Hair color pigments from your hair while new artificial color pigments from your hair whi penetrate into the hair shaft - it anchors a new color for your hair. When you know hair dyeing tips and tricks, you can also use color treatments to completely hide gray hairstyles, for example. © Getty Images/Sydney Shaffer Dye Hair Yourself Shouldn't Be Hard When Doing DIY Hair Coloring, you can gratefully choose any color you feel like! From lively red hairstyles to some bold dark hairstyles, but what's the right shade for you? Hair experts recommend using colors that are no more than two shades lighter or darker than your natural hair. By doing this, you will have the most natural results. When learning how to dye your own hair, keep in mind that changing your hair from dark to light or vice versa can create a sharp look because your eyebrows and hair colors don't match. Consider using an eyebrow pencil to darken your naturally light eyebrows to solve the problem. You should also consider the color of your face before putting red, copper or gold nuances in your hair. Red is usually not an appropriate color for olive skin tones, but it is ideal for a face that is very light or slightly pinkish. When we discuss hair coloring, keep in mind that dark hair can make an already light complexion look very pale. Ash brown hair against pearly tones has a way to make yellowish faces appear colorless and gray. In contrast, pearl shades can look lively with fine gold or reddish stripes or on people with a reddish face. In terms of Schwarzkopf color options, there's everything from the color 2.0 Soft Black, so make sure you check out our full range. To begin with, arrange all the hair coloring elements within easy reach and don't forget the timer! A good idea is to wear an old t-shirt to protect the skin, but the towel around your neck is also good. Put the gloves on with a coloring treatment when you start dyeing your hair. Don't forget that if you leave the dye in your hair too short or long, it can turn a different color than you expected! This is especially important when going blonde, so look how to bleach your hair the right way. When learning how to dye your own hair, always perform an allergy test 48 hours before using any hair color. How to You'll find this dough on the insertion of the package along with the coloring instructions. Apply the color according to the instructions. Be sure to check whether the color should be applied to dry or wet wet One of the best tips for dyeing hair to be aware of: Residual paint from previous dyes can result in resulting hair color to look a little different from the advertised color on the packaging. The results of coloring can be quite surprising if you have colored hair using hens or are changing from biological to artificial hair dye for the first time. Use shampoos and conditioners designed for hair that have been dyed so that your hair color keeps its shine and stays healthy. You can apply serum to hair conditioning once a week to help the color stay strong. Even if you only intend to touch the hairline or start dyeing the roots, make sure there is no color of the ground on the clothes you wear on a regular basis. Old towels are perhaps the best with which to protect your skin when doing hair color. Also, use Vaseline on top of the forehead, ears and neck to protect the skin. Always read the instructions in the package before using a new or unfamiliar product. Experience Palette Intensive Color Cream with a caring triple care system.
