History The film comes from a genre called Internet Fiction (4넷 400) (movies, such as My Sassy Girl (엽 적.02녀), Do We Fa So La Ti Do (4레솔4), From Internet Fiction is finished iLioner's first 백만 첫 량), Romans of Their Own (늑 400 400족), but He's Cool (늑 400 400족). This popular internet fiction was later released in the form of a four-part book series, which was later converted into a film. Although many of the scenes were filmed and added to the site, around this time it was a huge hit to create films derived from internet-based story stories and writers. [1] The original Korean title can be literally translated as My Love, Ass, or, rougher than My no manners. Plot After being dumped by a boy shortly before the 100-day anniversary, Ha-Yeong (Ha Ji-won) meets a student named Hyung-Jun (Kim Jaewon) when he kicks a lime, which accidentally punches him in the face and causes his Lexus to scratch. He's asking him to pay him $3,000 on the spot. She ran away from him and accidentally left her wallet. Hyung-Jun stalks her and demands money to pay for her car. Because she's a poor high school student, Hyung-Jun, she writes anass-slave agreement for Ha-Yeong to pay for the damage to his car. Ha-Yeong is thrown into the nightlife of slaves for 100 days, leading to a business, that is, cleaning the house, carrying out shopping and cleaning the car. He accidentally learns that damage to Hyung-Jun's car only costs $10. He then takes revenge on the stun of his car and his reputation. But Hyung-Jun is taking revenge by becoming her new tutor. It brings them closer to each other and they realize they love each other. Hyung-Jun frees Ha-Yeong from slavery, because 100 days are over and he even kisses her as he stands outside the front door of his house. Ha-Yeong's mother sees this and threatens Hyung-Jun to stay away from her daughter's life, and then brings in a new tutor to teach Ha-Yeong. Ha-Yeong tells Hyung-Junu that he wants to marry him, and he says he just did something with her. Hyung-Jun leaves the apartment, making Ha-Yeong more vulnerable. She's having a hard time studying to get into Hyung-June College. After the exams, when she finds out she wasn't selected to go to the same college as Hyung-Jun, her tutor takes her to the spot where she finds Hyung-Jun, who tells her she was chosen to go to his college, but he wanted to surprise her. After a long time, Ha-Yeong drove in to talk to Hyung-Jun about all the chores he didn't do. A high school student shows up who kicks a line that accidentally punches her in the face and causes her to scratch his Lexus. She tells him there's only one way to get out of the compensation payment, to suggest that we're working for them and working on the chores she just talked to Hyung-Jun about. Show Kim Jaewon... Story 5.0 Actor/Actor 7.0 Music 5.0 Rewatch Value 3.0 Well, the movie was beautiful, i have no regrets about watching it. The story and the conspiracy wasn't that big, but it wasn't boring, and that's what matters most. But there were a lot of annoying events during the film. I know the lead actress, but I'm not too familiar with the lead actor; They were good at general, I believe they did a nice job as actors, but I can't say the same about their characters, which were irritating and absurd.
