Microsoft Office: Word, Excel, PowerPoint y m's 16.0.13328.20190 Microsoft Corporation In recent months, we have given an easy look for our mobile browsers. In the same vein, we have now made a new version of Opera Mini for Android to look and feel just as cool. You can get Opera Mini for Android beta from the Google Play Store. This beta marks the beginning of the transition for Opera Mini for Android. Using Opera for Android as a starting point, we created a lightweight browser that runs on Android 2.3 and above. We need your feedback on what works and what can be improved. We want to make sure you are happy with our product. Features in Opera Mini for Android beta With this beta, you can of course get up to 90% data savings, saving time and money by getting online faster. We've also added the ability to browse privately with private tabs, allowing you to go anywhere on the web without leaving a trace on your device. Here's what else you can expect after downloading Opera Mini for Android beta: Customize the select layout between three different styles for your browser. Go to settings, choose a mock-up of the app and choose between: A phone that maximizes the viewing area; A classic that makes it easier to switch between tabs. See your daily Savings Click Opera logo and get an overview of how much data you used and how much you saved. Sync and share Bookmark bookmarks on the site and don't miss anything when you switch between your favorite sites Click I to the Combined Address and Search Bar to save the page on the Speed Dial Opera Mini launch page, on mobile bookmarks or read it offline. There's a lot more to experience with Opera Mini on Android. So, try the beta version of Opera Mini and let us know what you think.
