Fighter 5e battlemaster

Source: Player's Handbook Combat Superiority When you select this archetype at level 3, you learn the maneuvers that are fueled by special cubes called dice of superiority. Maneuvers. You learn three maneuvers of your choice. Many maneuvers in some way increase the attack. You can only use one attack maneuver. Learn two additional maneuvers of your choice at level 7, 10 and 15. Every time you learn new maneuvers, you can also change one maneuver that you know with a different one. The cube is outnumbered. You have four dice of superiority that are D8s. When you finish a short or long rest, you regain all the dice of the super strength. You get one more supremacy, you die on the 7th and another one on 15. Throwing tactics. Some of your maneuvers demand your goal of making a savings pitch to resist the effects of the maneuver. The savings throw DC is calculated as follows: Maneuver save DC = 8 + your professionalism bonus + your Strength or Dexterity Modifier (your choice) Student Wars At level 3, you gain professionalism with one type of artisan tools of your choice. Know Your Enemy Strategy at 7th level. If you spend at least 1 minute observing or interacting with another creature outside combat, you can learn certain information about its capabilities comparing your own. DM tells you if the creature is your equal, superior, or inferior relative to two of the following features of your choice: Total class level if any Fighter class level, if any Improved Combat Superiority At Level 10, your superiority cube to change to d10s. At level 18, they are changed to d12. You're relentlessly 15th in the world. When you do Dexterity (Stealth) check or initiative roll, you can find one superiority to die and add die on a roll. Bat and Switch (UA: Class Variants 2019) When you are within range 15 meters from an ally's turn, you can use one superiority to die and replace the city with this ally, provided you spend at least 5 feet of movement. This movement does not provoke attacks of opportunity. Die superseded. By the beginning of the next turn, the ally gets a bonus for an equal number twisted. Brace (UA: Class Variants 2019) When the enemy can see moves within 5 feet of you, you can use your reaction to consume one superiority to die and make one weapon attack on that creature. If the attack hits, add the power to die on the impact roll. Commander's Strike When you make an attack on your line, you can give up one of the attacks and use the bonus action to guide one of your followers to attack. When you do this, choose a friendly creature that can see or hear you and pick up one superiority to die. This creature can immediately use its reaction to one attack weapon, adding To die for an attack is a pity roll. Dearming attack When you hit a creature with a weapon attack, one can run out of power to die try to pollute the target, forcing you to drop one thing of your choice that holds it. If you add superiority, you die in attack, and the target has to make a saving pitch. Drops the object you select when saving failed. The object lands at its feet. In a swaying Strike When you hit a creature with an assault weapon, you can run over one superior to die to sway the creature, give your confidantes an opening. If you add superiority, die to the injury of the attack. The next attack roll toward the target by the attacker, which is not an advantage if the attack is made before the start of the next turn. Evasive Footwork When you move, you can find one superiority to die, rolling die and adding numbers that roll on your AC until you stop moving. Feinting Attack Can consume one superiority to die and use the bonus measure on your line for feint, choosing one creature within 5 feet of you as your target. You have the advantage of the next attack on this creature before the end of your turn. If the attack hits, add the power to die on impact. Goading Attack When you hit a creature with a weapon attack, you can find one superiority to die to try to goad the target in attacking you. If you add superiority, you die in attack, and the target has to make a pitch to deal with wisdom. In the case of a failed storage, the target has a deficient position on all attack rolls against targets other than you. If you strike, you add the power to die on impact. Maneuvering attack When you hit a creature with a weapons attack, you can monster one's superiority to die for one of your comrades in a more favorable position. If you add superiority, you die in an attack and choose a friendly creature that can see or hear you. This creature can use its reaction to move up to half its speed without provoking attack opportunities from the target of your attack. A menacing attack When you hit a creature with an assault weapon, monsters can have one superior to die to try to scare the target. If you add superiority, you die in attack, and the target has to make a pitch to deal with wisdom. At the failed rescue, you're afraid to finish the next turn. Parry When another creature injures you with a melee attack, you can use your reaction and use one superiority to die to reduce the damage to the number you roll to your superiority to die + your Dexterity modifier. Precision attack When you make a weapon attack roll against a creature, you can find one superiority to die to add on the roll. This maneuver can be used before or after the attack roll, but before all the effects of the attack are used. Pushing attack When you hit a creature with a weapon attack, monsters can have one superior die to try to drive the target back. You add the superiority to die on the attack is a damage roll, and if the target is large or smaller, it must make the power saving throw. In a failed rescue, you push a target up to 15 meters away from you. Rally On your turn, you can use a bonus act and spend one's superiority to die in order to better the determination of one of your followers. When you do this, choose a friendly creature that can see or hear you. This creature acquires temporary hit points that are equal to the superiority of die roll + your Charisma modifier. Strike Containment (UA: Class Variants 2019) Immediately after you hit a creature with a melee weapon attack on your turn, you can use one superiority to die and use a bonus measure to grapple the target (see Chapter 9 in the Player's Guide to The Rules on Grappling). Add superiority to the Athletics. The target is also restrained, who in this way riposte When being misses you with a melee attack, you can use your reaction and consume one superiority to die in order to make melee weapons attack on the creature. If you strike, you add the power to die on impact. Silver Tongue (UA: Class Variants 2019) When you do a check of charisma (Deceiving) or charisma (Belief), you can locate one's superiority to die, and add superiority to die to the verification of ability. Snipe (UA: Class Variants 2019) As a bonus measure, you can locate one's superiority to die and make a range of assault weapons. You can draw a weapon thrown as part of this attack. If you strike, add the power to die on impact. Stodious Eye (UA: Class Variants 2019) When you pass a wisdom check (Insight) or intelligence check (Investigation), you can locate one's superiority to die, and add superiority to die to the verification of ability. Sweeping attack When you hit a creature with a melee weapon attack, you can run over one superior to die to try to injure another creature with the same attack. Select another creature within 15 meters of the original target and at your fingertips. If the original attack had hit another creature, it takes damage equal to the number it rolls on its superiority to die. The damage is the same type caused by the original attack. Trip Attack When you hit a creature with an assault weapon, monsters can have one superiority to die to try to bring down the target. You add the superiority to die on the attack is a damage roll, and if the target is large or smaller, it must make the power saving throw. You're knocking down a target in a failed storage. dnd 5e combat commander female noble aristocrat bard blue dress pathfinder 2E PFRPG DND D amp D 3.
