She's Amy's sister-in-law. Info Young Sheldon Missy is a main character in Young Sheldon. She is portrayed as a sarcastic, tired 9-year-old who fights Sheldon for the attention of his parents. Sheldon gets all the attention because of his intelligence and for starting high school at such an early age. This brings Georgie and her closer, either helping each other with homework, or doing favors. Missy is often disrespectful and contemptuous of Sheldon, wishing him to disappear and even showing signs of optimism when his parents considered divorcing, hoping she could stay away from Sheldon and part ways with her mother (she was annoyed when Sheldon also wanted to be with Mary). She liked to see Sheldon have bad luck and be lonely at school, although she always ends up on his side. She and Sheldon shared a room. In Potato Salad, and Dad's Whiskey, she managed to get a splinter off Sheldon's finger using toy tweezers, though she only did it to make Sheldon stop complaining instead of changing her mind. However, she is shown to have a high IQ and comforts her brother many times when she sees that he is feeling down. He does the same for her. Despite being closer to her older brother Georgie, she prioritizes family and helps Sheldon win the student body president debate. Later, she finds an interest in baseball, which she only learned at first to impress a boy for whom she had a fall, but discovers that she has a real talent in him. Missy is incredibly dushering, as when the other kids in baseball give her problems, but she handles it very effectively. Because your mother seems to show more than Interest in Sheldon's well-being, she binds to her father, who often takes to baseball practice and shares her personality, cheering her along with her grandmother as she beats a boy who mocked her in baseball. Unlike Sheldon, Missy showed little or no interest or aptitude in school work, especially mathematics, because she found it challenging. She watched TV all the time at home, such as ALF, DuckTales and Looney Tunes, ignoring her homework. The fact that she chose not to prioritize the study could predict that she would finally have to work as a fuddruckers hostto live while her two brothers reached the upper middle class as a physicist (Sheldon) and tire entrepreneur (George Jr.). Missy has a sweet tooth for candy. Her parents spoiled her daily by buying her sweets and letting Missy watch TV all day. She is incredibly smart as her siblings when she wants to make her way though. The methods she uses often provide comic relief. The Big Bang Theory Missy first appeared in The Porkchop Indeterminacy (S01E15). When Leonard, Howard and Raj discover that Sheldon has a sister and that she is very attractive, they fall on each other trying to get their attention. Raj is inspired to start taking an experimental drug to overcome his pathological shyness. Missy's convinced to be with Sheldon and Leonard. Sheldon does everything in his power to ignore and avoid talking to Missy, failing to do anything about her being chased and uncomfortable by her colleagues. Missy used to win fights by kicking Sheldon in the groin. When Sheldon says he will decide who Missy goes out with, she asks to speak to him privately. Sheldon reveals to Missy that she has the potential to produce a second Sheldon, even a second Sheldon who is, taller, smarter, and less prone to twill, a Sheldon 2.0 if you want). Missy tells him that she is fine with him acting like a brother who cares about her, but if he tries to tell her who to sleep with, they will go around like when they were kids. This flies over Sheldon's head and he suggests that Missy give his eggs and store them cryogenically until he finds the right sperm donor to fertilize them before implanting them into his body. By this act, he suggests, everyone wins. Missy then begins painfully squeezing her brother's testicles until he withdraws the statements. Missy finds another ally with Penny, who has become slightly immune to the quartet's nerdy, as well as helping Missy get rid of them and let Missy out in her apartment. Leonard, Howard and Raj knock on Penny's door to ask Missy out, but they fail in the end. When Raj goes to ask her out, she says she was waiting for him to show up and calls it a cute pie, but the medication begins to pass so that he can not talk to her and, looking sad. Before leaving, Missy tells Sheldon that she is proud and reveals that she brags to her friends about her brother the rocket scientist, which encourages him to correct her that he is a theoretical physicist, observing the difference. After she leaves, Sheldon mutters back to his apartment saying that being a rocket scientist is beneath him. Sheldon mentions it in The Jiminy Conjecture (S3E02), when Howard, Sheldon, and Raj are trying to capture Toby/Jiminy and clearly hear cricket squealing down the building pit. As tensions escalate, Howard threatens Sheldon with: Don't push me, Sheldon. I may be small, but I took Kung Fu when I was 13, and I remember a good part of it, sheldon replies with: Oh, really? Well, I grew up with an older brother and a very controversial twin sister and I believe I could easily overcome it in any physical confrontation, be it noogies, swirls, or the classic 'Why are you hitting yourself?' Sheldon's family pedigree, pictured briefly in The Cruciferous Plant Amplification (S4E02), shows an older brother as well as his twin sister. In The Cooper Extraction (S07E11), Missy is about to give birth to a baby in Texas. Since her husband is recovering from a terrible motorcycle accident, Sheldon has to come back to take care of her. She does not appear on screen in this episode, just a scream as she gives birth is all that is heard from Missy. In The Implementation of Fortification (S8E20), Sheldon tells Amy that his brother and sister built forts in the living room and wouldn't let Sheldon in, which he hated so much. In Maternal Combustion (S8E23), Sheldon tells Leonard's mother, Beverly, that his brother and sister are. In The Matrimonial Moment (S9E01), Mary Cooper mentions that as Missy is married and her brother is dating a prostitute, she wants Sheldon to keep her grandmother's ring, which she gave Sheldon to Amy. In The Meemaw Materialization (S9E14), Sheldon reveals that he has an iPhone for Meemaw Constance as a Christmas present, but she is not fully aware of it. He had Missy slide it into Meemaw's luggage when she flew from Texas so Sheldon could keep track of his location. In The Celebration Experimentation (S9E17), Sheldon says that Missy and her friends used to torture him on his birthday and on the 6th, tricked him into believing batman was coming. This led Sheldon to hate his birthday and therefore kept it a secret until The Acceleration of Intimacy. In The Realignment of the Brothers, according to George, after her father died, her mother was a mess and Missy didn't help because she was just a teenager. In The Asymmetry of Bow Tie, Missy attends her twin brother's wedding appearing physically for the first time in ten years. She's pregnant and separated from her husband. She is happy with the But I'm not happy with the baby. Amy tells her how happy she is to finally have a sister. In Constant Change, she texted Sheldon and Amy for winning the Nobel Prize in Physics. In Stockholm Syndrome, in Sheldon's speech, he thanked the family for all the support that included Missy. Trivia of the family She calls Sheldon by the nickname Shelly, as well as his mother. When they were children, Sheldon turned his Easy-Bake Oven into an oven for baking ceramic semiconductor substrates for home-made integrated circuits to make a robot to defend his room from it. This seems to create a continuity error, as Young Sheldon currently shows that Sheldon and Missy shared a room. (There is the possibility that Sheldon may have his own room in a future episode, which would correct this mistake, or Sheldon considers his half of his shared room a separate Room of Missy) Despite their differences, Missy is very proud of Sheldon and his accomplishments, and tells people that Sheldon is a rocket scientist, that he felt deeply offended because he is a theoretical physicist, who he sees as much more prestigious and tells her that she might as well tell people that he is a toll collector on the Golden Gate Bridge. When Leonard offered Missy to stay with them, she reveals that Sheldon dislikes company and he used to send his imaginary friends home at the end of the day when he was a child: he denies it, saying they were imaginary colleagues. Once she had a dog that made strange noises, which she had later put down. It is revealed in Pilot that she is a hostess at Fuddruckers when Sheldon is expressing concern about committing genetic fraud over sperm donation in a high IQ sperm bank (I have a sister who has the same basic mix of DNA that hostesses in Fuddruckers.) In the episode Summer Sausage, Pocket Poncho, and Tony Danza of Young Sheldon, it was revealed that her full first name is Melissa, Missy being a nickname. Her mother considers her as soup in The Luminous Fish Effect: although she's probably not as smart as her brother, she looks witty, presentable and funny. Although Sheldon also mentioned in The Cooper Extraction, Missy took six years to graduate from high school, implying that her mother's comment about her intelligence is not entirely inaccurate. Missy graduated from high school when she was 19 or 20. This would be the year 2000 or 2001. Missy is the least successful of her three siblings, with Georgie being a self-made millionaire and Sheldon a Nobel Prize-winning scientist, while she is a divorced mother of two working as a restaurant hostess. However, to be fair, she is the most attractive and socially adept of the trio who is currently the only one with children. In addition that she worked as a waitress for over a decade there's a possible she could have gone forward her life as Penny did, who was also a waitress who became a pharmaceutical sales representative using her good looks and social skills. When she meets the Caltech gang, she tells them she spent nine months with her legs wrapped around Sheldon's head. She made Sheldon do whatever he wanted by pressing his testicles. As an adult, she still does it, but now when she gets mad at him when he suggests some absurd ideas, and if he's acting ridiculously stubborn. Sheldon considers her, with his help in choosing a suitable companion and approved by him, the future mother of a Sheldon 2.0. As he considers himself a superior genetic mutation, and with Missy being his twin sister (though still stock mediocre), his DNA has great potential in producing a new version of his brother, probably even superior to it. She, however, does not see it that way. She recognizes that Mediocre Actions is an insult. She is taller than Leonard, Penny, Raj and Howard, like her brother. In one episode, Sheldon mentions that she had a guinea pig named Snowball, who eventually burst into flames when Sheldon put him on a homemade CAT scanner. The name of the husband and son are unknown. It has not yet been confirmed which of the Cooper twins (Missy or Sheldon) is the oldest, and for how long. She finally reappeared at the end of season 11 at Sheldon and Amy's Wedding. This was her first physical appearance by her and her actress Courtney Henggeler in ten years. In the episode The Cooper's Extraction, it is revealed that Missy was married and was having a baby. In The BowTie Asymmetry, it is revealed that she is pregnant with her second child and she and her husband are breaking up. As shown by her sarcastic response to being congratulated with her second child, she is not very happy with her second pregnancy. Raj is delighted to hear Missy's separation from her husband. With him having gained his selective mutism and dating experience, and now with Missy single, there is an indication that a possible romance can begin between them. She showed interest in Raj in season 1. In A Baby Tooth and the Egyptian God of Knowledge, it is claimed that Missy ended up having a total of four children. Missy had the biggest break between physical appearances on the show with a ten-year difference for fictional characters. Ramona Nowitzki was second with a nine-year difference between appearances. Leslie Winkle has a six-year difference between appearances. Penny's father, Wyatt, had a five-year difference between appearances. Real-life scientist George Smoot had a ten-year difference between appearances. However, this may be debatable as she was once heard in the season 7 episode The Extraction of Cooper screaming since she was in labor and preparing to give her son, which means she had a 5-year difference between her appearance in in 1 and the season 7 episode and a 4-5 year difference between the season 7 episode and its second physical appearance in the season 11 finale The Bow Tie Asymmetry. There was no appearance or mention of Missy's second child, so whether it's a boy or girl remains a mystery. In A Baby Tooth and the Egyptian God of Knowledge, adult Sheldon mentioned that his sister gave birth four times. This means that in addition to her eldest son and second unborn child, she will have two children after the end of tbbt. The twin sister of the Apparitiongellery, Missy Cooper.
