Georgan Bell recently wrote a major article explaining the difference between real edible glitter powder versus non-toxic glitter powders. It explains in detail what to look for in a truly EDIBLE FDA compliant LUSTER DUST against non-edible LUSTER DUST. So if you are looking for EDIBLE gold powder that meets the FDA, which is still shiny, from a read FULL article directly on the georganne bell website, LilaLoa, titled; Top Ten Best FDA Approved Edible Gold Cookie Powders Decorating Between EDIBLE AND NONSTOCK AND FDA-Approved Ingredients, FDA Compatible With Luster Powder AS IS A NON-TOXIC GOLD POWDER VS GODI COMPATIBLE WITH FDA POWDER OR GLITTERT POWDER? Food product: You can consume it and eat it (as food) Nutritional class: Not recommended consumption and to eat (as edible) Non-toxic: Contains no harmful and / or non-toxic ingredients, but not compatible with FDA (same as inedible) Non-food: It is recommended not to eat a product (the same as non-toxic) To learn more about the different types of glitter "powder", click here  Please note: Not ALL powders and shimmers that claim to be edible and/or food products are really edible and/or food products. Actually, more often than not, they're not. Many rip off brands trim their glamorous and powders with inedible and non-FDA-approved ingredients to make a quick buck. So be very careful and be sure to buy from a trusted brand of the name in confectionery, food, wasteful or baked. If necessary, cheap in price, chances are powder/glitter or the brand from which it comes, do not use FDA compliant ingredients and the product is not edible or consumable. Read FDA Consultant for Edible Vs Non-Toxic Powders of Glitter Shine LUSTER DUST + KOSHER CERTIFIEDDifferent types of food glitters ", Shine-fit Powders Although they are all used for decorating cake, they have different properties and produce different effects.
