While thanking the Fortnite bus driver for not bringing any bonuses to the player, many of them asked for the feature to be deployed in the game. See how to thank drivers across all platforms: PC, console, and mobile. How to thank the bus driver in Fortnite Just like in the real world, there is no point getting off the bus and then trying to thank the driver, especially if you fall in the fall. So remember to do this before jumping off the bus: On the computer (PC/Windows or Mac): press B before jumping; On the console (PlayStation 4, Xbox One, Nintendo Switch): Press down before jumping; On a mobile device (iPhone, iPad, or Android): Tap Emote in the upper-right corner of the screen before jumping. After that, your name will appear in the log, in the lower left corner, stating that you are grateful to the bus driver, as well as appearing from all the other players who also did so before jumping. As stated, thanking the driver for the trip does not guarantee any benefit to the player in the match. It's just a feature that the Epic Games community, battle royale developers ask. Why is that? No excuses, basically. The appeal began as a petition created by a young man named Kody Keddie in July 2018 on the change.org website, where he asked, poetically, for the developer to allow the order. Ever since I was a kid, I've always loved jumping off battle buses, but I always felt something was missing. And this is the ability to thank the battle bus driver. He was a very nice person who gave us great service. I think it's time to appreciate his work in real time, do you agree? write Kody in the text of the petition. Some other netizens are packed in jokes and comment writers like I can't sleep at night knowing that bus drivers are forced to drive seven days a week without a single 'thank you'. We need these resources, they said in the petition. As of August 2018 this feature was implemented by Epic Games. Last Updated: September 23, 2020 Do I need an internet connection to play Fortnite?
