The essays focus on critical analysis of the literature presented and can be exponential, analytical or argumentative. The exam lasts 3 hours. It consists of three free answer essays and 55 multiple choice questions. The free answer section makes up 55% of your score. You will be given two hours to complete three free reaction essays. The first corresponds to this poem. The second relates to an excerpt of prose fiction or drama. The third is focused on the literary work of your choice, which comes from a designated category. Why is the AP® english literary-free response important? Scoring guidelines for the AP® English literary exam show that essays are assigned classes 1 to 9. 9 is the best score possible. All your grades are multiplied by 3.0556. This weighted score will be added to your multiple-choice totals, and the amount will be your score. Overall scores ranging from 114 to 150 are required for 5 CP® English literature. If you score a perfect 68 multiple choice parts, you would need three solid 5's in your essays to earn 5, in your overall exam. Since it is unlikely that anyone will achieve the perfect multiple choice score, you should aim higher for free answer to questions. A reasonable goal to strive for would be to earn 7's in your essays. This would allow you to earn 5 of your overall score by answering 40 MCQs correctly. What content is included in the © of the free response to English literature? For the AP® English Literature Free-response section you must write three essays. They can be argumentative, analytical or exponential, depending on the instructions. This section provides how to read and different literary works, as well as your ability to communicate your ideas with a stylized, unified response. Test questions and issues change every year, but the structure remains the same. There will be one poem, one paragraph of prose fiction (or drama), and one work that you choose in a given category. Any fictional work involves the question that you must answer in your essay. These range from a specific interpretation of a given line or literary device used to a general understanding of a writer's purpose, subject or style. The literature represented can last from 18 to 20 September. Poets such as John Keats, Walt Whitman and Gwendolyn Brooks are possible examples. In drama, you can see the likes of Samuel Beckett, Sophocles or Tennessee Williams. And in expository prose, you'll find authors like Gloria Anzaldua, George Orwell or Edward Said.Return to the Table of ContentsHow to prepare for AP® English Literature Free-ResponsePrepared by Nick Youngson CC BY-SA 3.0 Alpha Stock ImagesManaging Your Time, as AP® exams grow closer, is essential if you want a perfect score.
