Have fun with this interior design app on your Android phone. Thought Pinterest revolutionized cosmetic repair? You need to check out the new wave of interior apps. Since news H'M Home has launched its first ever virtual personal styling system, there has never been more evidence that in today's digital world, you don't need a team of designers to create a stylish space. Here are the ones to download now... Think of Hutch as a virtual dressing room for your home - explore the decor and furniture of a range of chic interior brands and 3D technologies to see how they come together in your space, trial different styles and combinations until you've created your dream look. Sadly, as the app is still in its early days, the purchase feature is only available in the US - but it is still incredibly useful for getting ideas (just read all five star reviews from UK users). New products are added daily, so you'll never miss the inspiration. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play our favorite app to view how a work of art will look on the wall - whether it's to ensure you buy the right prints and frames, or avoid nail holes in the wrong place on the walls. It's quick and easy to use, too: just import images of your art, take pictures of the wall and start decorating. The app automatically scales the work of art on the wall of space - which means there is no faffing about measuring tape -- and if you're not near the wall? No problem. You can choose one of the provided designer interiors. For iOS, FREE from the App Store Another augmented reality app, it allows almost practically IKEA products in your space. It includes 3D and true models of everything from sofas and armchairs to footrests and coffee tables, giving you an accurate impression of the size of the furniture, design and functionality in your home. Did you find the perfect fit? It also makes ordering your chosen products even easier. Currently, the app works best in empty space (as you can't place furniture for pieces currently in your home), but IKEA promises extra functionality is on the way soon. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play H'M Home has teamed up with Google to launch an advanced new voice app for Google Assistant that delivers personal style suggestions, mood boards and inspiration for every room in the house - all readily available when you ask a Google assistant to talk to H'M Home Stylist on your phone. To make this experience even more personal, the app has an exclusive human voice and has been tested and developed with the participation of the company's customers. For Google Assistant Topping the New York Times list of the best home improvement apps and hailed by The Washington Post as the only best source of interior inspiration, Houzz can help with everything from construction and renovation to decoration. Browse over 16 million photos of the interiors and exteriors of the house, room or location, and use the Visual Match option to see your own home in 3D and virtually see how different objects and decor styles will look in your space. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play this award-winning app lets you mix and test color palettes to see how they will work in your home. You can cross-reference colors, discover perfect color harmonies and even extract shades from your phone's camera and images - perfect for those who want to upgrade the colors of the walls, furniture and soft furniture. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play Forget Drawing, this super great app allows you to create a professional plan for your home in seconds using your smartphone or tablet. Just take a walk around your house and let the app do the hard work for you - a great tool for those struggling to imagine where the furniture will fit in, along with those who are undertaking remodeling jobs. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play Lee you have frames to hang, shelves put up or furniture for positions you need iHandy level. This level in the app uses smart sensors to accurately check how flat the surfaces are in your home. It's easy to install, easy to use and, while lacking other features, just does what it says on - with consistently good results. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play Want to see how interior ideas will look in your home before you commit? Homestyler will help you visualize them. Just take a take Photo your space to turn your smartphone into a virtual 3D fitting room - try wall colors, furniture and decor items (such as carpets, paintings, mirrors and more) from real brands, and get interior design tips from 100k strong community users. For iOS and Android; FREE from the App Store and Google Play Whether you are in the middle of updating your home or just love interior design as a creative hobby, this is the fun app for you. By allowing you to create your DIY designs on templates or photos from your own camera roll, it allows you to turn the concept of your dream design into augmented reality - think about placing furniture, budget planning and choosing the right lighting. Also, if you're stuck with ideas or fancy some reviews, there's also a great online community where users can share their projects and mood board portfolios - including quite a few professional interior designers and decorators. For iOS, FREE from the App Store Using augmented reality technology, this app will help you visualize how Dulux paint colors will look on the walls through the screen of your phone or tablet. You can also match the colors of the paint with the existing furniture and objects in the world around you or discover the coordinating colors to go with them. And the best bit? This allows you to order paint testers right to your door, right from the app. A word of warning, not everyone gets on with this one (not all devices, even recent ones, have the right motion sensing technology needed for the app to work well) - but still the best paint color test app by far. For iOS and Android, FREE from the App Store and Google Play praised Architectural Digest as very useful, this handy app is one of the easiest ways to measure your space. It's both useful for creating plans to submit to a contractor, or just to design if the furniture will fit. Don't expect bells and whistles - this cleverly designed app has just the right number of features to get the job done. We love the fact it superimposes measurements on real photos of your space (which can be easily exported to PDF or JPG in various resolutions or saved for your camera roll) - very handy for those struggling to get a feel for how things will look in real life from a floor plan. For iOS and Android, 6.99 pounds from the App Store and 2.99 pounds from Google Play course, it wouldn't be an interior overtaking app without our Pinterest trust - even more addictive now we can access it at any time. Updated every two weeks, the app is a seriously polished experience, and the one we prefer is the desktop version. S, in sense, billions of ideas to explore, you'll never run out of interior inspiration (just try to resist the urge not to repair every time you see another dream-worthy photo).
