Android: Google Play blocks some apps from being installed on your Android device, whether for phone incompatibility or region blocking. APK Downloader Extension bypasses these limitations and is easier than side loading. This extension works with any Android browser. When you're looking at a limited app, open it in a browser on your phone or tablet. Go to the Share menu, select APK Downloader Extension, and click on the Next Screen. That's it, the app will be downloaded to your phone. APK Downloader Extension requires Google Play services to work; if you haven't installed this setup, you'll need to log in using google Framework ID. App settings also have the ability to automatically install everything you download. APK Downloader Extension does not work with paid apps, it will only download free apps. It's easier than a side-download app, and since the app is from the Play Store, you don't have to worry about the security risks associated with third-party APKs.APK Downloader Extension (free) Google Play Store through the XDA Developer Forum More than a million copies of the new iPhone Opera Software browser were downloaded in the first 24 hours of Opera Mini availability, the company's chief executive told Thursday.The browser that differs from the iPhone built-in Safari that it draws compressed pages from Opera's servers to speed up delivery, was approved by Apple for the iPhone and iPod Touch on Monday, three weeks after it was unveiled. We were at the top of the charts every 22 App Stores, said Doug Olav Norem, vice president of Opera Mobile Products, referring to the point earlier this week. Currently Opera Mini is in the No.1 spot on 14 of the 22 charts for free apps, and no lower than No.3 in any. In the U.S., browser No. 2.Norem declined to provide detailed download numbers for each market, but said that the U.S., with a larger base of iPhone users than any other, naturally led the charge. According to Opera on yesterday, Opera claimed that the Mini was downloaded to Apple's mobile devices 1,023,380 times. Opera has smashed the Mini as a faster alternative to Safari on iPhone and iPod Touch, claiming it's up to six times faster than a rendering page, courtesy of intense compression - up to 90% - that's held on data before it's sent to the browser. Norem refused to participate in the version of Mini, specific to the iPad, the new media tablet Apple. It's still up in the air, he said, confirming what other Opera executives have said, even after the company hinted it could make the iPad edition if Apple took the Opera Mini to the iPhone.Opera is giving away the Mini on the iPhone, and relying on revenue from search deals to secure its revenue. Opera has entered into various agreements with several major mobile operators including Apple's exclusive iPhone partner in the U.S. to create custom editions of publications for other smartphones. Opera Mini has the same interface on all devices, Norem said, explaining Opera's development process. It looks exactly the same on other phones as on the iPhone. This work was a huge investment. Controversy over the recent change in Apple's software development kit (SDK) license will not affect Opera, Norem said. This change, which requires iPhone apps to be recorded in Objective-C, C, C or JavaScript, was earlier like Apple's move to ban software written with cross-platform compilers such as those offered by Adobe, Appcelerator, Novell and Unity. We don't think it affects us, or Opera Mini, Norem said. But we'll check with Apple. Many of the tool developers have tried to reassure nervous developers by worrying about whether they will be allowed to continue to build software using cross-platform compilers. We believe that we are not only in the clear, but when it comes to intentions in this language, we think we are in a more favorable position in the future, said Scott Schwarzhoff, vice president of marketing for Appcelerator, whose Titanium tool produces native iPhone applications from JavaScript and HTML. Opera Mini is available for free from the iTunes App Store.Gregg Keizer covers Microsoft, security issues, Apple web browsers and general technology breaking news for Computerworld. Install the app from Google Play and, while the installer takes the form of APK files, you never get the opportunity to download the file directly. Using the APK Downloader extension for Chrome, you can download any APK you need to have you have as a backup. That doesn't mean you can sneak into the store and start downloading all the premium apps and games that you've always had your eyes on. It's not a tool for piracy, but it will allow you to download APK for any free apps. Note: Use APK Downloader against Google's Terms of Service because it includes access to Google Play through means other than through the interface that is provided by Google. You can download a copy of the extension by looking at Code Kiem. You will need to click the right link to the latest version of the extension and select Save the Target as. To install the APK Downloader, click the menu button at the top right of Chrome and select Settings, click Extensions, and then drag the .crx file you downloaded to the extension page - make sure you drag to the center of the page to appear 'Drop to install' drop zone. Click Add and the new icon will appear in the far right part of the address Click on the Options link under the APK Downloader entry on the Extension page and you will be asked to provide your email password password The device's ID. Enter your email address and password associated with your Google Play account. The extension page contains detailed information about why this information is needed. When it comes to your Android Device ID, there are several options available to you. If you're using your phone, bring your kit and call #82555. Scroll down on the data that is displayed and under the JID entry, which shows your email address, you'll find your device ID in a six-family format. We are interested in the 16 characters that appear after Android- If you have a tablet - although you can also do so with your phone - you have to download Id device from Google Play. This gives you the same information. Enter all this information on the Options page for APK Downloader and click Login. Now you can go to Google Play and start viewing the available titles. When you find something you would like to download, open your page and click the APK Downloader icon on the right side of the address strip and save the APK like you would any other download. If you're having trouble downloading APKs, go back and double check that your device ID has been entered correctly - get it wrong and you won't see anything but download bugs. Opera PR tells us that they introduced their Opera Mini browser to iPhone and iPod Touch in the iTunes App Store. If this reads almost pluses, there is a reason for this. We publish it because it's great news, but it smells manufactured. No doubt a ton of apps were presented in the App Store today, and there's no way we could post about all of them, but because of apple's perceived reluctance to endorse a rival browser for Mobile Safari, and opera use that for their own PR purposes, tech sites across the Internet carry the story. So good for opera. As for the app itself, I'm sure I'll appreciate it when roaming internationally or when caught on very slow EDGE connections, because Opera's proxies are probably already the most popular sites pre-cooked and ready for visualization. I won't use it for banking or highly interactive sites though, because proxy browsers are inherently breaking SSL encryption and don't offer real speed increases for non-pre-rendered content. I love the idea of variety and choice in the App Store, however, so hopefully it gets approved and those who want it can have it. (And Apple really needs to add a similar search-for-text-in-page feature to Mobile Safari already). (Note: for Jailbreakers who want a proxy browser but don't want to wait, @antonioj points us to UCWEB, which it says does pretty much the same as opera mini, but is already available on Opera Mini video after the break ... The iPad comes with several useful apps already installed on it, but to make the iPad really yours, you have to personalize it with apps that you regularly use. The iPad App Store is with free and paid apps that you can download on your iPad. Although the instructions in this article are specifically applied to iPad running iOS 11, iOS 12, iPadOS 13 and later, the App Store is available on every iPad model. To run the App Store on iPad, go to your home screen and tap the App Store icon. The App Store opens on a Today screen that features a curated selection of featured and popular apps. The content of the Today screen changes daily. Scroll down to see what apps Apple offers. Typically, this screen has an app of the day, a game of the day, and several collections of related apps. At the bottom of the Today screen (and other App Store screens) are five icons: Today, Games, Apps, Updates and Search. Click one of them to go to this section of the App Store. If you're interested in playing on an iPad, select the Game icon at the bottom of the screen to go to the App Store's gaming section. Scroll through the Games screen to see the best games of the week, games recommended by curators, game categories, a list of the 30 best free games and top 30 paid games, as well as other collections of games. Each game has either a GET button next to it, which indicates that it is a free app (free apps may contain additional in-app purchases) or a price per app. If you see an app that interests you, click on the app to open its information screen. For example, click on Marvel Strike Force to learn more about Marvel Strike Force. On the information page, read the developer's reviews and notes and look at the graphics from the app. This can help you decide whether you want to download it. If you're not interested in the app, go to the top left corner and click Games to get back on the Game screen and search for another app. To download the app, click Get (or the price of a paid game) to open the download screen. The screen describes the app and lists the name of the Apple account. Click Set or Price to start downloading and, in the case of paid apps, issue an account to your Apple account. In most cases, the download time is only a few seconds, but the larger the file, the longer it will take. The app is installed on the iPad. Look for his badge on the home screen. To open the app, tap it. The App Store has more than games. To find other apps in all categories, go to the bottom of the screen and click Apps. The process of selecting and downloading an app from any category is the same as downloading a game app. As on the Games screen, you'll see the best apps of the week, the best-selling apps, free and high-paying apps, editor selection, and other categories. If you know the name of the app you want, maybe because a friend recommended it or you're reading a review in Don't scroll through apps to search for it. Instead, go to the bottom of the screen, click Search, and then enter the app's name in the search box. Click Search again, and the information screen for this app will be displayed. Displayed. it didn't take long to fill the screen with apps. The iPad adds more screens as you download more apps than can fit on the original home screen. To navigate between app screens, swipe left or right on the iPad screen. You can also move apps from one screen to another and create custom folders to block apps.
