

I'm not robot

Continue

Larrys french market beaumont

Get Courb party available deliveries for large ordersTephonic orders are Welcome.Special events: Birthdays, Anniversaries, Rehearsal Dinners, Company/Office Functions, Collecting Classes, Holidays and Private Parties Our Banquet Room Sit 120 People.We can cater for your special events outside the venue, in the restaurant, or you can rent our Banquet Hall for events where you can provide your own food. Catering menu! Book your event now!!! Specialities: Louisiana Crab Lime, Grill crab, Cajun Fried Turkey, Cajun seafood buffet, Etouffee "" &quot; Gumbo&quot;, Fried or Grilled FishMore than just seafood! We also serve steaks, ribs, hamburger, chicken, salad bar and special time for children's menu, will be reopened on June 1 from 11:00 to 14:00. Enjoy delicious coffee and a family-friendly restaurant. Stay for the fun music and dancing. It's always a good moment in Larry's French market! Our prices on the menu are subject to change. We do our best to keep our prices up to date, but sometimes mistakes are made. View delivery time and booking fee. Enter the delivery address3701 Pure Atlantic Rd, Groves, TX 77619Sundaydel- Friday11:00 - 13:45 PMSaturdayClosedCajun Seafood SpecialitiesSrim, catfish, oysters, crabs, crabs, seafood cup, and caitated potatoes. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Fried or roasted sleepy filets covered with langus ket. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Fried or roasted. Served with a choice of 2 sides.1/2 to order 2 items above. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Hand-cut black Angus Ribeye Steak with Surf and TurfServed with grilled shrimp. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Hand-cut Black Angus Ribeye Steaks with a choice of each side. Grilled hamburger Steak Dinner (1/2 lb) Served with a choice of 2 sides. Grilled chicken breast (2 pcs.) Served with a choice of 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Fried shrimp, grilled shrimp, broccoli, stuffed shrimp and shrimp. Fried shrimp and shrimp. Fried brandy and wicker. Stuffed stuffed grilled snaps topped with crab or shrimp. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Stuffed on grilled catfish, topped with crab or shrimp etoufi. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Snapper Pontchartrain Elliott grilled with white cream, lump sauce and grilled shrimp. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Top with delicious crab or shrimp etoufis. It is served with a choice of each 2 sides. Top Top delicious brandy or shrimp etoufi. Grill Red Snapper Fillet with a choice on each side. Top with delicious crab or shrimp etoufis. It's served with a ranch. SpicyServed with cocktail sauce. 1.1. 1 pipette potato with crab or shrimp and garnished with cheese. French fries covered with wicker kezo. Build your own Po Boy Sandwich Your choice of catfish, shrimp, oysters or tails of langoustines. It's served with fries. Your choice of catfish, shrimp, oysters or crab tails (choose 2). It's served with fries. Fried or roasted. Serve with french fries.1/2 lb patty. It's served with fries. Double meat and cheese sandwich2 1/2 pounds. It's served with fries. Fried or roasted. It's served with fries. It is served with fried or grilled grilled with a choice on one side. It is served with fried or grilled grilled with a choice on one side. It is served with fried or grilled grilled with a choice on one side. Cajun specialties served with hot rice. Large orders served with a choice of potato salad or salad. Chicken and smoked sausage GumboKajun specialties served with hot rice. Large orders served with a choice of potato salad or salad. Cajun specialties served with hot rice. Large orders served with a choice of potato salad or salad. Fresh shrimp tails (1 kg) Served with corn, potatoes, melted butter, cocktail sauce and coleslaw. It is served with plain or french fries. It is served with plain or french fries. It is served with plain or french fries. It is served with plain or french fries. It is served with plain or french fries. It is served with plain or french fries. Chocolate mousse with cheesecake bites. Original, strawberry, tortoise and lemon. Chocolate, coconut, walnut and lemon. Lunch dinner live music dance barbecue crabs, fried fish, fried shrimp, grilled fish, fried alligator, frog legs, budin balls, coffee fritits, green beans, corn and potatoes, Brandy Fettuccini, Dirty rice, stewed bubon, pistols, wicker Etouf, shrimp Etouf, red beans and sausage shrimp, and crab gumbo, chicken and sausage gu and white bombol rice. On Saturday, we also have shrimp with boiled. Let me get you!!! Our menu prices are subject to change Without noticeWe do best to maintain our prices at the moment, but sometimes mistakes are made. Reservations can be made for the dance floor and some groups will be charged a fee to cover. It's just for a dance floor. Please see the restaurant for a surcharge. There will be no groups in Larry during the coronavirus crisis. 3701 Pure Atlantic Rd Groves, TX 77619(409) hours - From 1 June - Friday At 2 p.m., the holiday schedule is closed on Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve. We're only going to open a premiere friday after Thanksgiving. Call us to place your order by phone, make a reservation to sit on the dance floor or plan a private party or organized event. 1 by 34Keith Weinschel celebrated after co-winning the crab-eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove their worth, digging into containers filled with 20 pounds of hot steamfish as they skate for the grand prize on a sweat and burner Bayou Classic 25-kilometre ice. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less than 2of34Sout of performances, including the wife of contestant Carla Deruein, cheers as the clock races to the finish line during friday's fish-eating competition at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentSh show MoreShow Less 3of34Keith Weith Weichel, craw Weichel, hangs from her mouth, celebrates after winning the crab eating competition Friday night at the Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove their worth, digging into containers filled with 20 pounds of hot steamfish as they skate for the grand prize on a sweat and burner Bayou Classic 25-kilometre ice. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 4of34Steve Derouen (right) eye competitor Keith Weisel as they dig into their 20-pound containers of steamed crabs during the crab-eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 5of34Keith Weichel (left), crabs piercing his mouth, is greeted by fellow contestants after winning the brandy eating competition on Friday at Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 6of34Tables is pictured during the crab-eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Students have 15 minutes to prove cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow MoreShow Less 7of34 Looks from his tables during the crab eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. Photos taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 12of34Contestants dig into his containers during the crab-eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. Photo Taken on Friday, April 29, 2016, Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 9of34Contestants digs into his containers during the crab-eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less Show Less 10of34Specters watch and record the event during the crab competition, eaten on Friday night at the French market in Grover Larry. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 11of34Spectators watch and record the event during the crab competition, eaten on Friday night at the French market in Grover Larry. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 12of34Contestants to work on a bunch of crabs during the crab eating contest on Friday night at the Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 13of34Steve Derouen sucks the meat during the ravi fish eating contest Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow Less 16of34Diners watch from their tables during the crab eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow Less 18of34Hotel Richard sounds on a horn at the start of the ravi fish eating contest Friday night at Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentPoca less 19of34Contyres filled with brandy await during the ravi fish eating contest Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow LessShow Less 21of34Spectators take photos while watching and enjoying the participants in the brandy contest Friday night at the French market in Groves Larry. The students have 15 minutes to prove that they were with the rabbis. It's worth it to win the grand prize on the classic pot and bayou burner. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow LessShow Less 22of34Diners listen as contestants are pictured during the crab eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 23of34Keith Weichel is congratulated by Steve Deruein as the horn sounds the end of time during the crab eating contest Friday night at the Larry Larry French market in Grove. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow Less 24of34Keith Weichel celebrates as a horn sounds the end of time during the crab-eating competition Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 25of34Steve Derouen completes almost all of the 20-pound crab-eating contests on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 26of34Contestants received medals to participate in the rave eating contest Friday night at the Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 27of34Contestants makes a rush through her crab containers during the crab eating contest on Friday night at Larry's French market in Gruzis. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 28of34Spective to contestants during the crab eating competition on Friday night at the French market in Groves. Students have 15 minutes to prove they are worth the crab consumption to fight for bayou's grand prize. It's Bayou. 25-cilindus sawdust. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 29of34Keith Weichel eggs of fellow contestant Steve Deruein as they near the bottom of their containers during the crab eating contest Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. Photo Taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentSh show MoreShow Less 30of34Empty shells filled a trash can during the race to eat raves Friday night at the Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 31of34Specters watch and record the event during the crab competition, eaten on Friday night at the French market in Grover Larry. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow more Than 32of34Keith Weichel and Derek Atwood roars for the start of the crab eating contest on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow MoreShow Less 33of34Contestants takes his place during the crab eating competition on Friday night at Larry's French market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentShow MoreShow Less 34of34Keith Weichel celebrates with his winning trophy during the brandy eating competition Friday night at Larry's French Market in Groves. Competitors have 15 minutes to prove that cancer consumption is worth fighting for the grand prize of the classic sweat and burner Bayou Classic with a 25-carat treat. A photo taken on Friday, April 29, 2016 Kim Brent/The EnterpriseKim BrentSay more contestants had 15 minutes to prove their cancer oyster to fight for the grand prize at the 25-kilometre Pot Bayou Classic Crawfish Pot and 25-quart, during the crab race on Friday, dining at the French market in Grove.

