The splat-reflecting color is hydrogen peroxide-free and has only a yeh function. Because the splat color is free of oxidants, the existing color cannot be lifted and cannot be lifted. If your hair is already in a damaged position and you add a bright color, Splat, you can zoom in on the already existing damage that can occur during the bleaching process. Will one box be enough to color my hair? The amount of product required depends on the length, texture, density and porability of the hair. If you have jaw length or thick hair, you may need a second box. Do I need to brighten or bleach my hair first? Our motto is to make the final result brighter, with a brighter starting point and bolder. If the hair is at a darker scale, you will not see a color that is lighter in shade than the current color. We only deposit our anti-vertical colors and have no lifting power, so if your hair is on a dark scale and you add a dark color (i.e. midnight), it can provide a reflection of gem tones/colors. For the brightest and best results, it is recommended that the hair is medium blonde or light. If you don't want to bleach your hair you can already apply a slaat color directly to your hair without bleaching middle blonde, but if you have dark hair it gives a tone/jewel tone look and is not as bright or vivid as our box. Why isn't the blue in a bottle a mint shake product green? Our Mint Green 10 Wash is most effective for light blondes with pale blonde hair. The blue product turns mint green depending on how blond your hair is.  If the starting color is too dark, the color is not displayed.  How light is your hair after bleaching? Yes, the level of bleaching your hair will affect your results. To get the most vivid colors and achieve the colors displayed in the box, Hair will need to be very light blonde. If you still have a lot of yellow, dark blonde or orange shades after bleaching your hair, the end result will be darker. If the hair has too much orange color, the final color result may change completely. f You have to wait 14 days between applications, you have not yet met your hair goals you can buy another bleaching kit and repeat the process. Our motto is to make the final result brighter, with a brighter starting point and bolder. Do you want more pastel colors than box colors? The splat pastel mixer is perfect for this! You can adjust the level of color depending on the amount of pastel mixer you mix with your color. Splat colors can also be mixed together, so you can combine them to create your own unique shades. Why wear a shower cap over my processed hair and/or apply low heat? Shower caps help maintain body temperature, enabling better color penetration. Applying low heat indirectly during processing time can help. What color is best for un bleached hair? Our Midnight Color Series is manufactured from micro pigments to provide a rich velvet color that looks like brown hair. We recommend medium blondes as a starting level. The darker the head, the less intense the result. If your hair is darker than medium blonde, the color will give you a tone effect that gives you more of a jewel tone. What should I do if I don't want to bleach my hair? No need to worry, you don't have to. It is recommended to apply color to medium blond collars. You can apply color to dark hair, but the results are not bright or thick. The base color is bright and the end result begins with a border. What's the difference between splat original complete kit, midnight and natural? The Splat Original Complete Kit contains bleach and colors, and embodies bold, bright colors. Midnight colors are made from micro pigments to provide velvet-rich colors on a dark scale. This color collection can reach medium blonde hair, and the result will be brighter and brighter if applied over bleached hair. Splat Naturals is a series of colors formulated to provide 95% natural and special additional conditioning properties. What if I don't leave the SPLAT color for the maximum time? For best results, we recommend a variety of processing times per product because we test the product. If you put the SPLAT color shorter on the head, the end result is lighter. How long does the color last? Non-progressive color between 4-6 weeks, gradually fading with all washing. The lifespan of a color depends on how often you wash your hair, and the types of products you use regularly, the texture of your hair, and the porability you use vary. It is recommended to extend the life of the color using sulfate-free products. In some cases, our non-global colors can last more than 4-6 weeks due to their high pigment load. Every personal texture, porous and color history and hair care routine can contribute to color preservation. Bold hair color is a trend here, but figuring out how to make your hair a vibrant shade of turquoise, cobalt or lavender can be overwhelming. An experienced stylist can absolutely help you achieve the hair color of your dreams, but the budget concern is that many people have a network of tried options at home. One of the many options for getting a bold hair color at home is splat dyeing. Almost all color kits come with bleach to brighten hair before coloring, making it a good product for colorists on a serious budget, but it may not be suitable for anyone who wants to use a specific volume developer when brightening their hair. If you were considering buying Splat dyeing salt but don't know where to start, we are providing an overview of Splat's many coloring products, with step-by-step tutorials for using products and other tips and tricks to help give you vibrant colors that last! Splat Hair Dye Color and Review1Splat Red Hair Dye - Beautiful Raspberry Hair Dye Beautiful raspberry is a good choice for women with a medium and dark complexion with cooler undertones, since it is very close to a true red shade. Like many red hair dyes (even permanent ones), this shade has the potential to fade in a while. To keep it true and vibrant red for as long as possible, it is recommended to wash it with a shampoo without sulfates. Unlike blues and purples, beautiful raspberry dye will still come out fairly true to shades on dark blonde or bleached orange hair, making it a great option for anyone worried about the bleaching process or getting a finished look that isn't true in color.2Splat Crimson Obsessive Hair Dye If you're looking for a deeper red shade than Lucis Rasher, Split. This dark color brings you closer to a natural look, but it won't fool anyone who thinks you're born with red hair. Anyone who wants to go red without bleaching first will find that the Crimson Obsession is a better choice to put directly on dark blonde or light brown hair. If your hair is dark brown, expect a deep auburn shade. When the Crimson Obsession disappears, it tends to be a mixture of pink and orange. If that doesn't sound appealing, get ready to refresh the colors every 4-6 weeks.3Splat Midnight Ruby Hair Dye If you're serious about getting vibrant colors without brightening your brown hair, Splat's midnight collection is specially formulated for pre-bleached brown hair. Midnight Ruby is the red product of this collection and is a great way to turn your natural brown locks into a masterpiece of red hair. Up to the name, this color will give you a deep and bright jewel tone that is red in light, while a darker setting will leave you with more auburn shapes. For anyone who is less committed to red long, Midnight Ruby is a great color choice.4Splat Purple Hair Dye - Splat Desire If you're looking for a bold accent color to accentuate your black or dark brown hair, Splat's purple desire is a great compliment shade. The color stamped on the box is a very vivid shade of purple, but you can get more berry colors depending on the light your hair pre-bleaches. Like most purple or red dyes, purple desire can fade very quickly and it certainly helps to wash your hair with cold water less often. If you have bleached your hair in a pale yellow shade before applying purple desire, the fade-out process can take your hair into a stylish pastel shade of bright lavender or pink, giving this non-permanent color a few lifespans as it washes away.5Splat Sturdy lavender hair dye is a much brighter purple shade, lust lavender is a Splat's purple option. Many users find that this dye comes in pinkish-purple, so it's a good choice if you're in shades like fuchsia and magenta. Light or medium brown, und bleached hair looks more on the purple side, but pale yellow bleached hair tends to believe in more pink than the name says. We love this color for fun summer switch-ups or bold new dip dyes or underlights and just want to skip the midnight amethyst hair dye bleach step to go purple with 6Splat shape for any base color? Midnight Amethyst is a bleach-free purple choice from Splatt designed specifically for brunettes. If you have a middle with dark brown hair, prepare a midnight amethyst to make your hair purple with a darker hue. Light brown hair can expect something more vibrant, but finished purple hair is ready to become a pretty dark shade.7Splat jet black hair dye While most splat colors are direct dyes that come with lightning materials, jet black is a powder that means to be mixed with developers then applied to hair. Unlike other splat colors, this is a permanent dye, not a stain, and it sticks for a long time. It's not this product if you're trying color experiments, but anyone who wants to make their dark hair look long-term will appreciate Splat's staying power. One drawback of this black look is that it doesn't come with a deep conditioner like a permanent dye, so you need to use your regular product or buy something separately.8 Pink Splat Hair Dye - Splat Fetish Hair Color Splat's Pink Fetish bleached or already marked with very intense pink on very pale hair If you are looking for peach pink or light pastel shades, this is probably not the pink you are looking for. Some users especially see this color and it seems to fade quickly, meaning that you may be left with a bright pink lock after a few three seconds. If you are trying to stay vibrant, wash as often as possible, do not put a traditional sulfuric acid shampoo on what you do, fresh pink fetish strands.9Splat Emerald Green – Deep Emerald

Hair Dye Splat Deep Emerald Green is not really true green, but green teal or green is more of a shade. If you are after a green turquoise shade (which is now completely trendy) then this is a great product to go for. But if you're looking true, basic green, deep emeralds probably won't get you there. If you're in conflict, try testing a small peekabo section on the layer under your hair. Since splat dye doesn't use developers, it will stay for quite a long time as it's actually stored in an airtight container!10Splat Blue Hair Dye - Splat Envy Hair Color Blue Envy is a vibrant blue hair dye that can get pretty close to true electric blue. But the key to achieving a picturesque cobalt blue shade on the box is to work with bleached hair in a pale blonde shade. If you work with natural blonde base colors or hair bleached in orange, the blue envy dye work will definitely remain green. This is green if you're after a shade of turquoise, and these are great alternatives to the shade of splat hair dye, but it can be frustrating for anyone who doesn't understand the importance of bleaching beforehand.11Splat Aqua Rush Hair Dye Aqua Rush is the lightest and brightest color of the splat, and it's perfectly fashionable with the bright colors of all hair. If you want a picturesque turquoise shade on your aqua rush box, you should bleach your hair in advance. Even bleached hair in a brass yellow or orange shade turns a greener turquoise shade after the aqua rush is applied. If you have natural brown hair and want to go blue without dyeing, don't waste your time with Aqua Rush, as it will have the best minimal results.12Splat Midnight Indigo Hair Dye looking to go blue black without the permanence of most pharmacy box dyes? Midnight Indigo is a bleach-free formula made to go just above brunettes. The light medium brown base color darkens with this product and features a blue tint that looks particularly nice for the light. If you already have dark brown or natural black locks, expect your hair to look. If you're looking for a two-tone hairstyle or a bold new ombre look, Splat's is covered with a new ombre line. Each kit comes with two shades of splat-neutral color and a bleaching kit that pre-brightens your hair. If your hair is very long, you may need multiple box kits of splat ombre, because you don't get tons of each color. The Ocean Ombre Kit comes with a blue crush and turquoise reef for a no-one-inspired hairstyle. These two shades are great for creating subtle mmulti 3D shapes, along with fairly close, but they won't make the dramatic color difference that some DIY color lists are looking for. This saturated color does a decent job of appearing on dark hair, but it can come out looking bleached dark blonde or green on your hair in an orange shade.14Splat Lane Ombre Hair Dye With a color called Violet Storm and Pink Mist, Splat's non-ombre kit looks more inspired by unicorn style than rainy days. Either way, this is a good choice for bleached blondes looking for a very vivid style. If you have dark hair that you don't plan on bleaching, especially pink mist, you may have trouble adhering to your strands.15Splat fire ombre hair dye red ignition and hot embers, splat's fire ombre is a good option for the multidimensional style of the red family. Hot bulgers can come out with a very vivid shade on pre-bleached hair, providing you with a color that is described as the darkest, hottest pink.16 How to apply splat dye at home To apply Splat hair dye at home, follow these steps: include each kit glove, bleach, peroxide with, and splat hair color, meaning you don't have to buy anything else to get started (extra gloves are a bad idea). Before you start, make sure you are wearing old clothes and cover the porous surface. Bleach will brighten most fabrics and splat dyes will stain for everything that comes into contact. To get vivid color results, you need to bleach your hair first. Add the contents of the bleach packet to the oxide bottle, replace the lid and shake vigorously until the contents are thoroughly mixed. Use a funnel so that bleach powder is not wasted, because this can affect how effective it is. Apply bleach to dry hair wherever you want the splat color to appear. Do not thoroughly saturate this area and do not place bleach directly on the skin. Bleach is checked and processed every 10 minutes for color progression. Applying soft heat can help speed up the process, but you should also apply it evenly to evenly develop bleaching. When the hair reaches a pale yellow shade, or after 60 minutes, rinse the bleach from the hair and wash it with a sulfate-free shampoo. Leave in bleach May damage hair. After washing and drying your hair after bleaching, it's time to apply the splat color. Prepare the skin around the hairline and ears with Vaseline, which prevents the skin from absorbing the dye. Wear gloves or let the dye get your hands dirty! Shake the splat bottle thoroughly and apply generously to bleached hair. Do not rub the splat on the scalp, focusing on the head itself. You should keep your splat dyeing on for at least 60 minutes, but stay as long as possible to achieve a more vibrant look. Since the splat is a non-permanent dye (thought to be a stain), leave it for a while and it should not cause any damage to your hair. When ready, rinse hair and condition thoroughly. If you think you need to rinse and shampoo the splat color, take care to use color-safe products because each shampoo will disappear into a vibrant new look. Splat dye is rinsed and rubbed into the fabric, so you need to use an old towel to dry your hair.17 How can you remove splat hair dye from your skin? Splat hair dye is almost all stains, so it is recommended to prevent it from getting into your skin in the first place. Spread Vaseline on gloves, long sleeves, hairline and neck before applying splat on hair. If fresh splat dye is found on the skin, use a damp towel to remove it immediately. For splats with stains on the skin, try one of the ways to remove toothpaste: as well as keeping your teeth clean, baking soda from toothpaste can help remove dermatitis stains. Rub white toothpaste (not gel type) into stains and scrub with a towel. Oil: Apply olive or baby oil to the stain and leave for as long as possible (best overnight). Wash the oil using soap or shampoo. Makeup Remover: If you have a liquid makeup remover or wipe on your hand, it can help remove residual splats from your skin. Liquid Laundry Detergent: Apply liquid laundry detergent to skin, rub with a damp towel, emulsify and sit for 30 minutes and rinse. If you have sensitive skin, be careful when trying this method. Dish soap and baking soda: Mix these two together, apply to dyed skin and scrub with a towel. Rinse with warm water and repeat as needed.18Is splat dyeing continues? Most splats are direct dyes (also known as non-permanent dyes) and act like stains on the hair. It doesn't come out with each wash, but you shouldn't expect to be able to easily remove it. If you want to switch your Splat hair color, color remover can help you remove most of the colors, but don't restore your hair to natural shades. To get a completely different look, you usually need to apply different dyes on top of the fading color in a dark shade. The exception to this rule is the jet black dye of the splat. The color is a powder mixed with the developer and should be considered permanent. It has been known to stick around for a very long time, and if you want to remove this hair color before it grows out you will probably need professional help.19 How long will Slaat dye last? How long Splat lasts depends on how porous the hair is before applying it and how to treat it after dyeing. You can expect the splat color to last for about six weeks on previously bleached hair. Like all non-permanent dyes, the splat fades out with each wash. You can wash your hair less often and use cold water and sulfate-free shampoos to keep it fresh for longer. Once it starts to fade, you can refresh it with more splat colors or change the style to a new brighter look. Naturally on blond or light brown hair, splat dye will result in a less vibrant finished look than the style of using bleach. Consider the difference between using purple markers for white paper and yellow or light brown paper. You'll still be able to see purple, but it certainly won't be intense. Applying splat dye to dark brown or black hair can give your hair a little color hint (especially when the light hits), but its color can be incredibly inconspicuous. Try the Splat Midnight collection of rubies, amethysts or indigos for a dark splat style specifically designed for bleach-free use. The blue of the splat can turn green when applied to dark blond hair, and may appear purple over hair with a lot of red tint. If you want true, vibrant colors, working with bleached hair is the best bet.21Splat dyeing tips and things to consider if you are looking for vivid results that are true to color, pre-bleaching is a must. Even natural blondes will get a darker and less vivid look than bleached hair, as the lightning process prepares to absorb more porous and splat colors. Splat dye stains! Our removal tips are great for smaller spot here and there, but you can spend a long time scrubbing if you don't notice where Splat comes into contact with your skin. Doubling your gloves or using heavy rubber gloves is a great way to protect your hands in this process. Do not rub splat dye on the scalp unless you want the scalp to be the same color as the hair. Splat hair dye bleeding. Even after a very thorough rinse, almost everyone who uses Splat experiences color bleeding when their hair gets wet, and some find that dry hair transmits color. Some cleaning. In addition to towels, pillows and bedding are frequent victims of this color bleeding, and white shirts can also be damaged. If you're exercising or taking a walk in the rain, expect some splat colors to get out of your head. Head.
