Ways of the world 3rd edition pdf

About A Truly Global Story with a built-in reader helping students see the big picture Ways of the World is one of the most successful and innovative textbooks in world history. This 2-in-1 textbook and reader contains a short-for-design story that is truly global and focuses on important historical trends, themes and developments in world history. Authors Robert W. Strayer, a pioneer in the world history movement with years of classroom experience, along with new co-author Eric W. Nelson, a popular and skilled teacher, offer a thoughtful and insightful synthesis that helps students see the big picture while teaching students to consider the evidence the way historians do. The third edition rolls out with Bedford/St. Martin's digital tools, including LearningCurve, an adaptive quizzing engine that garners over 90% student satisfaction, and LaunchPad, the interactive e-book and course space that has a user-friendly, high-quality assessment at your fingertips. LaunchPad is easy to integrate into your campus LMS and strengthens students' understanding of the text and helps them progress toward learning outcomes. It's the best content that's merged with the best technology. Ways of the World is available in a number of affordable print and digital editions, including an edition without sources. Digital options Get the e-book, do assignments, do quizzes, prepare for exams and more, to help you achieve success in the classroom. More information Authors Robert W. Strayer (Ph.D., University of Wisconsin) brings extensive experience in world history to writing Ways of the World. His teaching career began in Ethiopia, where he taught world history for two years as part of the Peace Corps. At university level, he taught African, Soviet and world history at the State University of New York College in Brockport, where he received Chancellor's Awards for Excellence in Teaching and for Excellence in Scholarship. In 1998, he was a visiting professor of World and Soviet history at the University of Canterbury in Christchurch, New Zealand. Since moving to California in 2002, he has taught world history at the University of California, Santa Cruz; California State University, Monterey Bay; and Cabrillo College. He is a longtime member of the World History Association and served on the Executive Committee. He has also participated in several AP® World History meetings, including two years as a reader. His publications include Kenya: Focus on Nationalism, The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa, The Making of the Modern World, Why Did the Soviet Union Collapse?, and The Communist Experiment. Eric W. Nelson (Oxford University) is professor of history at Missouri State University. He is an experienced teacher who has won a number of awards, including the Governor's Award for Teaching Excellence in 2011 and the CASE CASE Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Professor of the Year Award for Missouri in 2012. He is currently Faculty Fellow for Engaged Learning and is developing new ways to integrate in-class and online educational environments. His publications include Iconoclasm's Legacy: Religious War and the Relic Landscape of Tours, Blois and Vendôme, and The Jesuits and the Monarchy: Catholic Reform and Political Authority in France.
