Picture: RCA Records Label There's nothing as uplifting as an inspiring power honeydge when you're feeling bad, or as energizing as a fast-paced dance melody when exercising. And when you can't get out of bed after a soul-crushing breakup, those marks that turn you on so much can come to your rescue. In this way (and many more), the power of pop music has to touch everyone. Such songs dominate the US Hot 100 Billboard chart for a reason - radio is playing them nonstop and a record number of Americans are buying, downloading, or streaming them. From prolific pop icons like Madonna, Britney and Beyoncé to lesser-known artists who top the charts with one or two infectious melodies, these talented artists know how to get hundreds of thousands of people back on their feet. They also have a trick to leaving catchy singles at the end that we all know the words, whether we like it or not. Are you one of those people who always has a pop song on their head? Anyone who is a pre-teen probably remembers the odd slow dance, new tank-tops from the mall, and pop-radio hits shouting throughout every word. Songs from the late '90s and early 2000s may now seem like a distant memory, but back then, many of them were iconic. Looking back at the period, there are some lyrics that you've completely forgotten have so far. Each time and for a while one of these songs will play in a clothing store or radio or ironically on a party playlist, and those words will bring right back to that middle school auditorium. Various genres flourished in the late 90s and early aughts, and both decades had a period of growth for alt-rock, rap and hip-hop and pop music. While some of the more popular songs are not fully reinvented in genres or essays in new ways, they were certainly fun. Whether it's Anna Nalick's soft rock or one of Enrique Inglesias' slow dance staples, you may have forgotten some of these melodies. For better or worse, there's nothing like the present time to re-listen to and remember these words that shaped your teenage years. 1 Too Little, Too Late — Before JoJoLong announced that she would never be reunited with Taylor Swift's ex, JoJo was penning pop break-up hits. Every seventh grader certainly listened to this after leaving a middle school, everyone now knows that cafeteria or group dates mean sitting together in movies. Things were tough back then. Memorable Lyrics: Now I'll say/Your luck has come and gone/And you know/It's too little, too late/A little too long/And I can't wait 2 Just the Girl — Click FiveAtlantic Records on YouTube If you've forgotten, the hero's love for this song is based on 100 proven attitudes. He is, therefore, still aspirational after all these years. Memorable Lyrics: Because it's bittersy /O my feet knock me down / And I can't help myself / I don't want anyone else 3 KapaTime — SemisonicThis doesn't ring a bell in the moment of a hit curiosity, it will come back to you as soon as you play piano notes. From the film opening credits to the background of the 2000s fave television show, it's a tough song to escape from, and even now. Memorable Words: Closing time/Every boy and every girl/Closing time/One last call for alcohol, to finish your whisky or beer/ Closing time/You don't have to go home but you can't stay here/I know I want to take me home. 4 Big Girls Don't Cry — FergieThis, one of Fergie's first post-Black Eyed Peas tracks, was a slow dance fiber. Besides, can we talk about what an absolute festival of nostalgia this video is? Sugars product placement! Milo Ventimiglia's fake tattoos! When was 2006? Unforgettable Words: I'm going to miss you like a kid misses his blanket/But I have to move on/Now it's time to be a big girl/And big girls crying 5 I Gotta Feeling — Black Eyed PeasBlack Eyed PeasVEVO YouTubeSpeaking of Fergie, can black eyed peas forget about this super shot shot? Memorable Lyrics: A feeling, woohoo, tonight will be a good night / Tonight will be a good night / Tonight will be a good night 6 It's Be Me - NSYNC200s may be a time of childhood in which you knew every word for each NSYNC song, depending on which older children's band is fave. While bye bye bye was the best-known part of the band, for true fans, this song was just as important. Memorable Lyrics: Baby, when you finally/Get to love somebody/Guess what/It's going to be me 7 Hand In My Pocket — Alanis MorissetteAlanis Morissette on YouTubeIt's a shame that most Alanis songs are now relegated to background music; It's time to take these off for arching purposes. It's hard to pick the singer's most valuable song, but it's definitely there. Memorable Lyrics: "CLEAR'S THROAT" IN ONE HAND POCKET, OTHER HIGH FeeE-III--VVVVEEBreathe (2:00) — Anna Nalick Accept - this song is still getting emotional in 2017. Nalick's hit ballad is tucked around for a reason, as it brings into a chorus of a few sad stories intertwined and heartfelt. It's a perfect sad pop song. Memorable Words: 'Because we can't jump off the track, we're like cars on cable/And life is like an hourglass, glued to the table/Nobody can find the rewind button, girl/So put your head in your hands and breathe... just breathing / Oh breath, just breathing 9 Hero — Enrique Inglesias EnriqueInglesiasVEVO YouTubeThis song played every dance and other school event I went to middle school and high school. There's been so much weird slow dancing in this song that I don't know if he's going to forget the lyrics, but maybe you forgot too. Unforgettable Words: I can be your hero baby/Kiss the pain/I'll be with you foreverSence Augustana has found out where they're going? The chorus of this song has gone all over the United States, and even after all this time, it's hard to forget this journey. Memorable Lyrics: I'm going to Boston/ I think I was tired/I think I need a new city/11Irreplaceable to put this behind us — Beyoncé While we're all tilting Queen B for her last two albums, which you may have forgotten by masterpieces of all measurements, this radio was a hit from the very beginning. Beyoncé has had many chart-topping songs, but this song has been absolutely everywhere for years Output. Memorable Lyrics: Everything i have in the box to the left / This stuff in the closet, yes / I please touch 12 Hey There Delilah - Plain White T's HollywoodRecordsVEVO YouTubeThe Plain White T's had a real moment with this track and bought it would continue to be their only classic. Despite the fact that the bands wondered about the single hit, this acoustic ballad was such a success, it could be far from completely forgotten. Memorable Lyrics: Hey there Delilah/ What's it like in New York?/I'm a thousand miles away/But girl, you look so beautiful tonight 13 American Boy — Estelle Ft. Kanye WestThis song had so many memorable collabs that it's hard to believe it could have been lost in a decade. John Legend's video has a cameo, and shows a verse drop from the very young Kanye West. This upbeat jam is a lot of fun, and it's definitely worth listening to again. Unforgettable Lyrics: Take me on a trip, i want to go one day/Take me to New York, LA/I really want to kick with you/You'll be my American son These songs were totally classic. Classic.
