Combined with matching state funding and influential fees, more than $800 million in construction projects will be completed by 2024. Some of the oldest schools in the district will be rebuilt, and the rest of the schools will have upgrades and improvements. In addition to the new construction, Evergreen Public Schools are committed to maintaining and improving existing facilities. About $76 million of bonds will go toward capital restoration projects. [3] Recent personnel changes in April 2019, Mike Merlino was appointed superintendent. He was previously the district's chief financial officer. School board members are Victoria Bradford, Rob Perkins, Julie Bocanegra, Ginny Gronwoldt,[4] and Rachel Rogers. [5] References ^ ^ New Elementary. Evergreen Public Schools.
