes, although it first appeared in color images (circa 2007) with blond hair and blue eyes. Her hair varies between platinum blonde,[7] white or silver,[8] while her eyes have been depicted as pink[9] or dark red. [10] The color table mentions him as ly pale blond-gray hair and red, purple, and blue eyes. Based on images showing him with multiple eye colors, he appears to have a heterochromia vertical iridium. In a comic showing Prussia and the German infiltration of the American camp during World War II, Prussia was required to wear a helmet to hide its hair and eyes from view as, without them, it would be immediately recognized, suggesting that it is rather unique. According to Germany, even while wearing a helmet, he seems very suspicious. Due to poor nutrition, despite being the oldest of the two, Prussia is two or three centimeters shorter than Germany and is not so muscular. Himaruya noted that Prussia, like England and China, has a rather expressive face and is easy to draw with different expressions. He and Austria are about the same age, Prussia is slightly older despite not looking at it. He is seen in many images with at least one yellow bird on his head or shoulder, which seems rarely noticed. However, the bird is often depicted with various hats or other accessories, presumably given to it by Prussia. Prussia seems to be easy to find, as it stands out for its continuous laughter and birds near it. He has been described as a constant and self-satisfied expression,[19] noting that a serious one would be unusual for him. He wears a dark blue military uniform (Prussian blue), similar to a Luftwaffen Fliegerbluse with an Iron Cross on his tie. On Happy Valentine's Day of World War II, he wears a Waffen SS uniform like his brother. Personalities and interests Sketch of a young Prussia, then like the Teutonic Knights. Prussia was born to fight the same kind of battles as Austria, but he was a thug who did nothing but fight and found a means to escape marriage. [20] Ama Loves and he will often say things to start arguing. [20] He will do anything to become strong.[20] and he has an arrogant attitude and a world-class ego. [21] Despite this roughness in his personality, he is said to be unexpectedly fairytale. Himaruya has stated that he was originally a villain-like character, but over time he has become more hetare, but does not show himself in his outward appearance. [5] Although he claims to enjoy being alone[22] and claims that the grouping is for the weak, he was brought to tears after seeing Hungary and Austria together, although he admitted that tears were already streaming out. However, this was from his love of being alone and his lack of bitterness of being surrounded by couples on the streets. It has been claimed that this loneliness stemmed from feeling like an enclave rather than a real nation. Despite feeling alone, he seems to have many friends, although when informed of this he becomes quite quiet. He has fought for his survival since he was born, and is very strong accordingly[16] even maintaining this strength in modern times despite his status as a region, forcing one of the parallel Frances out of him and out of the house through a window with a single thrust after being attacked. Also, in Noto-sama 5, it was said to be much stronger than it looks. When Prussia drinks, it seems to become rather sleepy. Germany once said that Prussia knows little about common sense. [29] After all, his true nature is said to be that of a punctual and diligent soldier and germany's serious and methodical older brother, although his bad manners (especially during his transition period) mask him. This is supported by Latvia commenting that Prussia was very punctual and never late for anything, very methodical, and very persistent in its diary writing, never losing a day. Latvia has also said that Prussia plunders everything and opens all drawers.[31] showing its method in a rather negative way. He has been declared a hard worker, but his exterior shows a face will do nothing. Despite this, he often seems lazy, seems to have his work to do, or at least helps Germany with his own, as he had a meeting with Switzerland on some important works[32] and accompanied Germany to a world meeting on the CD Divini. During the meeting, he somehow helped Germany with his presentation, making comments and asking questions here and there. He is very loyal to his bosses, and had a strong attachment to Frederick II, known to him as Old Fritz. [20] He continues to hope that Old Fritz will watch over him.[32] and that he will be proud. Despite this, it was rather when he said that he hated women. It is said, however, that he tends to become rather depressed if his history with Fritz has grown due to this attachment. A fan fan He asked Frederich the Great to praise Prussia, to which Himaruya delighted Prussia to be patted on the head of Fritz, who was off screen. Prussia also mentioned stroking others in his character song, and had petting Latvia and a small bird on his blog, enjoying how soft they were.[29] and so seems to enjoy doing so to others as well, probably seeing it as some form of praise. Prussia often affectionately refers to his younger brother Germany as the West, and hates Russia,[20] almost to the point of coughing up blood if he touches it (and losing four eyelashes otherwise)[35] although this may be an exaggeration on his part. It does not get along well with Austria, Hungary or Poland,[16] but seems to enjoy much of the company of the Italian brothers. [36] Despite his hatred of Russia, because Germany is so strong, he is no longer frightened by Russia. He seems to be very proud of Germany for this. He often meddles in his neighbors and Russia. Despite being his younger brother, Germany banned Prussia from using his computer,[16] and grounded him at the end of Hetalia Fantasia 3. It turned out that he had kept diaries since he was trained, which led to him having an entire library of diaries. Almost everyone starts with passages that say 'I'm so cool!' was so cool today. He also seems to be fond of cute things, such as small stuffed birds and pandas, and soft things, such as a bird's feathers or Latvian hair. He loves new things and is sometimes a little too free. Prussia has shown little self-control, buying pandas from China[38] and Hong Kong[29] on the pretence that they would make it happy. Besides, he said he's passionate about sleeping, fighting, Old Fritz, and eating. His passion for eating was shown on his way to England to have lunch, he only accepting France's ability to cook well.[38] and his desire to get food from Italy and Austria with his brother on their Counting Sheep CD. He seems to have a tendency to sneeze and find himself bored or distracted by homework, such as reading.[39] although he claimed to be awiz at the cleaning (among other things) and seemed to be good at gardening.[40] so it's possible that his skills show when he's more focused. On its Counting Sheep CD, after sneezing and bored the count, Germany insists on continuing to count, making it continue and increasing the possibility that it can continue to do things despite its chances if encouraged. During Halloween 2011, he claimed to have a natural talent for everything he did, proving it by learning one of India's dances (and performing with him) in just one month. Him, had practiced all month. Italy then said that he was a very hard worker, to whom Germany accepted. As a child, he was rather religious, having personified Teutonic Knights, a medieval military order. This is demonstrated after she had tried Hungary when they were young and, feeling her breasts having begun to grow and realizing that she was a girl, she prayed to God for the forgiveness of her sin. God, however, asked him to tell him something new because, with the permission of the Pope, he was allowed to do it if he was happy, the rule probably similar to that of the Templars and Teutonic Knights of real life, who prayed for forgiveness later. Later in life, after the Battle of Tannenberg and after being beaten by Poland and Lithuania, Prussia calmed down, decided to shut up and lived under the care of Poland as something like its vassal, the Duchy of Prussia. At that time, he was very modest and did not distinguish himself among his brothers, until the House of Hohenzollern strengthened him. Later, he became a superpower and decided that the Germans should be a suitable group. He then expelled Austria and united the German states, forming the young Germany. His training methods are described as abusive, and his severity was shown while coaching America during the Revolutionary War. At another fan request, Himaruya presented a Shobon Collection (shobon being a Japanese word that can mean disheartened, alone or depressed depending on the context) with Prussia, Russia, Latvia and Germany (with Italy attempting to pull it on him by giving him a cat). Prussia, however, denied this, trying to laugh. He is said to be angry at all the words that sound like brand, particularly maruku (Japanese for roundness), marukyu (a Japanese grocery store chain), and the name Mark. [35] However, the reason why this is yet to be specified. It was revealed that a wound he received from a dog bite on his hand had not healed after a week, where for nations, he would have to heal faster than a normal human being or almost immediately. This could mean that due to Prussia's status as a former nation, it is beginning to disappear or die and has lost the ability to heal quickly as a result. Relationships America Main Article: America Although there hasn't been much interaction between them, it has been revealed that Prussia trained America in combat for revolutionary warfare. At first he was worried about how he did not know what he was thinking, and was said to be cautious. However, after Prussia showed up he thought Prussia was friendly; [43] He later realized that he was serious when he said that his training methods were harsh, as they were like torture. In more modern times, in a day the countries had gone to the beach, Prussia and America had a race of According to Prussia, America swims very fast, like a shark, making it impossible for it to win. In the board, Prussia lost because a wave brought it down. Austria Main article: Austria Prussia enjoys Austria in every possible way, and fought against him in wars in the past, seizing Silesia for himself in the War of the Austrian Succession. On numerous occasions, she finds herself alone and cries. Prussia will say he's happy on his own unlike a certain stupid aristocrat. In the Christmas strips, Prussia must tell itself that it would rather be alone than with others because grouping is for the weak, yes, like that stupid aristocrat. . . . . Prussia often speaks negatively of Austria. Nowadays, while living with his brother, Prussia also got rid of Austria. In his blog, Prussia would not be Austria's house and began to disturb him by pulling his cheek, amused and happy with how elastic she was. Throughout Maria Theresa of the anime, Prussia often tried to make Austria ask for mercy during the battle. He also said that he wanted a painter to come and paint the face of Austria after losing the first battle, so that his failure could be engraved in history. Cuba Main article: Cuba Their report was only shown in the Prussia blog at the moment still. The two are probably close, as Cuba calls him big brother and Prussia says he will look at his blog later once he notices he had one. Because Cuba refers to him in this way has yet to be declared. Cuba praised the maple syrup Prussia had given from Canada, telling him that if he thought it was simply another April Fool joke that he should keep thinking about it, but eat it anyway. He was also pleased when Prussia was happy after eating pancakes with syrup. He was also interested in seeing Prussia dance as he had done with India on Halloween over Christmas, asking Germany if he was late. England Main article: England during the Seven Years 'War, England became an ally of Prussia so that it could fight against France. He was also joined by Austria in the War of the Austrian Succession. However, by the time they defeated France, England declared neutrality, shocking both Prussia and Austria with its unreliance. In modern times, Prussia received a request to eat English cuisine on its blog. When he arrived for lunch, England seemed incredibly happy, confusing Prussia. After sharing a photo of the food and England on his blog, everyone began to mourn Prussia, thinking he was dead. However, he had collapsed and woke up shortly afterwards, evident from the next photo he uploaded of England in distress. He proclaimed that he was alive, calling all of him for killing him. England, shocked by everyone's reaction to the alleged death of he swore that he would do something delicious enough that everyone would compliment him next time. France's main article: France France, along with Spain, is depicted as a close friend of Prussia, stemming from their alliance against Austria during the War of the Austrian Succession. Despite this closeness, it is possible that a somewhat negative relationship, as Prussia stated that it would not recognize anything about France, but about its cuisine.[29] and that when Prussia demanded that Alsace-Lorraine be returned to it, France said that it hated the Germans. France, however, admitted that it knew a lot about Prussia, although it did not know whether or not it was a virgin. In the make for Cleaning Prussia, he was shown to spend time with France and Spain, telling them about his adventure cleaning the houses of the chosen countries. France was impressed that it was volunteering like Germany, to which Prussia claimed to be overflowing with philanthropy. In response, France snapped by saying: Fighting with me was an act of philanthropy, eh! However, when he offered to clean up for them, he was quickly annoyed by their demands while France demanded that some censored stories be cleaned up and reorganized, and Spain asked him to clean up his bad credit and corruption in his government. In Prussia's blog, at the time of his rebirth from eating English food, France abstained feared that Prussia was a monster, although it was probably a joke, as he had invited him to eat and take bad taste from his mouth later. Prussia, France and Spain also received a song sung by the three called Overflowing Passion. Germany Main article: Germany Prussia is the elder brother of Germany, and the one that formed it from the unification of his brothers. He calls West Germany, while Germany simply refers to him as Brother. Having been the main state of the German Confederation, he acted as the most fraternal state after his birth.[37] calling himself his best older brother. However, he also thinks of himself as the superior of Germany.[51] and calls their tie an undesirable but inseparable. Prussia is depicted as teaching Germany diplomatic poses and battle strategies. A sketch of Prussia and Germany from a post in 2008. After World War II, Prussia represented East Germany, and later merged with his brother after German reunification. Prussia said that he and his brother have a wall in their hearts and that they need to get rid of it so that they can become a better and more effective country. Germany is annoyed by his brother's wild attitude and his tendency to buy strange things that clutter their stay and make cleaning difficult. He also sees it as having little common sense and is concerned that Prussia does not seem to be helping at home. However, Germany agrees that Prussia is a very hard worker.[41] and Prussia was later to be just as clean as his brother. They recognize that they are not very similar (while ironically too absorbed in cleaning and folding clothes to realize that they were doing it together), and Germany states that it would be too noisy if it were like Prussia. The two also share a love love Beer. At the 2011 Halloween event, Prussia told India, after Germany performed a splex on him,[41] that it happens regularly and there are nothing to worry about. Prussia announced that if Germany also forbade him to attend the party, he would remain in bed only to upset him. It was revealed, however, that Germany intended to take Prussia and Italy with it, but Prussia refused the invitation and indicated that it would eventually arrive. Prussia's belated appearance caused Germany to worry. Prussia informed him that he could also show up for the Christmas event in 2012, but reminded him that he was very elusive and could appear at any time, prompting Germany to say that they should always be prepared for him to show up. Prussia admits on his CD and Germany Counting Sheep that he finds himself wanting to act as an older brother. He seems proud of Germany's strength and growth so far, even if he suffers from his stubbornness. His strength apparently makes him feel safe, as he is less afraid of Russia because of it. [35] Prussia states that Germany is very competent and does most of the country's work, which allows it to do nothing but read all day. In addition, Germany is shown to accept some of Prussia's stories, having believed in Prussia when she told him how cool she was as a child until she watched a video of him. Hungary Main article: Hungary She and Prussia were rivals as children, although Prussia was called by her to help defend her home (and he was kicked out after his claim to the territory he was supposed to protect.) Prussia and Hungary itself believed that Hungary was male until it attempted her chest, believing she was attacking a weak spot, only to feel that her chest was soft from her developing breasts. He revealed that he believed his penis would grow before he grew up, proving to Prussia that he did not already have one. A drawing of Hungary and Prussia from the Christmas demands of 2009. He continued to believe that he was male despite Prussia's attempts to inform her otherwise some time before reaching puberty. After a dispute with Turkey, she was seriously injured and they were on one of their own. Although his injuries shocked him at first, he proceeded to say that he should do some very intimate care about her, telling her that he had no wrong idea, disturb her. Tearing the cloth of her robe from above her horse out, she attempted to force her to allow him to bandage her with it, before she and was shocked by his breasts and began to tear a different part of his robe off. Her reaction confirmed for her that she was really a girl. They separated after Prussia gave her the full robe. About a year later, he calmed down, began wearing clothes and settled in Austria Austria beginning to work for him. Prussia, after quickly overcoming the concrete revelation of its kind, went to austria's house to see her and, expressing confusion about her dress as a maid, asked her to remove it so that they could go hunting. Shaking and smiling uncomfortably, she said that she was unfortunately no longer interested in hunting and with such a feeling, they spent their time. [58] Prussia also expressed disgust for her, telling both her and Austria to return home at Christmas because they were having a family-only Christmas (plus the Ital, with the intention of employing the Minor Germany Solution despite it being the 21st century). Hungary expressed its desire to beat him immensely, even if they did nothing but make childish sounds against each other. In addition, in a 2-short image required of them, they were shown dazdling hard at each other. Since he has teased his problems during their younger years and continued to go up in the air at his home in the past,[16] Hungary doesn't like him often hitting him with his frying pan every time the opportunity arises, especially if he's disturbing Austria. Despite this, he admitted that he did not want Prussia to die, claiming that his life would be boring without him.[29] they bandaged him after hitting him in the Austrian end of Osji Prussia.[40] and was worried about him after being attacked by one of the parallel Frances. In Notosama 5, Prussia stated that Hungary changing clothes was always hers, after finding Yamato and Noto watching Hungary change in its personal place to do so. [52] While Prussia had initially responded negatively, it seemed to calm down regarding Russia's presence on its blog over time. Prussia has been occasionally declared an ostagic and, when it gets quite an eye,Russia seems to impose itself on him. [4] In the strips depicting the Battle of Lake Peipus, the young Russia is very angry at the carelessness of the Teutonic Knights regarding their movement to attack the lake, despite being covered in thin ice and that Russia warned him not to, strangling him while trying to scold him. However, Russia hoped that the next time they met they would be friends instead of enemies. Before this, young Prussia was one of the countries that would bully Russia. However, when Russia summoned General Winter to fight him and the others who were chasing him, it was revealed that there was no effect, as they had all been lifted from birth in cold places. [67] It is somewhat remarkable that Prussia was once declared to exist in modern times as an exclave of Russia. However, the same phrase stated that he lived with Germany.[30] and more recent notes and developments indicate that this may have been a mistake or rhetorical due to inaccuracies. South Italy Main article: South Italy Himaruya stated, in response to a fan's question, that Prussia Romano often met when they were young. As a child, Romano did not like him and wanted to fight him, however he was too afraid of him to do so and merely kept his distance, verbally attacking him. On the contrary, Prussia has the same feelings for Romano as it does for Venetian, and is always to their climate and topography. In a request for the 2011 Christmas event, a comic book by Romano working while Prussia watched was drawn. After briefly exchanging words about Romano being a surprisingly hard worker and his lack of footwear at the time, he fell asleep and Prussia continued to watch him do so with a happy expression. Throughout the comic book, Romano was not openly hostile to Prussia. After the end of the comic book (presented in the universe as a video), Romano commented that he felt gloomy from how many times he got stuck associating with Prussia. Switzerland Main article: Switzerland When Prussia and Switzerland were both young, Prussia was concerned that Switzerland always seemed angry, despite never having spoken to him, and decided that it wanted to avoid it. [3] Himaruya listed Switzerland as a relative of Germany, such as Prussia, making it somewhat related. [13] On his blog, Switzerland came to Germany and prussia's home to have a meeting with Prussia, which he agreed to do despite falling asleep. Prussia went to Switzerland's home in Osji Prussia; however, he was not allowed to enter, as Switzerland felt suspicious and would not allow someone who has no relation to me to enter my home! Prussia later stated that he could work on the flowers in the window, as they were not inside the house, which Switzerland allowed and joined him, saying that he still thought of doing so that day. Switzerland was annoyed when Prussia praised the flowers it had grown, but was not as angry as it had acted, as they were often not praised. When they finished and Prussia was about to leave, Switzerland stopped him before giving him flowers from the mountains, saying he was unsure if they would grow up in prussia's house. Seeing Prussia's honest and hard work, Switzerland thought of inviting him to look for goat's milk; however, his pride got in the way, and he did not want to pursue Prussia. Prussia stopped to buy a drink before leaving; however, he noticed the high price and thought that he would never be able to live at home in Switzerland. This has been labeled as a Bad End. [40] Manga Prussia appearances first appeared in a series of strips entitled Maria Theresa and the War of the Austrian Succession, which, as the title suggests, covered portions of the titular war. Prussia disapproves of the new Austrian queen, Maria Theresa, and threatens to invade if a portion of Silesia is not given. Maria Theresa refuses and Prussia later conquers the land, and goes into battle alongside Spain. Weakened Austria is helped by Hungary to prevent Prussia, but at the expense of Silesia. Prussia is satisfied with this, but is threatened by Hungary with returning it. These strips were later collected in volume 1 of the publication Hetalia: Axis Powers, marking the debut published by Prussia. In addition, Prussia Prussia a small cameo in volume 1 strip Loves to fish in troubled waters, having just taken Silesia from an injured Austria. [70] Anime Prussia's formal debut in episode 24. The appearance of young Prussia in episode 53. Prussia in Brother! We're...!. Young Prussia in Russia and friends. Prussia appears briefly in episode 10, during the War of the Austrian Succession. He is shown beating Austria until France arrives and takes over. Prussia then returns for its formal debut in Episode 24, where it has once again been seen Episode 24, this time hampering its attempts to impress Switzerland and Liechtenstein. He is depicted with platinum blonde and his eyes are a deep red. His cross and gloves were removed, and his tall boots were initially removed. He has a cameo at the beginning of the film Hetalia: Axis Powers. Paint it White where he hosts a talent show with Ukraine and Belarus, and is lauchered when neither of them shows up to perform. In the World Series he has a more important role and is the focal character of several episodes. In the first episode, he appears as the youngest version of himself known as the Teutonic Knights interacting with a young Hungary. The story continued later in the series with the duo meeting as adults. Its design is largely unchanged from the first series, although its high boots returned to its design in episode 79. His Knights teutonic outfit was originally colored red and blue as seen in the first screenings of Episode 53 and My Awesome Diary Part 2, but was changed to white with black crosses due to fan protest. In The Beautiful World her hair is changed to lighter platinum blonde and her blue uniform is changed to a slightly lighter shade. His eyes have changed to a light purple color with a light red and blue tint. He made a cameo in Gakuen Hetalia: Go Forth! Newspaper Club! Second Half where he plays a broom as a guitar, and makes his formal adult debut in Our Failure. He appears in his younger version of Teutonic Knights in Russia and Friends, where his uniform contains much blacker, particularly on the sleeves and around the collar. Curiosity The design prototype of the Teutonic Knight was not given for Prussia in its first official profile. However, in the World Wide Walking anime guide, his birthday was finally listed as January 18, which corresponds to the founding date for the Kingdom of Prussia (January 18, 1701). [1] At first, as a child, Prussia was protected by the German Knights in Jerusalem and then became part of the Teutonic Knights after the knights who had protected it had been called upon to to protect Burzenland. [3] However, in Volume 4 Prussia is said to have been raised in a cold place,[67] contradicting its original origin, although this may have been simply in reference to the harsh Baltic seas the Teutonic Knights were stationed. Himaruya also stated that Prussia began as Margravate of Brandenburg, however it is possible that he simply meant Prussia as a kingdom and not Prussia, the character. The type of flag used to represent Prussia is that for The Kingdom of Prussia, which lasted from 1701 to 1918. He was succeeded by The Free State Of Prussia, his last incarnation before being disbanded by Allied forces in 1947. In the web-hosted Simple Character Introductions a modern German flag was used despite noting it only as Prussia. A production note by Hidekaz Himaruya states that Prussia was under Russian control after World War II and was stuck having to work that made it no profit.[16] implying Prussia was East Germany. An idea of hetalia game scrapped by Himaruya also gave some weight to the theory: in the game, nations are instead human beings living in New York City. One of the characters was described as an East German man, and had a personality very similar to Prussia. However, since this game has never gone any further, it is also uncertain. In 2011, drawings on the European Economic Chrissu revealed that Prussia is prone to Ostalgie and that he and Germany must get rid of the wall in our hearts so that Germany can become better.[4] proving that it was East Germany, and that it currently represents the eastern region of Germany. Due to his first appearance in uncredited episode 10, it is widely believed that he was voiced by seiyū Subaru Kimura. It was later revealed that Atsushi Kousaka had actually voiced him (making an impression of Kimura's voice for Gian, from the Doraemon series). According to an interview with Comic Biz, Hidekaz Himaruya approved of Prussia's casting, having predicted that Kousaka would adapt to the character. A sentence in the third volume of the published manga demonstrates the idea of being the Kaliningrad Oblast, as it is said that it had become an exclave of Russia. [30] However, the same phrase stated that he lived with his brother, and more recent notes indicate that this may have been a mistake or recontend. An old sketch by Himaruya depicted a very different representation of the monastic state of the Teutonic knights. Instead of a younger Prussia, the Teutonic Knight has long dark hair and a beard. In a production note, Himaruya stated that he initially also designed a Prussia that had long hair and a face like poland's, and that his personality had to be much more mature and pitiful. He also noticed that his hair style had not been fastened and that his head was covered with a hat. According to Himaruya, although the it is older than Germany, it is shorter than due to poor nutrition. In 2010, Prussia starred in the downloadable mini-game Osji Prussia, in which it cleaned the homes of various characters. In response to a on what the German brothers in the Germany segment, it was clarified that Prussia and its brothers (sans Germany) are related nations that passed on their skills and traits to Germany, and to learn about Prussia is manegna, through his book he was mistakenly drawing a book with the right on Happy Valentine's Day.
