Disney has quite a lot of media ownership these days. They own ABC, ESPN, Marvel, Lucasfilm, and, soon, Fox. This means that there are a bunch of ways to interact with Disney stuff. However, we believe that people looking for Disney apps want more classic Disney characters and experiences. We can definitely help with that. Disney, again, is massive. They have movies, TV shows and music in many genres. We can help you find what you are looking for. Here are the best Disney apps for Android.Disney-DisneyNowFANDOMMyHeartRadio FamilyInternet TV (link to Hulu)Movies AnywhereMy Disney ExperienceRedditOfficial Disney appsYouTube*Price: Free trial / $6.99 per month / $12.99 per month*Disney is the biggest disney release app in recent times. It has a bunch of Disney shows and movies along with content from Disney-owned properties (such as The Simpsons) and some original content such as Mandalorian. It's a huge success for Disney so far, and it's an obvious choice for a list like this. Also, you can get Hulu, Disney and ESPN for $12.99, and it's honestly the best deal to stream right now. It's easily the best Disney app. DisneyNow*Price: Free with TV subscriber loginDisneyNow is Disney's current streaming service. You enter the service with existing information from the TV cable provider and get access to a bunch of Disney TV content. This includes children's shows, cartoons and live action stuff, classic and new Disney characters, and even Radio Disney. Disney is an excellent streaming service, but you'll still get more day-to-day Disney content from this than you have from Disney, and it's still integrated with your cable TV provider if you still have one. Fandom from Wikia*Price: Free with adsFandom from Wikia is a community of enthusiasts who create these little wiki pages for various media properties. It used to be a collection of apps for different fandoms, but now it's one app with every theme available. The app usually provides information about characters, movies, TV shows and even some games. It's a neat way to learn some little things about basically any Disney movie, show, or character. Of course, it's a bit of a niche product. Trivia lovers should definitely try this one.*iHeartRadio Family*Price: Free/$9.99 per month there are several different versions of iHeartRadio. However, for Disney stuff, we recommend the iHeartRadio family. It has 80 family music stations from a bunch of popular children's shows and movies. Of course, this includes a lot of Disney content. You can go with a station dedicated to Disney princess songs or just hit up to standard Disney radio for a great mix of music from Disney. Of course, the full version has all these stations, and so current iHeartRadio fans just need to press the search button to find these stations. The premium version adds unlimited passes and a bunch of other features Ok. Internet TV (Sling TV, Hulu, DirecTV Now, etc.) Price: Free/Variest easier (and cheaper) to watch TV than ever before. TV services such as Hulu, Sling TV, YouTube TV, PlayStation Vue and DirecTV now all have a bunch of great children's content. Consequently, they all also have access to the Disney Channel along with a bunch of back-registered Disney content. For example, on Hulu, if you subscribe to a live TV service, you get Disney Channel, but also access movies like Pocahontas. The amount of Disney content on the streaming service varies, but you can at least get an actual feed on all of them. Honestly, it's probably better cable than Disney stuff because you get these on-demand titles as long as you subscribe to the LIVE TV service. In addition, Disney has a Disney, ESPN and Hulu subscription bundle for a pretty big price here. Movies Anywhere*Price: Free / Movie Prices vary*Movies Everywhere is probably the best app for movies on Google Play. This is not his own standalone streaming service. It's actually a collection of other movie streaming services. You sign your iTunes, Amazon, Vudu or Google Play. All movies purchased on all these services are now available in one place. The service boasts more than 7,500 movies, and that of course includes tons of Disney movies along with basically every Marvel and Star Wars as well. Disney will most likely have all these movies at Disney when it comes out. Until then, however, this is probably the best place to actually buy a Disney movie and watch it. The app is sometimes buggy, but it's otherwise pretty good. It also comes with Chromecast support. My Disney/DisneylandPrice experiences: Free*Disneyland and Disney World are two of the most popular holiday destinations in the world. They also both have official applications. The My Disney Experience app focuses primarily on Disney World. You can use it to plan your vacation as an interactive park map and you can even buy tickets and merch there. The Disneyland app is the same. The app shows you information such as the expected waiting time, the browser restaurant menu and the interaction with the park map. There are apps for all Disney parks separately, including in Paris, Hong Kong and Shanghai. Those headed to Disney World or Disneyland should definitely have these apps on hand. Reddit*Price: Free/$3.99 per month/$29.99 a year*Reddit is good for many fans and Disney fans are no exception. The site has dozens of subreddits for Marvel properties, Star Wars movies, and of course, classic Disney properties as well. you can talk to other people who like the things you like and post things that you a. The Reddit app keeps everything under moderate control, although people who haven't used Reddit before may find it difficult to acclimatize at first. In any case this is a great way to read news about Star Wars, Marvel, or other Disney properties and discuss these things with other fans. The premium subscription removes advertising and gives you some extra features as well. Disney's official app*Price: Free (usually) We've said it over and over again that Disney is a huge company. As it turns out, there are a number of official Disney apps for most of these properties. Some examples include the official Star Wars app, the official Marvel app, the ESPN app, the official ABC app, and the list you can go on. These official apps are some of the best ways to interact with a massive list of Disney media companies. For example, you can watch ABC programs in the ABC app or read about the latest Star Wars news on the Star Wars app. You can even read old Marvel comics in the Marvel app. It really depends on what kind of content each property does, but it's still Disney.*YouTube*Price: Free/$12.99 a month*YouTube is an excellent, albeit obvious, choice for a great Disney app. You can basically find any Disney song ever made there along with a ton of clips and memes from various movies and TV shows. It's also a place to see trailers for upcoming movies or shows, reviews of various toys or games, and basically everything else you can think of. Disney has an official VEVO channel with more than 11 million subscribers. But, again, you probably already knew it all so this part of the list is actually just some confirmation bias. Yes, YouTube is one of the best apps for Disney fans. You can additionally pay $12.99 per month to remove ads, download videos for offline use, and you get a few other features.
