Teefa in trouble 2

CinemAscopeAn announcement was made on teefa at the problem success party celebrating the film's 50-crore mark. A Pakistani film that broke all previous records and has many firsts on its credit is Teefa In Trouble which was released on July 20 last year. Although it came out on a non-holiday and went up against all sorts of personal performances, it performed very well at the local as well as international box office while returning to cinemas for huge public demand after its first run. Ahsan Rahim's directorial debut, Teefa In Trouble marked Ali Zafar's film debut in Pakistan and also introduced Maya Ali to the big screen. The film that is now available on Netflix recently hit the 50-crore mark around the world. To celebrate the occasion, a success party was organised by streaming site Iffix at Café Flo in Karachi on Friday night. Speaking to attendees, singer, songwriter and actor Ali Zafar hinted at a sequel to Teefa In Trouble, when he asked Ahsan Rahim, Let's Do Teefa in Problem 2, to which the director replies, Yes Ali, let's do it. When asked, Ali Zafar confirmed that this was not a hawai fire and that they were indeed planning a follow-up. Ali just couldn't stop himself from sharing this, beamed Ahsan Rahim later. We've discussed a sequel, but now that he's announced it, he'll have to write it down! Ali Zafar remembered how he dreamed of producing an iconic film about his country one day while working in Bollywood. He also talked about releasing the film around election week and on a non-Eid vacation, despite the fact that he was advised by many not to. Although Maya Ali was not present on the occasion of traveling for a fundraiser, the rest of the film's cast and crew, including Ali Zafar's wife and film producer Ayesha Fazli, were present in addition to a few famous names from the industry. Humayun Saeed, Behroze Sabzwari, Nabila, Fizza Ali Meerza, Nabeel Qureshi, Shehzad Sheikh, Faakhir Mehmood, Yasir Nawaz, Deepak Perwani, Sonya Hussyn and the distributor of the film Nadeem Mandviwalla appeared at the event. Congratulating Ali Zafar and his entire Teefa In Trouble team, Humayun Saeed said: I have enjoyed and loved the film very much and have done a great service to the film industry in Pakistan. The film's director, Ahsan Rahim claimed that he never knew that the film would get so much love from the audience and would become the first Non-Holiday Pakistan film to reach the 50-crore mark. Teefa In Trouble was the first local film distributed internationally by Yash Raj Films and the third Pakistani film to create crores at the box office. It also has the highest number of views on YouTube. 1 win.
