Services provided include management and field management staff, local security, payroll services, compliance, reporting, automation systems, tenant screening and inspection. Employee services include providing a thorough review and training of trained workers to the day-to-day operations needs of the rental community. Local security includes managing real estate in both Northern and Southern California. Local supervisors regularly visit the property under supervision to oversee administrative tasks and major repairs. Supervisors conduct monthly financial reviews, approve expenditures, and work with field staff to comply with annual budgets. Payroll services manage the wages, taxes, insurance, and salaries of all employees to ensure that labor laws are properly followed. Compliance services ensure that properties comply with rules and regulations for grants. Compliance staff have the necessary certifications to handle lease and rehabilitation projects. Reporting services handle all city, county, state, and federal reporting requirements. Reporting is extensive. Meet the requirements of the redevelopment agency and include a full accounting and compliance certificate status report. Automation systems include specialized software specifically designed for low-income and affordable housing projects that meet national compliance requirements for HUD, LIHTC, USDA-RD, and HOME programs and follow national best practice rules. All rent deposits are electronic and real-time printed receipts do not require slow manual data entry. Tenant audits include criteria for selecting residents who are in legal compliance and have proven effective in minimizing tenant issues. The employee meets with each new tenant to overcome the details of the tenant's liability and moves quickly if the renter causes a lease violation with eviction as needed. The inspection is done annually inside each device for preventive maintenance. The façade of the building and all public areas is regularly inspected. All maintenance orders are processed and tracked electronically.
