This cheat sheet will help you remember useful Linux commands, whether you are new to Linux or could just use a refresher image. You can only use keyboard shortcuts to get that far. If you really want to harness... Read more Scam Sheet organizes a ton of commands into 13 categories, so you can see at a glance how system information is called, packages are installed, and files are manipulated. It's available in LinOxide format as a PDF, and there's also a more detailed reference guide, but here's an image that you can just right-click to save:Linux users may find that some commands aren't on this sheet like sudo and man, so for a more in-depth list of commands, go to this list of Github. LinOxide's download sheet is still a handy reference to your side when you start the cheat sheet of Linux.Linux commands in black and white | LinOxideG/O Media can get $10 for your first coffee bag You're just a regular person. You go to work, you pay your taxes, you steal someone's HBOGo password to watch Game of Thrones (and then you feel irate when it doesn't work). But you have a secret. Something that means something to you. Something that separates you from almost everyone you know. What didn't happen in costco's parking lot was that once in high school you don't have a driver's license. But in fact, not driving is becoming more and more common (15.3 percent of Americans between the age of 18 and 39 now come without a driver's license). Yet many people who drive judge us for no good reason. Whether you've tried to drive and realized it wasn't you, or just grew up in a big city, and I never bothered Here are some things that only we humans who save air understand: When you tell people that drive, this is how they reacted todespite's aforementioned ascent of non-drivers, many people still consider the basics of your life riddle wrapped in a mystery wrapped in a bus schedule. How do you get to work? Don't you have a driver's license because you can't get a driver's license? Clouds of smoke from their ears, and like small, over-hot robots, they struggle to understand your world. But yOU knows that you have very good reasons not to drive because you are lucky enough to live in a public transport hub. Maybe a car accident traumatized you during the driver's time, didn't you ever get it together? Either way, an open road is better without you. You know how to move nicely, thank you for how much you're a motorcyclist, skateboarder or that jerk who always knocks people down on the sidewalk on your Razor scooter. No matter which store you've chosen to use, you're good at using it to get to where you need to go. You're used to upset reactions when you use your passport as a henko in BARSNO, I didn't think I needed a passport to drink in an Irish bar; This is my only personal investigation. Yes, that joke was very funny and I've never heard it before! You're the original king of comedy. DON'T YOU KNOW HOW MUCH A GALLON OF GAS COSTS $4? $15? Both prices sound both too high and too low at the same time! PEOPLE ARE ALWAYS WORRIED THAT YOU'LL NEVER GET TO TRAVEL BECAUSE YOU DON'T DRIVE, but the chances are, you're a better traveler than they are. Amtrak'd and Peter Pan-ed have negotiated subways in several countries where you didn't speak the language because you speak the international language of public transit. IN FACT, PEOPLE SEEM TERRIBLY WORRIED THAT YOU CAN'T DRIVE IN GENERAL.... Was the worried word I was looking for? I think it was disappointed. People are disappointed you can't drive. Everyone - from your mother to the guy behind you at the bakery - has an opinion about what's wrong with your weird, non-driving ass.... What, in a strange way, has been good for your self-feeling, you're just someone who can't drive. Aren't you afraid to be different? YOU'VE CULTIVATED ESSENTIAL ROAD TRIP SKILLS TO COMPENSATE FOR YOUR INABILITY TO TAKE A BIKE that would leave you behind when you're so good at making a mix, packing delicious non-perishable snacks and peeing for seven hours straight? SOMETIMES you pat YOURSELF ON THE BACK about HOW PHYSICALLY FIT WALKING EVERYWHERE HAS MADE YOU another cookie or 40 - you've earned them! YOU KNOW ALL THE PUBLIC TRANSPORT MANY PLEASUREMOTHY A. CLARY / AFP / Getty Images Instead of stressing about the traffic jam, you use your commute to read books, knit scarves, listen to podcasts, rub your genitals clad in your underpants over metro railings - anything! Heaven (and/or tolerance of fellow travellers) is the limit! YOU'll have your 'ASK FOR A RIDE' face with LOCK by the time your friends realize that the lunch day they really agreed to means they'll drive you to a doctor's office three counties away is already far too late. YOU LOVE YOUR DRIVERLESS LIFE, BUT YOU ADMIT THAT CREATING FOR PUBLIC TRANSPORT HAS GIVEN YOU SOME CLOSE CALLSIf you take a bus to another bus on a commuter train, and they all arrive exactly in time, you should almost certainly be able to make your flight, right? YOU NEVER HAVE TO BE A DESIGNATED DRIVER So you only have to stay sober in painful social situations if you want! Admit it, PArt, why don't you drive is that you're completely terrified of it, don't worry, your secret is safe with us. We'll tell everyone you're making a social statement, and you could drive if you feel like it. But at least you don't get as involved in as this Run is so 2013.Pictures: Paramount Pictures; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 TechRadar is supported by its audience.
