Battle for mount hyjal location

Mount Hejal's massive summit is one of the most impressive places in Callamdor. Here, the global tree is known as the Nordrasal regroves, with the second good of the ointi. The site of the last war of the Third War, here the earth is as well preserved anywhere in the world-protected by the power and grandness of the Dragon. Continue by a constant on the world tree recovering blue, red and bronze dargonflogs here, never looking to prevent the safe of the well of the omens and the burning from reaching the beach of the sacred tree branches. From the lofty peak, a ashanwala, winter spring and follow-up can see a lot. Three important groups form the bulk of the people in Mount Hejal. First of all, the night's are the stability, the human and others who protect the global tree against future attacks. These devil predators are some of the most experienced and powerful adventures in the world, and so on. Most of them either fought in the battle of Hejal in the Third War or otherwise many have enough experience to destroy it and destroy the galaxy. These giant predators are assisted by guru sai dareas and caras, who have also invested more in protecting the koh hejal. The Summit of Hejal is sacred to the direads and the caras, as it is for the night, but it is also their home- in some cases, for many thousands of years. Finally, three dargonflogas carefully monitored the tree on a large scale, their high numbers perhaps a form of compensation for their obvious absence during the Third War. Blue dragonflies are dedicated especially because of this, and when their numbers are not large, they protect the tree from the bottom on the hills in their cave at the top of the mountain hejal, but the mountain and the tree of the world sheltered the night atheo in the forests and the foot of the mountain. The forests and The Rocky Mountain harbored many dangerous animals. With the magic of the desalicity and the world tree-suchurating and the groondwatair, the forest creatures are stronger and more clever than them anywhere on The Callamdor. Tolerate forests such as deadly black tiger and prool, as is powerful stogs. These creatures are not afraid of fighting . They also look for them if the victims look quite weak. Even smart and didiliar animals stayed in the woods. Hoppogreevs and Chamara are a common coffee look between the experienced peaks of the meeting. Hoppogrefs, magic animals that look like a hern, patrol the sky and attack anyone who thinks the forests are a threat. Although friendly friends for the night, they dont show up for strangers or those who they consider a curse. Wild serious wolves also duped on mountain slopes. They have no natural enemies and meet with several armed predators whenever they are terrible. The forests of The Hejal are also known to be home. Sometimes ant and adhering are ancient. These sensitive, mobile trees protect the night enclosed forest mountains of Aen towns and surrounding henjal doors. You redo after a while.
