Email: crisisactionsa@herogame.com.tw Crisis Action is a free first-person shooter for mobile devices, built with sharp graphics and a variety of gameplay. With over 30 different combat modes and a massive arsenal, Crisis Action is the perfect choice to please every FPS gamer, no matter how professional you are. The highlight of the crisis action is graphic design. The game depicts real scenes from the factory system, warehouse, on empty land and landfills. Character costumes and sound effects are unique selling points with creative ideas. Players are also impressed by a diverse weapon system such as guns that speak of desert eagle, AK47, sniper rifles, heavy guns and light guns. The gameplay of Crisis Action is not much different from other FPS games. However, the most important point is the mission system and fighting style, which makes many players think of the superstar game Counter-Strike. Like Counter-Strike, gamers will take on team building, training and upgrading soldiers. Your soldier must be strong enough to take part in battles to destroy enemy forces. Crisis action players can create a group of up to eight fighters with 11 fighting styles to consider. The game also offers two rating systems, including Global Player Ratings and Clan. Players can learn, communicate and learn from other gamers around the world. Don't forget to complete your daily quests to challenge yourself and win valuable prizes. If you're a fan of the shooting game genre, you don't want to miss the crisis of action. This is one of the most attractive and balanced online FPS games today when it was released only in a short time. But success is surprising. Crisis Action is an online first-person shooter (FPS) in terms of graphics and gameplay. Crisis like a fire. So in anticipation of the official version of the game, experiencing this game is not a terrible choice. This may be more interesting because crisis action also has the look of the top game in The shooter only. They build the game on a 3D platform. Means that only 3D technology can provide a first-person shooter with a quality visual background. In terms of visual effects, Crisis Action has done a good job because they reproduce all the details in impressive effects with a respectable definition thanks to great resolution. Importantly, if a player's smartphone has an HDMI connection when watching on TV, it's hard to tell whether they're playing on a PC or smartphone. In terms of gameplay, Crisis Action is not too different from first-person FPS games on today's mobile platforms. However, the unique and worth mentioning point is that the mission system is combat styled as a super Counter-Strike product. In the game, gamers will take on team creation, training and upgrading their killers to take part in battles to destroy forces on the other side of the front line. Although recently released, Crisis Action has attracted more than ten million daily games and continues to cause fever in the mobile gaming community. The first highlight of this mobile game comes from beautifully designed and detailed graphics that bring the real world. The game easily sympathizes with any of the first entrance. The image in the crisis action is sharp. In addition, Crisis Action impresses gamers with a variety of equipment, including dozens of state-of-the-art weapons. They have designs like the original in a proper life for you to meet. Crisis Action has many attractive game modes from Solo to help new practice gamers to improve their level before the fight. There is also a multiplayer mode with many combat locations. There are several groups to fight up to eight people depending on the ranking. And finally, rank Match mode, where it is for those who want to rank as they win consistently against other gamers. In addition, Crisis Action also has a command system. This is an unusual and special feature in mobile first-person shooters. This allows players to choose a team or build a new team with their friends and fight other teams. One point that Crisis Action is doing very well is the exact reproduction of the gun system in the game. The game has a rich and diverse number of guns such as AK47, M4A1, AK47 Silver, AK47 Dragon, M4A1 Gold and M4A1 Dragon. They build all these guns very detailed and beautiful. In addition to the funny element, the graphics of the game reproduces the feeling of shooting, such as the recoil of the gun, the effect of fire and explosion, as well as the smoke effect. Fire from the barrel of the gun creates a sense of drama and stimulates the extreme feeling of the players. It also gives gamers a quality shooter. In terms of gameplay, the game is not much different from FPS games on mobile and CF mobile in particular. In terms of brand image, Media and attractiveness, Crisis Action is a decent game. However, as mentioned, it was mentioned, Crisis action gaming experience is not a terrible choice for gamers. Players will find familiar feelings such as Double Kill, Triple Kill and Cuadra Kill. And the happiest feeling is the feeling of Hedshot. The game has a lot of combat systems such as teammates, freedom, zombies, solo. The game focuses on developing and investing in PBP to create the most conducive environment for player interaction. You will fight for life in the most comfortable and fun shootout levels. Players will experience different gun fights. The winner will receive more rewards such as money to buy or upgrade weapons or experience to align the characters. Recently, NHN Entertainment Corporation and Critical Force released another version of Critical Ops called Critical Ops: Reloaded. This project was first announced last year by NHN Entertainment Corporation in partnership with Critical Force. Critical Ops: Reloaded will be the new standard for mobile multiplayer shooters, according to the development team. The outcome of each match is not determined by luck. The key to survival and victory are the skills, tactics and teamwork of players and other players. Critical Ops: Reboot won't have upgrades to increase power or make gamers pay to win. They upgrade all the elements from the old version, such as the interface, chat and chat system in the game. The new map and lots of gameplay also change to make players feel like playing Counter-Strike on mobile platforms. There is one thing to note that players take part in the FPS game on a mobile phone that provides an original experience than on the PC. Because if on a PC, use mouse and keyboard control to bring simple and quick operations. However, on a mobile phone, players must get used to moving, aiming and shooting using virtual keys. Thus, the player's processing speed will be reduced. Precision shooting or movement is also difficult for new players. However, once you get used to it, the crisis of action is not inferior to the FPS PC game. Crisis Action APK deserves a replacement in anticipation of an actual bomb called Crisis Fire Mobile to cover.

Registering an account in the game is also simple when the player simply needs to enter the username and password when they first log in. The game is available on Android and iOS operating systems.
