Edhesive 4.2 code practice answers

Our solution provides students with high-quality online teaching and on-site teachers to motivate and engage them. Bring complete, best-in-class computer science to school in a way that's efficient, affordable, and easy to learn. Nationally recognized college computer science educators provide the best-in-class teaching. The courses are designed by K-12 teachers for K-12 students, and mapped to the K-12 school year. Our courses are complete, not complementary. Whether the school already has a dedicated computer science teacher or not, Edhesive provides a complete range of tools, services, training and support that work for the unique needs of each school. Students exchange ideas and help their peers – both locally and across the country – on an online forum. The moderated forum also allows them to post questions and get answers from the Edhesive course instructor and assistants. How it works. You're going to give me a teacher. We provide content and support every step of the way. Your teacher doesn't need expertise, but they need to know how to motivate and support students. The online professional development course and forum provide the support and training your teachers need. We provide course materials along with resources for your teacher, which means that no lesson planning or sorting is required. As students progress, teachers help you get questions answered and provide encouragement. Why educators like us: Our unique approach offers schools an accessible and flexible way to improve teaching while ensuring that students receive all the support they need. By providing a professionally crafted curriculum, Edhesive allows schools to offer computer science lessons even if they don't have staff subject experts. Coaches will receive all the tools and services they need to mentor students, including data and analysis to track student progress and additional content resources to customize teaching, as well as professional development and an online forum of coaches. Students meet with coaches in person at least once a week, collaborate with other students from around the country in an online forum, and receive real-time feedback from online content experts. What's included? Get everything you need to offer our course at your school: Our curriculum, which includes instructors, includes both video and text lessons, and includes online assessments for many lessons. No lesson planning is required. Teachers will receive all the tools, services, and training they need, including: data and analytics to track student progress, additional resource content to tailor teaching, online professional development courses, and online teacher forums providing 24/7 support. Students cooperate and communicate with other students from all over the country, as well as with a course instructor and assistants in a moderated online forum that provides real-time feedback. I see tremendous value in this approach. I believe that every online instruction must be guided. Interest? Contact us to find out more.
