Here are some of the latest maps Omu. I sourced them from the Neverwinter Unblogged site and the entire article and more map versions can be found here: You can also find links to a whole host of information about Omu. Credit cards will go to Rainer, Cayley, Przemus and silverrrrrr. There is also a mixed Hunt & Treasure Map below More Treasure Maps can be found in the menu tabs above Click on maps to open full size images. By Julia (nitocris83) | Fri 23 Feb 2018 08:00:00 PM PST Hunting returns to the Lost City of Omu! Players can hunt new rare and exotic beasts among and below the city's ruins with expansive nudity. Volo& Geddam has returned to recruit the help of adventurers whose studies may extend their impressive aniar, Volo's Guide to Monsters. Adventurers return to Hunter's Square in Port Nyanzaru where Chultan hunters are offering new lures to trade their hard-earned trophies. Legendary beasts roam freely across and down into a lost city, haunting both locals and outsiders. If you put the lure in the right place you will call the appropriate monster, spoil the fight. There are three categories of wolf, 1-star, 2-star and 3-star. There are six one-star yachts, three two-star yachts and one three-star yacht. Hunts also play a significant challenge for a single player, so it makes sense to search for other adventurers in Hunters Square and form a team before you go hunting. Only one player needs a decoy to invite his goal, but going it alone is not recommended. Omu introduces a new wolf hierarchy that propels hunters towards the ultimate confrontation of the undead towering T-Rex monstrosity, Tyrant! Successfully winning the hunt is a chance to reward the players with the trophy. The 2-star lure requires two trophies for various 1-star hunts, but successfully ending the 2-star hunt is a chance to reward one of the three trophies needed to earn the lure for the 3-star hunt-Tyrant. Players face new beasts like hulking gorillas as well as elite fighters of various races who roam the lost city before they can face tyrant. Winning the hunt for targets awards for Lost Idols and Omuan treasures for all party members, as well as the possibility of either a trophy to the beast or one of the many pieces of rare equipment. Each beast awards a unique selection of items, so the wise adventurer wants to finish all hunts in the Lost City of Omu. Good hunting, adventurers! Mike DiRenzo Content Designer As our new module takes you deep into the hidden depths of the Lost City of Omu, not only will you find the dark dangers and dangers of not saying so, you will reveal many rare and valuable rewards! New Artifact Weapons Store! Having proven himself a survivor and a worthy adventurer, Chultans are more willing to sell their prized weapons on their tour A lost city. There are three new Artifact Gun Sets that are available to buy! At the Zen Store, we have a new Pilgrim gun kit that will benefit you depending on how many enemies you face. A new Pioneer set that will benefit you from how many allies you have can be found in the Chult Campaign Store. The latest weapon kit that you can buy is primal provided by Seal Brave store, which determines the bonus to help you take a noticeable amount of damage. If these weapons are available to you, you are ready for trials that will face Omu! Trials and trials in the depths of Omu will find our latest trial, the cradle of the God of Death. If you can survive a decent trial, there are a lot of rewards for taking them. In addition to seals, gears and refining points, we have a whole new artifact available, Atropal Essence decanter: when used it will infuse you with power and destruction of atrophy. You can also find new artifact equipment for the neck and waist completed with the Atropal Artifact Equipment Set. But that's not all. Cradle through many priceless items that scientists and vendors in Port Nyanzaru will find valuable. Historian Aelena Asterion found in the port port of Port Nyanzaru has heard of Omuan Carvings, which possess great knowledge of the lost city and she is willing to trade these carved testimonies of the brave warriors of Chult. These testimonies will help you unlock your primal gear with hidden powers, exasing them to your greatest potential. Another interest in the cradle is Soulmonger Ampoules. There is a mysterious craft in Port Nyanzaru who is very interested in these ampoules, and he is willing and able to use them to infundize any new Module 13 Chult weapons. He argues that this process increases the weapon's capabilities, making them even better - stronger, powerful, better! Hunting for how Omu opened up, chult hunters make their way to find bigger, more dangerous crops and the benefits they come with. Our new Omu Hunts are a new move and rings for those who risk danger. But rough yachts also carry valuable items; two additional artifact equipment for the neck and waist that fills the Snake and Skull Lord artifact equipment set. However, the biggest wolf Omu bares the biggest perks, including the new Artifact Weapon set, Tyrant kit, which bonus becomes better the longer you stay in battle. By taking it to the Whole New Level With the three new artifact equipment sets available in this module, you may notice something special about them. Not only are all the armor and weapons better chult, so are the artifact equipment! We have many new artifacts planned in the future, and these three new Chult sets are the first to have a higher object. at 455 and ends the Legendary 500 entry level! Omu's waiting for you! There are even more prizes available when you explore Omu, from heroic Encounters to connections and trades you make omu. From new unique magic potions and gears to brightly coloured bases, there's so much to take! With all these rewards waiting to be demanded, we hope you will find Omu land a great opportunity and promise! As part of our extensive preview series Neverwinter's next module, Lost City of Omu, we are exploring new Hunts Omu and added rewards today. The hunts were a great feature in addition to the Tomb of The Annihilation and the system is getting an extension of Omu. Volo is eager to get his hands on brand new creatures, and the adventurer can take away trophies and unique items once again. First and foremost, if this is the first time you've heard about the Hunts, please read our module 12 preview and guides (1 2). I try to make it as beginner friendly as possible, but since you have to be playing through the tomb annihilation to enter the Omu, I assume you're at least somewhat familiar with the feature. Please note that the drop in rates of trophies has been tweaked significantly by module 15.More lost city of Omu! Want all the latest new Lost City of Omu update? Click here for full coverage! The same structure, different mobsHunt structure has not changed in Module 13. Some mobs on the Lost City of Omu adventure zone have the opportunity to re-spawn like rare versions, which then have the option to drop certain Trophy items if killed. Not all mob types feature a rare version, but most do. In Omu That's Bears (Rotting Sun Bear), Thayan (Magebreaker), Yuan-Ti (Mind Whisperer), Undead (Ancient Will-o-Wisp), Greenscale Lizards (Beast Talker?) and Spiders (Red Recluse?). All rare crowds are marked next to their names to make them distinct from the ordinary. Hunts Pyramid (credited with Cayley's)One Trophy for rare mobs and Fang from Razortyrannus Rex, which can also be found roaming Omu, combine Lure first-degree so-called Star Hunts. Star Hunts do not spawn, but must be run in certain locations. Players are opening the Lures campaign and exchanging them at Hunter's Square in Port Nyanzaru. Mod 13 trophies and decoy items are not unique anymore. You can now keep more of the same in your stock or bank, but you can no longer use the email system to store them. One-Star Hunts drop new trophies that can be exchanged for Lures two-star hunts, etc. This pyramid setup finally leads to the capstone hunt module 13, Tyrant. Based on the experience of the River Sošenkandi, it takes a significant grind to even get one decoy for tyrant. Don't mix this heroic encounter with the same name by the way. Benefits from HuntsStar Hunts are mini boss mobs that can require teaming up if you're not endgame directed. They drop campaign currency (and up to 25 Lost Idols that aren't counted toward The Weekly Haul) and have the opportunity to share a unique item level of 480 gear. As you can see the images below are browsing, all items come from a specific set of yachts. So if you like the piece, then you have to farm that hunt over and over again until RNG delivers it. There are a bunch of interesting items that add a percentage of damage to certain powers or certain situations. Mane of Manticore even has the potential to insanely break PVP with any HP-heavy builds that drop frequent dailies. Also, tanks get a complete new line of gear with relevant statistics and procs. I'm pretty sure most classes will find something useful. Not too sure what to do out with some rings though. There are some that are offensive stats, but two defensive slots from +4. It may be something tanky builds that can add some offense if they've maxed out otherwise, but it still seems like a bizarre combination. The new artifact sets in module s13 are also equipped with unique sets of new artifacts. Charm Snake and Skull Lord staff module 12 combine new waist and neck pieces into two different sets. Snake One is offensive and gives up to 5% injury bonus while Skull Lord's Temp HP bonus can be interesting defensive toons. It is also worth noting that Artifact Gear, unlike all other rewards hunts, is unrestricted. Conclusion Not much has changed in the overall way hunting wolves Omu. The function is still a grind mechanic that requires players to pull through multiple layers of RNG. But like Mod 12, it's an alternative source to become a viable gear for particular alternate characters and has a different setup that can actually be fun. Players who chose to skip the feature soshenstar river but do not get additional incentives to explore the Hunts Mod 13. Maybe a smaller map and a grouped mob placement will make it easier to go for rare spawns, but that's still to be seen. It can also work against the feature because more players compete with less space. Maps and locationsLast, but no less important, the community has already mapped all mob and spawn location Hunts Omu. Thanks Rainer, Cayley, Przemus and silverrrrrrr resources! This is our preview of Omu's yachts, which are waiting for adventurers in Module 13. Do you like that devs continued function? Are you going for some gear?
