New York uses TASC for the HSE (High School Equivalent) test program. The HSE program gives adults who have not finished high school another chance to obtain similar credentials. TASC includes five test fields: language writing, language reading, mathematics, social studies, and Science.The TASC exam is not available online. You must come to a state-approved test site and take TASC in person. The test is done at a level similar to that of seniors in HS upon graduation.
