We apologize for this inconvenience. Your IP address is automatically blocked from accessing the Project Gutenberg website, www.gutenberg.org. This is because the GeoIP database shows that your address is in the country of Germany. Diagnostic information: germany.shtml Blocked at your IP address: 176.9.137.118 Referrer URL (if available): Browser: Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/41.0.2228.0 Safari/537.36 Date: Sunday, 22-Nov-2020 23:46:21 GMT Why? A German court ordered that access to certain items in the Project Gutenberg collection is blocked from Germany. Project Gutenberg believes the court has no jurisdiction over the case, but will abide by it until the issue is resolved. For more information about the German court case, and the reason for all of Germany blocking an item instead, visit pplaf's information page about the German lawsuit. For more information about the legal advice Project Gutenberg has received concerning international issues, pplaf's international copyright guidance for Project Gutenberg visit this page in German Automatic Translation (via Google Translate): how can I unblock translate.google.com? All IP addresses in Germany are blocked. The block will remain in force until legal guidance changes. Use maxmind geoip demo to verify the status of your IP address if your IP address lookup is incorrect. Project Gutenberg updates its listing of approximately monthly IP addresses. Sometimes, the website blocks from the previous visitor wrong. Because blocks are applied momentarily, you should try to go later if Maxmind shows your address as being outside Germany. If your IP address is shown to be outside Germany by Maxmind and you were momentarily blocked, another issue is that some web browsers incorrectly block the cache. Trying a different web browser can help. Or, clearing the history of your visits to the site. I have other questions or need to report an error please email the diagnostic information above for @pplaf.org and we will try to help. Software we sometimes use flags false positives – that is, blocks that shouldn't have been. Apologies if this happened, because human users outside Germany who are using eBooks or other site features should almost never be blocked. Most recent update: January 28, 2020. Want more? Jung graduated in 1900 and married in 1903. His wife Emma Raushenbach came from one of Switzerland's wealthiest families. Jung became interested in psychiatry and worked at a psychiatric clinic in . He published studies in the Word Association that brought him to the attention of Sigmund Freud, with whom he developed a close friendship. Together with Freud, Adler and others, he helped establish the Vienna Psychoanalytical Society and was later named president for the life of the International Psychoanalytical Society. In 1913, he published The Psychology of the Non-Aviation, which differed from Freudian concepts and caused a break in their friendship and cooperation. After the First World War, Jung traveled extensively in lectures on psychoanalysis and eastern philosophy in Africa, America, India and other regions. His interest in Indian religion greatly influenced his later work which became more spiritual and mysterious. During the rise of atheism in Germany in the 1930s, Jung was often accused of being a Nazi sympathizer, serving as president of the International General Medical Society for Psychotherapy, a Nazi-dominated organization. However, he did his best to help Jewish doctors in society and later assisted OSS in analysing Nazi leaders. Many of Jung's publications are Dementia Praecox (1907), The Theory of Psychoanalysis (1915), Instinct and Unconscious (1919), Psychological Types (1921), Psychology and Alchemy (1944), Job Answer (1952) and Mystery Combination (1956). Jung proposed and developed the concepts of introverted and extroverted personality, ideals and collective unconscious. His work has been influential in the study of psychiatry and religion, literature and related fields. An early work by Carl Jung, first published in 1912. This English translation by Beatrice M. Hinkle appeared in 1916 under the full title of Psychology of the Unconscious: the study of changes and symbols of libido, contributing to the history of the development of the idea. The book shows a theoretical divergence between Jung and Freud over the nature of libido, and its publication led to a break in friendship between the two men, both said the second was unable to admit he could possibly be wrong. Last week, about 34,000 people downloaded books from my site – 9 people donated. It may take me 2 to 10 hours to make these books. I want to keep them free, but some support is needed to be able to do so. If you can, please make a small donation using the PayPal or Stripe button below (the average donation is £2.50). You can also support the site by purchasing a collection of mind and body alike, with 80 eBooks for pdf hi downloaded only £4.00! I don't know if I can ask this here. But I want to know whether anyone has any link to a torrent or other place where I can find rust Collected works. Thanks in advance! Page 2 7 comments
