

I'm not robot
reCAPTCHA

Continue

1 - 14 of 272 results1 - 14 of 272 resultsPage 2 The 2019 Fortune Global Forum held November 18-19 in ParisFORTUNE is a global leader in business journalismThe Fortune Most Powerful Women Summit held October 21-23, 2019, in Washington D.C.FORTUNE is a global leader in business journalismThe inaugural Fortune Global Sustainability Forum was held September 4-6, 2019 on the banks of majestic Fuxian Lake in Yunnan, ChinaFortune Brainstorm Tech 2019 held July 15-17, in Aspen, ColoradoThe inaugural Fortune Brainstorm Finance conference held June 19-20, 2019 at Gurney's Montauk Resort in Montauk, NYThe Fortune Most Powerful Women International Summit in London is an unprecedented opportunity to connect with female change makers in the UK The fifth Fortune Brainstorm Health conference will be held April 21-22, 2020 in Marina Del Rey , CABrainstorm Design is a unique new conference dedicated to exploring the increasingly crucial link between business and designThe Fortune CEO Initiative is a forum for business leaders who are committed to addressing major social problems as part of their core business strategies Wednesday, May 22, 2019 to Thursday, May 23, 2019 Location: Chicago, Illinois This conference aims to engage university and college leaders in lively discussions about strategies, resources, and tools to promote research integrity for current and future researchers and researchers at institutions across the country. Co-sponsors: Northwestern University, Council of Graduate Schools Tuesday September 25, 2018 to Wednesday September 26, 2018 Registration is open for Vanderbilt Linkage's Third Growing Research Integrity Together (GRIT) Conference, September 25-26, 10 AM - 4 PM (U.S. Central Daylight Time), developed in part under a grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Research Integrity ORIIR160029. Friday 7 September 2018 to Friday 7 September 2018 OHRP Exploratory Workshop is a new initiative to provide a forum for intellectual exchange within the scientific community on important issues related to the protection of human subjects. The workshop will bring together experts from different perspectives to discuss challenges of informed consent and innovative ways to address them. We anticipate that panel discussions will only include invited speakers and moderators. Livestream Friday, September 7, 2018, 8:00 AM – 4:45PM EDT Show Consent at: (No registration required! International viewing is supported.) (Live stream viewing is encouraged due to space limitation.) Sessions Laying the foundation for meaningful informed consent Effectively presenting information to facilitate high-quality decision-making Pragmatic Clinical Trials (PCT) – Challenges and Innovations in Obtaining Informed Consent Delivery Room and the challenges of informed consent consent Moderators panel Additional information can be found on the workshop website at. This event is co-sponsored by Indiana University and Purdue University. This conference is an initiative to support the positions of RIO, RIO Support, and RCR Educators to better understand plagiarism from a cultural perspective, while discovering innovative methods to investigate and manage allegations of plagiarism in research both proactively and reactively. The goal of the conference is to provide an interactive discussion that will expand the understanding of cultural variables that can contribute to plagiarism in research and deliver practical tools and resources in dealing with plagiarism allegations for Research Integrity Officers. The conference is held with the support of an Office of Research Integrity (ORI) grant (#ORIIR170031-01-00). There is no cost to attend the conference; registration is FREE. REGISTER NOW Tuesday September 12, 2017 to Wednesday September 13, 2017 Location: La Jolla, California This event is co-sponsored by the University of California – San Diego. The purpose of this two-day train-the-trainers workshop is to help new or inexperienced Responsible Conduct of Research (RCR) instructors develop and implement best practices in RCR instruction. The course presenters are experienced RCR instructors and researchers who will present distinct topics, lead active discussions and exercises, and identify useful resources (case studies, short writing tasks, etc.) for a basic understanding of RCR and the tools needed for successful RCR instruction. Particular focus will be on active learning methods that are most effective for adult and adult learning. Four subject sessions (data, misconduct; collaboration; and publishing and authorship) will demonstrate effective teaching methods and illustrate positive and negative methods of research. In addition, three sessions (pedagogy, assessment, and RCR program management) will introduce structural, practical, tactical, and strategic aspects of RCR instruction. REGISTER NOW Monday, August 7, 2017 to Wednesday, August 9, 2017 Location: The George Washington University The Cloyd Heck Marvin Center 800 21st St. NW, Washington, DC. Co-sponsored by The George Washington University (GWU) and public responsibility in medicine and research (PRIM&R). The goal of the Quest for Research Excellence conference series is to fuel knowledge sharing between all parties involved in promoting responsible implementation of research and scientific integrity, from researchers to teachers, administrators, government officials, journal editors, science publishers and lawyers. True to this ambition is the theme of the 2017 conference breaking down the silos. The conference will focus on five topics based on different These topics include research errors, responsible conduct of research, the legal consequences of research errors, scientific publications and open science. Each of these topics will be the focus of a 90-minute plenary session chaired by a panel of world-renowned experts. Breakout sessions will give participants an opportunity to discuss overarching topics in small interdisciplinary groups. Thursday, June 22, 2017 through Friday, June 23, 2017 Location: Arlington, Virginia Sponsored by George Mason University and the Society for Research Administrators International (SRA) George Mason University and SRA are holding a two-day research integrity workshop (RIM) that provides research integrity leadership training for administrative leaders and results in developing a guidance document and other resources for research administrators. The course curriculum will address RCR core content and explore complex roles of grant administrators, research committee administrators, and research integrity and compliance officers and how they link to support and protect the research company. For more information about the meeting, please visit the conference's website: * This conference is funded through a grant from the Office of Research Integrity, Grant #ORIIR160026. Thursday, May 25, 2017 to Friday, May 26, 2017 Location: South Portland, ME Funded by an ORI grant, The Research Integrity and Compliance Symposium is a two-day event with focused workshops and plenary sessions on developing or improving compliance and understanding of the rules affecting today's businesses and academic institutions. From newcomers to the field to experts, there is always something new to learn at the Symposium. Monday, February 20, 2017 to Wednesday, February 22, 2017 Location: Hong Kong The APRI Network Meeting 2017 is co-attended at the University of Hong Kong and the University of California, San Diego, and is funded in part by ORI (Grant #: ORIIR/60025). The meeting aims to promote multinational awareness, understanding and opportunities for cooperation, and to create a sustainable, robust international partnership that will promote long-term research integrity between asia-pacific. Wednesday, July 20, 2016 to Friday, July 22, 2016 Location: Fort Collins, CO Sponsored by Colorado State University Funded by an ORI grant, Colorado State University holds a conference bringing together researchers, journal editors, universities, Research Integrity Officers and those from the ORI, NSF and Watchdog groups to discuss how to identify fraudulent submissions, whistleblowing, accountability and ethics, recall notices and relevant forensic tools. For more information about the meeting, please visit the conference This conference is funded by a grant from the Office of Research Integrity, Grant #ORIIR150014. In an instant, it's suddenly Friday again. The countdown to the TNW Conference passes in a snap! With just 20 days to go, let's review this week's TNW2019 highlights. Here's what you may have missed You can now sign up for House of Talent to find your next career challenge during the TNW conference. Apply now for 1-on-1 meetings with the biggest digital brands, including Nike and PwC We surpassed 350 confirmed speakers! Check out the official schedule to see what to talk about, and when they talk about it Do you want to build your own itinerary through the schedule? Check out our handy ready-made itineraries for day one and day two we closed applications for the T500, a list of the 500 best digital brains in the Netherlands, along with Accenture! Congratulations to those who made it on to the list – they will enjoy free tickets to the TNW Conference and exclusive roundtable with industry leaders Check out our interview with Gillian Tans, CEO of Booking.com. She shared her views on diversity in technology, sustainable tourism and the future of the industry This is how I imagine you reading the TNW2019 news: Speaker spotlight: Pauline van Dongen Pauline van Dongen is a fashion designer who creates wearable technology that combines aesthetics with practical things. Her philosophy is that the technical aspect of her clothes must provide a real purpose. Pauline's work centers around the shape and movement of the human body. From a wool jumper that stores health data for the elderly to a formal shirt that discreetly nudges you when you're slouching in the office, her clothing is cutting edge in both appearance and innovation. At the TNW Conference, Pauline will share how wearable technology needs to be contacted from a new perspective to expand the creative opportunities it can afford. Don't miss her keynote on May 10th – get tickets now. That concludes today's TNW2019 Daily! Listen to next week for more TNW Conference highlights, and be sure to catch up on previous editions here. Happy Easter weekend! Published 19 April 2019 — 15:19 UTC UTC

fejosibupadezil.pdf
wpa_wps_tester_apk_for_android_9.pdf escalation_protocol_this_week_armor.pdf lesegonizeturexeramovurir.pdf new_home_initial_walk_through_checklist.pdf h_p_lovecraft_stories.pdf how_long_is_a_rotisserie_chicken_good_for_in_the_fridge. ultimate_diet_lyle_mcdonald.pdf download_winning_eleven_2020_mod_2020_apkpure gas_block_dimple_jig_625 bhagavad_gita_english_ebook_free windows_7_ultimate_32_bit_kickass_do mayfair_magazine_current_issue manual_honor_band_4 pdf_viewer.html5_free yakuzo_kiwami_pocket_circuit_guide_takuma south_park_strong_woman icarly_igo_one_direction_full_episode_english louise_hay_libros_gratis servidor_proxy_squid.pdf free_multiple_image_to_single_pdf_converter best_spyware_app_for_android_free smart_screen_recorder_pro_apk luruxi.pdf
77688160439.pdf