Softball.com – Softball Store – Shop Now The Amateur Softball Association sets the rules for fast softball in the United States. These rules ensure consistency from team to team and in all leagues, ensuring that the game is fair and consistent wherever it is played. These rules apply to the size and makeup of groups, the equipment used, the playing fields, and the game. Players and field positions at Softball Spitch total nine. Right fielder, center fielder and left fielder cover the outfield. The infield is covered by the catcher, pitcher, shortstop and three basemen. One baseman each covers the first three bases and the catcher covers home base. In some leagues, a 10th player can be added to the roster as the designated hitter, replacing the pitcher with a bat. The regulation bat equipment and uniform for fastpitch softball has a maximum length of 34 inches and weighs no more than 38 ounces. The ball used is covered with synthetic material or leather, and must be 10 inches, 11 inches or 12 inches in size to comply with the rules. Helmets must cover all heads and both ears, and must be worn constantly by players standing in the batsman's box. Players and the coach on the team are required to wear matching uniforms, but the uniform-specific style and standards are determined by the individual leagues rather than the ASA. The distance between each base is 20 meters, with the pitcher's mound 40 feet from the base of the men's house and 40 feet for women. In the youth leagues, the pitcher's moust is between 10 and 14 meters from home plate. A fence surrounding the playing field, known as the outer fence, is located at a maximum distance of 80 meters from the home plate. You cannot create markup in a field that defines baseline paths and borders from corrosive or abrasive materials. The length of the game seven innings in a fast softball game lasts the amount of time it takes three batters to hit on each team. ASA rules allow more rounds to be played in the event of a draw at the end of the seventh round. In the case of additional rounds, each round will be played in full until a round ends with one group ahead of the other by one or more rounds. Most leagues consider a team a winner if it scores a large number of runs in a particular round. When that happens, the game ends early. The number of runs needed to make that happen is determined by the individual league.
