Those with cash claims against the business are advised to obtain a proof of claim by writing to the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware 3, 824 N. Market Street and Wilmington De 19801 to reapply to ... 2 Customer Reviews funded a laser treatment package and paid in full before trying to receive the treatments you've already paid for. I paid $1050 for services I never got while trying to book an appointment for my treatment and I was told I would need to notice the doctors proving that I didn't have a keloid. After getting a doctor's note I tried to make an appointment. They didn't answer their phones until they showed up at their office the next day to suddenly close without warning. I had no idea they had closed and only discovered once I arrived to see the notes on the door. All my attempts to recover my money failed I out $1050 for services that i did not receive. While the CEO filed for bankruptcy due to the withdrawal of an investor, he continued to work at the head of other companies while living his lavish lifestyle through the appearance of these clients that he taut more by closing American laser skincare. They claimed that they would help find places for their clients to receive treatment elsewhere, but in fact they had made no attempt to fulfil that promise. I needed this treatment for a medical issue and i funded it because I don't have much money. I feel like I was blindly robbed and since then the company has bought ALS but it only operates in Washington state and doesn't respect any treatments that were paid before they were purchased. This is not the first time this has happened, and American Laser Skincare Was Originally American Laser Centers, which went bankrupt and later became american laser skincare ... I suspect that someone has benefited from this in all 3 versions of this same work. This should be considered criminal but protected by the company entity. Silly! ... We look forward to offering more ways to serve you with the best job search tools in the world. Most honestly, the team actually scars the scars scared and scared beware!!!!!! I was very happy when I received a phone call from American Laser Centers stating that I had won $300 worth of laser hair removal. I went the next day to ' just to tal†with someone about my gains and this complicity woman told me that if I didn't buy one of the packages there, then, that the offer was going to be void and null. I felt inquisition and unsure of this great financial commitment to seeing how I was still in school, so I wanted to go home to talk more with my mother. She assured me that the procedure was quick, painless and would be worth the investment not having to shave again. I told her that even with the $300 I won I couldn't afford the sum she showed me. As a service, she told me she would give me an extra discount to hit the price to $1000, and she would sign me up for a customer service credit card so she wouldn't have to pay everything in advance. I have discovered that anyone who fills there a name, address and phone number will acat the company pays them to put them to make them look more legitimate. Unfortunately I found all this later and I did not sign the papers but if I had known what was coming, I would have started running away from there. I started going to the treatments and I can immediately say that the staff had no idea what they were doing. It seemed as if the staff would come and come regularly, while the conspirator woman I mentioned was always coming and going from Dunkin' Donuts. Whenever you are in the office, you usually wait anywhere from 10 to 40 minutes for treatment. I had to sit in the waiting room on more than one occasion to listen to her personal and unprofessional phone calls.
