Fgm Whiteness HP Maxx is a 35% hydrogen peroxide whitening for life-saving and non-life-saving teeth. The product contains a group of special dyes that act as an absorbent barrier, also acting as indicators of time (its color varies from intense red to green). With light, they turn it into thermal energy, which accelerates the process of peroxide penetration into the tooth and, as a result, the process of bleaching. In addition to dyes, the product still contains an inorganic load that acts as a barrier and heat wave collector. This barrier causes heat waves to act on the gel as an accelerator of the bleaching process and therefore protects the cellulose from directly reaching temperature rise and causing sensitivity. In addition, the product is available in pre-finished portions that allow one application per session on both arches without having to change the gel. In addition, there is another great advantage in the product formula, Wich contains calcium, reduced hypersensitivity and loss of enamel minerals. 6 syringe set (1.2 g in each set of syringes, 7.2 g bleaching gel in total)1 bottle with 2 g neutralizing solution1 syringe with 2 g Top Dam Price: 78.00 EUR In stock: Contact us Add to the cart Price: EUR In stock: Contact us FGM Dental bleaching gel based on peroxide carbide in concentrations 16%.
