Brownie patch placement back

For over a century, the Girl Scouts have proudly worn distinctive uniforms symbolizing the high ideals for which the Boy Scout stands. The uniforms provide unity among the Boy Scouts and a sense of belonging to a global fraternity. Girl Scout Brownies wear an outfit to ceremonies when they officially represent Girl Scouts, and when they just want to share their Girl Scout pride. This article about brownie-level troop leaders explains key patches, pins, badges, and their placement for the Brownie uniform. [ryv-poppu video= Single Basic Brownies have the option of a brown belt or vest. In addition to the standard white shirt and khaki pants or skirt option for official events, Brownies may choose to wear a full uniform ensemble. This includes a Brownie shirt, beanie, tie, skirt, and socks or tights. The front of the uniform All formal patches, pins, and insignia are placed on the front of the Brownie outfit. A Brownie may not win all these awards-depends only on her time on the program. The following are the only pins, patches, and prizes belonging to the front of the Brownie Scout outfit. Badges and prizes marked with asterisks* can be added to girls' uniforms right away! * American Flag Patch – This patch identifies Scouts living in the U.S. * Total Recognition Board – This set includes the Girl Scouts of the U.S. Strip and the River Valleys Board ID Lane. Troop Crest – This emblem is a symbol for the goal of the troop, interest, or character. An emblem is passed by all members of the troops. * Troop numbers – After joining Girl Scouts, the girls will receive a troop number. * Membership Stars and Discs - These mean completed years at any given level of the program. For each year completed, a star is placed in the uniform. These stars will move on to the next outfit level of the program, as they constantly represent the years the girl has been in Girl Scouts. A green colored disc rests behind the star to represent the Brownie project level. * Bridge to Girl Scout Brownie Award – This award means that a girl has graduated from girl level Scout Daisy and is now a Girl Scout Brownie. My promise, my faith pins – These pins mean girls who have completed steps to determine what their faith and Girl Scouting have in common, using the Girl Scout Act as a guide. Cookie Sales Activity – Girls participating in the Cookie Program have earned the cookie pin by developing basic business skills. Every year the color of the pin changes. These pins move to the next level of the program uniform as to the continuous represent the years the girl has participated in Cookie sales. Pin Award Security – This pin means completing a five-step process to stay safe, tailored to Girl Scout Brownies. Girl Scout Brownie Emblems - These are triangular and placed along the bottom of the belt or vest on the right side. It is acceptable for these signals to be placed upside down in order to fit the pieces together like a puzzle. If there is no more space on the front, the overflow signals can be placed at the bottom around the back of the vest or belt. World Day of Thought Award – This award is won by participating in activities and projects on World Day of Thought. Global Action Award - This award connects the World Association of Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) fraternity helping girls work together to make a difference on an issue that affects girls and women around the world. * Brownie Insignia Tab – This tab is used to keep the World Trefoil Pin and Pin membership. * World Trefoil Pin – The Trefoil Pin World shows that you are part of the World Association of Girls and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS). * Girl Scout Brownie Pin Member – This pin means that a girl is a member of the Scouts. Trip Summit Pin Award – This pin means that a girl has completed three Brownie Trips. Girls who have won the Journey Summit Award Pin can transfer their prize to their junior uniform. Travel Badges Award – These awards mean the Activities Brownie Journey a girl has completed. When the initial three activities of the Trip are completed, they gather to make a special picture. The back of the suit If the girls can't fit all the official prizes and patches on the front of your outfit, they can place them on the back. However, the back of the uniform is intended for all unofficial signs and patches, including cookies, camp, and fun patches. Fun patches reflect girls' participation in events, projects or special personal interests. Shop for Brownie Uniforms and Uniform Items Visit any of our Girl Scout stores to buy badges, uniforms, recognitions, gifts, special packages and items, and more! We have many store locations scattered throughout our council area (see locations and hours). Our online store is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and is fast, easy, safe and orders are usually shipped within five business days. The placement of a Brownie badge depends on the type of signal and whether it is placed in a belt or vest. In a vest, Brownie signals are placed in the lower right corner of the user and Journey signals are placed under travel signals in a zone. If brownie and Journey signals do not fit on the front of a belt or it is acceptable to place them on the back. Other insignia can be found above banners in a Brownie belt or vest, including American Flag Patch, Girl Scout Council Recognition Set, Troop Top and Numbers, and membership stars and records. An image reference for placing tokens is available on the Scouts' website. Insignia, which consists of the World Union brooch and Scout pin placed on a felt tab, goes over the girl's heart, on the left side of her vest- or pinned to her shirt if she has a belt. What kind of badges and prizes could a girl scout have? First, consider what kinds of badges, patches, pins, pins, and patches your daughter can receive during program age level years. Junior Girl Scout Example Time that uses the lower age level girl scouts as an example, we know that they are girls who are in grades 4-5 of school. They wear either a green vest or belt as their uniform piece. Official badges, patches, and prizes that can be received or won during these two years may include the following. InsigniaWorld Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) pin girl scout membership pin Emblems American Flag Council patch Troop top membership star membership numbers with color discs (yellow for junior years) Badgeltrip of your world, change it! It's your planet. I love it! It's your story, tell it! Image by prokidwiterS where to place marks on the vest of a junior scout or sashVest refer to the vest diagram above for a useful visual example of these placements. Discreetly, placed on a felt tab, it will go over the girl's heart on the girl's left side vest. Next to the insignia and to his left goes the highest prize for the age level of the program. For the Juniors, that would be the bronze award pin. Below the tokens are placed the marks of the sign, grouped into a rectangle. Cookie sales activity pins can go to the left or just below the marks. Travel patch sets go under the marks. Signs, the marks are placed along the corner on both sides of the vest. The emblems are placed on the right side of the vest girl. At the top, the patch of the American flag is placed. Under the council emblem. If the troop has an emblem, it is placed under the council emblem and above the number of troops. Under troop numbers, membership stars are placed in a row. Each star must have a color tray that goes between the star and the uniform piece. Sash MountingGo to scout marks and such in a zone is a little simpler. There's a kind of hierarchy. Emblems go to the top of the belt and in order of importance: American Flag, Patch Council, Troop Top, Troop Numbers, Membership Stars, Bridge Award, Junior Aide Award, Brownie Wings. After Wings are awards, also in order of importance: My Loyalty Pin, Leadership Pin, Safety Pin, Cookie Sales Pin, and Travel Badges. Skill builders' badges go to the bottom. The highest-level program award -- the bronze award for Juniors -- goes to the same level as troop numbers. Remember that when a girl wears a belt, pins subtly go on a felt tab that is pinned to the girl's shirt, over her heart on the left side, rather than onto the belt itself. Some awards carry when girls bridge to the next age level. Here, a troop participates in a bridging ceremony.anjanettew, CC BY-SA 2.0, from flickrWho pins or emblems carry when girls Bridge? When a girl scout bridges to the next age level of the program, some of her pins and prizes move onto the new vest or belt, including: Insignia: The felt tab is left in the old vest or belt, and the distinctive pins move themselves into a new one and on the new vest or belt. Copper and Silver Award Pins: The previous program age level award is always placed below the current age level award. (Example: Copper prize pin goes under silver prize pin.) Membership Stars and Color Back: Create a new series as needed to accommodate all stars. Brownie wings: The wings are always placed below the current age level of the prize patch bridging program. You can see the American flag, the council emblem, troop numbers, and the membership star on the right side of this Junior's vest. Brownie Brownie Her has these patches placed in the same way, as well as the felt tab on the left side of her vest. Common base San Antonio Public Affairs, Public Sector, via FlickrTips for placing emblems on vests or Sasses1. Follow the same placement between the age levels of the program Placing badges and emblems on the Girl Scout vest is the same for all program age levels. Skill-builder marks are always placed on the front of the vest along the hem. Travel token sets always go above the marks of skill manufacturers (and under the tokens) on the girl's left side. Other winning marks and prizes go to the middle of the vest, and usually cause the most confusion.2. Plan AheadIf you know for sure that your daughter will win two trip signal sets (this is more typical for Cadettes, who have an extra year to earn them), then leave some space so that the sets can be placed side by side. Otherwise, the center of the win Trip set in the vest. If, by chance, you win another set, place it under the first. Start by placing insignia or skill-builder patches along the bottom edge of the vest or belt, especially for fun patches. This will give you more space to add more, and you will be less likely to run out of space. If you iron on marks or patches, take the time to sew only a few stitches into each mark or patch. Sometimes the iron-for glue relaxes, so that the extra stitch or two can help prevent a signal or patch from falling completely. 3. Do not accent over mountingIt is perfectly ok to put winning badges and pins on the back of a vest or belt if the front side is outside the room. It's okay if you don't put things perfectly. It's more important that you say yes to the Girl Scouts in the first place! Remember, you can always move things around later, particularly if you or your daughter sew things in place instead of ironing the banners on. 4. Be proud of your Girl Scout! Always ask your girl why each signal was. It helps to enhance the program's goals of character building and trust in girls. Perfect brand placement is not nearly as important as the other things that girls earn from the program, such as friendships, adventure, confidence, character, and new skills. Q&AEx: Where does the 2018 Scout Booth Sales cookie patch go in the junior vest? Answer: Since the Booth Sales patch aims to recognize that Scout (or troop) participated in a cookie booth sale, it is not a winning brand in the traditional sense. So the Sales Booth patch will go to the back of the vest or belt, like a fun patch. You may want to place the booth sales patch on top of the back of the or zone, note that it is different from the other fun patches. Question: Where does the copper prize patch go in the Girl Scout vest? Answer: The Bronze Award itself is usually a pin that goes to the front of the vest, to the girl's left, outside the tab discreetly. When the girl bridges with the Cadets, the Bronze Prize pin moves towards the Cadet vest. Then you can place the bronze award patch on the junior vest in place (or over the Journey Summit awards, you may need to move things around to fit.) Alternatively, you can place the bronze award patch on the back of the junior vest once it is won, and wear both pin and patch. Question: Where does the Cookie CEO patch go in a Scout vest? Answer: Cookie CEO is a earned badge, so it will go to the front of the vest. Many scouts begin placing badges along the corner of the right side of her vest. This allows the space to add signals to the insignia and allows space on the left side of the vest for journey marks. If you run out of space at the front of the vest, you can always place marks on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where is an encouragement patch placed? Answer: I think you're referring to the patch Raise your hand? If so, this patch goes anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. If it's not your hand augmentation patch but it's some other kind of fun patch, then it still goes to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the color Gaord patch go? Answer: The Color Guard patch is considered to be a fun patch, even though some councils have a set of recommended activities to go with earning it. Since it's a fun patch, it goes anywhere in the back of the belt or vest. Question: Does the ascension patch go to the front of daisy vest? Answer: The ascension patch is a fun patch, and so goes to the back of daisy vest. Question: Where does the second year patch go for brownies of girlscoots? Answer: I believe you are referring to a fun patch, which goes to the back of the vest or belt. If not, please write again with more information about what the patch was for. Question: Where do Cookie 500+ and Cookie 2018 Bar go in a junior vest? Answer: They go anywhere in the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the 2017 World Thought Day patch go for the Scout Essays vest? Answer: This is difficult because there is a 2017 World Thinking Day Award, which goes to the front vest, on the right side (his girl). It should be placed over any marks and under the cookie pin or community service lines. If it's really a patch and not the official prize, it will go to the back of the vest. Question: If we have the sale of biscuits for 2019 and the patches of cookie stands after the bridge from brownies to juniors, can we place them in the junior vest? Answer: A lot of girls like to do this, so it's fine! Question: Where does the early bird signal go? Boy Scout vest, Junior? Answer: Early Bird is a patch given for early registration. Question: If we have the sale of biscuits for 2019 and the patches of cookie stands after the bridge from brownies to juniors, can we place them in the junior vest? Answer: This patch goes anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the withdrawal badge go on a Girl Scout vest? Answer: Withdrawal patches are considered fun patches, so they go anywhere at the back of the vest or belt. The only exception I know of is whether your Council has a special winning mark for taking office. In this case, the earned signal goes to the front of the vest or belt, along with other earned marks, under the travel signals. Question: Where does the Patch of World Girl Scouts Think Day go? Answer: There is a world day of thought award that is round in shape like other girl scout brands. As this is won, it goes to the front of the vest or belt. You can place them in a row just above any other earned marks, or just above other earned marks. The Global Action Award can also be placed next to the World Day of Thought award. The World Day of Thought award should not be confused with the general fun patches of World Thought Day, which are different in size and shape from girl scout marks, and should go to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the Elephant Stand Up Stand Out, the Elephant Goal Getter and the 100+ and 200+ patches on a girl scout vest or belt go? Answer: These patches are related to the cookie program, and are considered fun patches, so they go anywhere in the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where do cookie sale patches go in a girl scout vest? Answer: Cookie marks and patches are always a source of some confusion. There are really earned brands for cookie sales, such as the Junior Level Cookie CEO brand, but are you probably referring to a patch given to a Girl Scout to do a site sale, or participate in a similar cookie event? If the patch doesn't shape like other skill-builder signals, (for example: triangular for Brownie signals, or circular for Juniors.), then it's likely a fun patch. All fun patches go to the back of the vest or belt. If it's a skill-builder badge, it will go to the front of the vest, on the girl's right side, with the placement starting from the hem and working up. If there's no more room, it's absolutely position the signal on the back. Another possibility: if the girl is daisy, and the patch looks like a green leaf and says Count it Up or Talk it Up, then it goes to the front of the vest, under the petals, so that it forms the (girl) left leaves of the daisy stem. Question: Is Girlscout cookie brands considered win? Answer: Skill-builder cookie signals are considered win, there are also fun cookie patches that have not won. Skill manufacturers' marks related to sales include Count It Up, Talk It Up (Daisies); Meet my clients, give back (Brownies); Ceo of Cookie, Customer Information (Juniors); Think Big, Business Plan, Marketing (Cadettes); My portfolio, customer loyalty (elderly) and Profits and Losses, Research and Development (Ambassadors.) Coole Activity Pin is also a prize win and goes to the front of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the rededication patch go for the Girl Scout Junior belt? Answer: The rededication or Investiture patch goes anywhere at the back of the belt or vest. Most Scouts will place patches that start at the top edge of the belt or vest and work down. Question: Where does the rededication badge go to Daisy Tunic? Answer: I'm only aware of fun patches to highlight rededication, so if your board has a earned mark for irritation, I'd say it goes anywhere in the back of Daisy's tunic. If you discover that what you have is a earned Council badge, please write back and let us know! Question: Where do soar above &mp; super seller nut brands go in a junior girl crown belt? Answer: Both of these are considered fun patches, and so will go to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the G.I.R.L. patch go on a Boy Scout vest? Answer: Thanks for your excellent question! That's a little confusing, so be patient with me. If this is a fun patch, given to the girl for attending an event, then she goes to the back of the vest or belt. However, if it is one of the insignia earned for civil engagement, internal government, finding common ground, behind the vote, or public policy, then it goes to the front. These G.I.R.L. brands include: Good Neighbor (Margaritas), Celebrating the Community (Brownies), Inside Government (Juniors), Finding Common Ground (Cadettes), Voting Behind the Vote (Seniors), and Public Policy (Ambassadors). If you're still not sure, check the shape of the signal or patch. If it has a shape similar to other signals your scout has, then it is very much a signal. If it's a generic oval shape or a strange shape, then it's likely a fun patch. Question: Where does the patch go making friends? Answer: I'm going to assume that this is the Flat Brownie Making Friends try-this badge, which is triangular in shape with a brown edge and has a cat and mouse design in the center. If so, then this is a earned badge, so it goes to the front of the vest, on the right side of the (girl). Signals are started at the hem, lined up in a row. Move up, line by line, as you add additional signals. If you run out of space on the right side, you can place some on the left side, again starting from the hem and moving upwards. For belts, place the signal on the front, starting at the bottom and working upwards, row by row. If making your friends patch doesn't match the description of the Brownie brand, then maybe it's a fun patch? Most making friends fun patches have the words Making Making in it. If this is the case, then as a fun patch, it should be placed anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Does it matter if daisy journey signals are placed down left or right? Answer: Most girls will place travel signals starting on the (girl's) left side of the vest, along the bottom. When they run out of space on the bottom left, they'll fill the bottom right. If you are still running from the room, you can add another row above, again going from left to right. If you accidentally earn skill-constructor signals, you can place them in a row over journey marks on the left, or in a row on the right. Don't worry, though, the important thing is that the badges were won and a girl should rightly feel proud to wear them! Question: Where does it speak up, and Cookie Rally patches go into a Girlscout zone? Answer: The Cookie Rally patch is a fun patch that goes to the back of the vest or belt, there's a Speak Up fun patch, and an increase in your hand patch that also goes anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the play fair patch triangle go in a Boy Scout's zone? Answer: This is the Brownie Play Fair badge, I believe. Since it is a earned badge, it goes to the front of the belt, under all the usual insignia, and under the travel badges. If you haven't earned Journey badges yet, but plan to leave space under the Journey badges and start placing try-its under that space. Alternatively, you can start placing try-in along the bottom hemline of the zone, and work your way up. If you've run out of space in the zone for Try-'s, it's ok to place some on the back of the belt! Question: My daughter won the Girls, Science and Technology badge 15 years ago. Does that go in front of or behind scout Brownie's belt? Answer: I think it may be stumped! I haven't heard of this particular signal and I haven't been able to find it on today's list of official signals. But, could this be a council badge, especially for your local council? If it is similar in appearance - size and shape - to other earned Brownie marks, then it will go to the front. If completed as part of a trip, place it on the left side of the (girl) with other Journey signals. If it's a skill builder badge, it will go to the right side of the vest. If the badge doesn't look similar in size and shape to other earned Brownie brands, then it's likely to be considered to be a fun patch, and so it will go to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where is 2018 going? Scout early record patch go for the daisy vest? Answer: The early registration patch goes anywhere on the back of the Daisy vest. There is no special pattern to follow on the back of the vest, in fact, most girls like a very random patchwork back-of-vest look! Question: Where does the 2020 Boy Scouts digital cookie patch go to Daisy's tunic? Answer: Answer: this is a fun patch, it can go anywhere on the back of the vest or tunic. Question: Where can I place the Smiles4Military patch, the Go for Bold theme patch and the 2019 patch bar from cookie sales? Does everyone go to the back of the vest? Answer: Yes! All of these are considered patches, rather than builder skill badges, and so go to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where does the Go For Bold 2018-2019 cookie pin go in a Daisy tunic? Answer: The 2019 cookie pin is fuchsia in color, about an inch or so in size, in a diamond shape. He goes to the front of the tunic, on the right side (his girl), under the membership stars. If the girl does not have membership stars, you can place the pin under the troop numbers. In general, the cookie pin goes over my loyalty pins, but many girls prefer to have my loyalty pins placed above the cookie pin, and that's fine. Question: Where does the care to share and family partnership signals go in a Boy Scout Junior's zone? Answer: Both are considered fun patches, and so go anywhere in the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where do you put the Pax Lodge pin in an ambassador zone? Answer: Is this Pax's friends pin lodge? It is so, it is generally treated like a patch and goes to the back of the vest or belt. However, if it is a prize pin, or if there were a number of tasks required to win the pin, then it can be worn on the front, along with other winning marks or prizes. Question: Where does the Bridging '18 Girl Scout patch go? Is he going back? Answer: You're right! Bridging patches generally go to the back of the vest or belt. The only exception would be if your Council has a special winning mark related to bridging. Question: Where does the Girl Scout Day patch go on a Scout's vest or belt? Answer: Goes to the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where do patches for cookie sales go in the belt or vest of a girl scout? Answer: If it's a fun patch, it will go to the back of the vest or belt. If it's a signal related to cookie sales, it will go to the front. Cookie marks are shaped like other Scout emblems - triangular, round, diamond, rectangle, or stylized square depending on the grade level. Daisies also have leaves associated with cookie sales that go to the front of the vest or tunic. Finally, there is also a cookie patch captain for older girls that goes to the back of the vest or belt. It can be confusing with all signals the fun patches. Question: where does the Lifetime Cookie Achiever with the ladder to it go in a Girl Scout vest? Answer: Lifetime Cookie Achiever is a patch for 2018. He goes anywhere in the back of the vest or belt. This patch has loops to attach charmed symbols, so it will probably require an extra stitch or two to ensure that charms don't fall off. Question: Where does the target getter signal target I believe that Goal-Getter is a fun patch, as opposed to a earned skill-builder brand. If your Goal-Getter is not round in size and of the same shape as the skill builder marks, then it's probably the fun patch, and so goes anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Can young people wear their Brownie bridging patch on their vest? Answer: If your junior won the bridge for juniors badge, it's worn on the front of the vest. It's arc-shaped (like a bridge) and there are specific requirements to win it. Juniors can also wear their Brownie Wings on the front of their vest. The Girl Scout Bridge to Brownies award remains in the Brownie vest. Question: Where does the first aid badge go in a girl scout vest? Answer: That's a really good question because the Brownie First Aid brand can be confusing! If you are referring to the Brownie First Aid badge acquired as part of The Outer Journey, it goes to the left side (of the girl's) vest, along with other Travel badges. Some girls like to arrange travel signs to show they belong to a set, but it's good to just start from the bottom end of the vest and work your way up in rows. Some troops earn the first aid badge as a skill-builder, and not as part of the outdoor trip, so if that's the case, you can place the badge on the right side of the vest, with other skill-builder badges. Junior, Cadette, Senior and Ambassador Scouts earn skill-builder First Aid badges. This badge goes to the right side (of the girl's) vest, with the placement starting at the bottom corner and working upwards in the rows. Question: Which shoulder should the Boy Scout belt usually draped over? Answer: The belt is usually worn over the right shoulder down to the left hip, but I had girls who preferred to wear theirs the other way for a variety of reasons. Question: Can a Girl Scout win a badge on her own? Answer: Yes, absolutely, a girl scout can earn a badge regardless. A parent or other adult can verify that all requirements are met and then purchase the winning badge from the Girl Scout Council store. Question: Where will the Soar Above, Goal Getter, Mouse, Top Seller and her avatar from candy sales with her name go in the Brownie zone? Answer: These seem to be fun patches related to product sales, so go to the back of the belt or vest. They can be placed anywhere on the back. Question: Where do extra badges go in a junior vest for scouts? If you run out of space at the front of the vest, you can place signals anywhere on the back. Also, if you group the Journey marks to the left of the vest and the proficiency marks to the right and run out of space for proficiency signals, if it's ok to place someone on the same side as the Journey badges. Question: Where does the GS Way yellow triangle Brownie patch go in a Boy Scout vest? Answer: GS Way is a Brownie badge, so it goes to the front of its or zone, along with other winning marks. Most Brownies like to start the badges on the bottom twisting of the vest, and add up, row by row. This will help you maximize your space available for signals! Question: Where does girlscout protegte proud to belong patch go? Answer: This beautiful little patch is considered a fun patch, and so goes anywhere in the back of the vest or belt. Question: Where do the financial literacy badges go in a Brownie vest? Answer: The Brownie Financial Education brands include Money Manager and Philanthropist. They are triangular and are considered builder skill badges, so go to the front of the vest with other Try-'s. Some girls want to put all their Try-it badges on the right side of their vest, starting at the hem and working up, and marks their journey on the left side of the vest. But most girls run out of the room and will put his Try-in on the left side under the travel signals as well as on the right side. Question: Where does the Brownie First Aid triangle signal go? Answer: I believe you are referring to the first aid signal with the Red Cross on it, which is a part of Brownie's outdoor travel badge set? If so, it goes to the left side (of the girl's) vest, under the tab discreetly, with other Travel badges. Most girls like to group the Journey signals together from the set, sometimes in a pattern (circle, large triangle, etc),but it's perfectly ok to just line them up in a row. You can start from the hem and work your way up so you don't run out of room. I've noticed that girls now group their travel signals on the (Girl's) left side of the vest, and place regular proficiency marks on the right side, but you can, of course, place proficiency marks on both sides if you want, or even on the back if you run out of space. Question: Where does the patch go Clean the crew in a girl scout belt or vest? Answer: In general, clean patches, such as Clean Up Crew, are fun patches and so go anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Question: Can winning Girl Scout badges double up on the front of a Cadette vest if they don't fit all in one row? Answer: Yes, absolutely! I've seen cadets who've earned a lot of badges put them in a lot of rows in their vests. You can even place some on the back if you run out of space at the front. Question: Where is the right placement for girl scout heart in shape I love brand daisies? Answer: The Fun patch daisies goes to the back of the vest or tunic. Can you place it anywhere on the back? some parents come up with really inventive placements of fun patches, but you can always place them in a row starting at shoulder level, working down to hem.CommentsKA Hanna (author) from Finest City of America on January 13, 2020: Hi Heather, Wow! A special patch from the CEO Council is a wonderful thing! There is no stating that such a patch should be left in a particular vest, so if your girl wants to move it in her Brownie outfit, I would say go ahead and move it. She has the right to be proud of it! Heather on January 13, 2020: My girl got a special patch from our board CEO last year and really wants to move it onto her Brownie outfit. Is it something we could or should leave in Daisy's vest?KA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on December 26, 2019:Hi Roxanne, Thanks for your question! All product sales patches, such as the avatar patch, go to the back of the Daisy vest. Roxanne on December 25, 2019:Where does Daisy put the avatar patches she won for the autumn productsKA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on December 10, 2019:I'm not familiar with any brand or patch called Council Wide. Could this be a Council of its own brand or patch? A Council's badge is earned, and is unique to your specific GS Board. Councils can also have a patch program, with fun patches given for certain activities. The best thing to do is to ask the leader of your Brownie troop if the patch/badge was a earned mark, which will go to the front of the belt (work from the bottom hem and move up), or if the patch/mark was a fun patch. If a fun patch, it can go anywhere at the back of the belt. Irene Dornberger on December 07, 2019:Where does the Council Wide badge/patch go in the Brownie Zone?KA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on August 17, 2019:Congratulations to your granddaughter, Suzanne! I guess what you sew on the vest is fun patches, not winning badges? Fun patches can go anywhere on the back of the vest. Some girls want to try to group them in some way, but most girls like the back of the vest not to be too fussy. You can just start from the top and work your way down, turn by turn. Now, for the winning marks, you're going to sew them on the front of the vest. Place earned skill-builder badges along the lower right side of the vest, going up in rows as more signals are earned. On the left side of the vest, place the earned travel signals along the bottom, going up in rows. Journey signals that are set will go further to the center of the vest, on the left side. If you are ever unsure, you can only use a few stitches to hold the signals until you are sure of place them, and then stitch them in more securely later. Happy scouting! Suzanne on August 17, 2019: I sew my granddaughter's first badges on the back of the vest. Where should I start putting them? Does it matter?KA Hanna (writer) from America's Finest City on April 30, 2019:Hi Maria, Yes, bridging the awards is generally transferred to the new outfit. For example, brownie wings or the Brownie Bridge arch will carry in the junior vest or belt. It will be placed under the arch of the Little Bridge. When the Girl Scout moves up in the Cadettes, she will move her Brownie or the brownie bridge arch, plus the Junior Bridge arch in the Cadet's vest. The arch of the Cadet Bridge will be placed above the junior arch, which will be placed above the Brownie arch (or wings.) Then you will add the arch of the Bridge and finally the arch of the Ambassador. Maria on April 30, 2019. The transfer of briging awards from uniform to uniform. From brownies to juniors to cadets and so on?KA Hanna (author) from Best City of America on November 13, 2018:Hi Trina, I think you should have the Pax pin given to those visiting in person, and not available for purchase in the store. If the pin was given as a memento only, then it goes anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. If it was given as a special recognition or honor, perhaps in exchange for the service performed by the Girl Scout, or for completing any number of activities or tasks, then it is worn on the front of the vest or belt, under the GS awards and over the skill-builder badges on the girl's right side. I'd probably place it near cookie pins, or on or under my service my loyalty pins. Trico on November 12, 2018:Hello! I asked about the placement of the Pax Lodge pin, it's the pin given at the pin ceremony in Pax that both my daughter and I received last summer when we visited. At the time and for convenience (there were 15 of us on the team getting the pins), hers was pinned by the American flag patch on her belt and mine was put under my appreciation pin. I hope this will help? I'd like to attach a photo if I could!KA Hanna (author) from Finest City of America on October 20, 2018:The Girl Scout Way badge is a Brownie badge that goes to the front of the vest or belt. You can start placing marks on the right side of the vest girl, on the hem, and work. When you're done, you can place signals on the left side of the girl's vest. Usually, Journey signals will exceed the signals of skill manufacturers. The strength of the KORITIA patch can go anywhere on the back of the vest or belt. Pat B on October 19, 2018:My granddaughter has Believe in the PowerofGirl & GS Way patchKA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on October 03, 2018:Hi breync. I think you are reporting to the GIRL fun patch, which goes anywhere on the back of the vesty or say, Happy Scouting!breync on October 03, 2018:where does the patch the place for every girl go in the vest?KA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on March 10, 2018:Hi Sheila, How awesome is it that you sew your granddaughter's patches into her vest! I believe that Play Fair and signals are Brownie Try-His. Are they triangular? If so, it's definitely the Brownie Try-Its, which go to the front of the vest. With Try-its, you can get a little creative! They can go to the bottom end, in a row, or you can make a pyramid with many of them, or you can place them so that they make a pattern of your choice. They can also continue on one side or both sides the vest, just like the Juniors do, I recommend starting the badges near the bottom end of the vest and working up so that you have room for other badges or Travel badges that your Scout can earn. Happy scouting! Sheila gaudette on March 10, 2018: I'm a grandmother sewing patches of my granddaughter. It is the special placement for these brands, such as: fair game and pet brand. Thank you!KA Hanna (author) from America Finest City on March 6, 2018:Hi GeorgeAllen123, Thanks for your comment! The emblem of unicorn troops goes to the front of the uniform, just above the troop numbers and under any Council emblem or flag emblem. If your troop does not use the Council or flag emblems, the peak still goes just above troop numbers. The other two signals you mentioned sound like Brownie try-its, but I'm not sure. It's triangular in shape, it's Brownie's try-in and it will go to the front of the Brownie vest. If they are round, then they could be council badges, and they would still go to the front of the junior vest, along with other earned marks. If they hadn't earned badges, but were given as fun patches, they would have gone to the back of the vest. I hope it helps! Happy scouting! GeorgeAllen123 on March 6, 2018:Where are the sounds of music, unicorn troop crest, and working it out mark on the junior girl scout vest?KA Hanna (author) from America's Finest City on January 28, 2018:Hi Thayne, This is a really good one, one that is very invited here in our SU as well! In some councils, girls must earn the patch by completing the requirements, but in others, it is given to girls when renewing membership. The way we handle it is this: it's a patch, and so it goes to the back of a belt or vest. Of course, however, if the Council calls it a badge and has demands to win it, your army can agree to put it forward. Thank you so much for your question! Thayne on J January 27, 2018:Where does the 2017 Power of Girl patch go in a Brownie vest? this looks like a pocket flapKA Hanna (author) from America's Best City on November 13, 2017: For Lyn, I hope you see this! Ascension, JL bday patches, Be a reader, and any fun patches generally go to the back of the belt or vest. You should also update this article to better cover the Travel banners! Stay tuned!KA Hanna (author) from America's Best City on October 2, 2015:Tb trio, I'm pretty sure it's right! But you can definitely make your vest your own and come up with your own interpretation! Kawika Chann from Northwest, Hawaii, Anykine post on November 20, 2012: Nice work and layout - very very informative. I remember when I was a cub scout in elementary school, and I was all proud of myself until I saw a brownie that had all these value pins, bells, and whistles. I was all like, whatever - it did motivate me to achieve more pins in the scouts webelos though. Lol. I voted for you and useful. Peace. Kawi.KA Hanna (author) from America's Best City on November 14, 2012: Thanks Jenna! Jenna Estefan from Seattle, WA on November 14, 2012: I like your layout, it's really easy to read and full of useful information. Congratulations!KA Hanna (author) from America's best city on November 7, 2012: It can be quite confusing! But there are common points between the program's age levels in terms of where marks and pins are grouped and placed. The great thing to remember is that no one will get too upset if things aren't perfect. A parent or scanner can also temporarily place the emblems with a stitch or two until they can get confirmation for placement, and then join them up once sure. Jessica Peri from United States on November 7, 2012: That's a lot of information! It's pretty confusing where the signals and things go; I was a Boy Scout for a while, and I remember my mom putting badges on my vest. Voted! On!
