The same phenomenon is observed in a satanic temple in Russia and in a gathering of Scientists. Meanwhile, in Annnville, Texas, Jesse Custer, a preacher with a sordid past, begins to lose faith in his church and discusses leaving. Tulip O'Hare, a mysterious woman from Jesse's violent past, proposes to him with a job, but Jesse rejects her. Cassidy, an Irish vampire, lands in Texas after a violent incident on a private jet. Jesse has a meeting with the violent husband of one of his churchgoers and quickly subdues him and his friends, meeting Cassidy in the trial. Jesse heads to the church to ask for a sign to continue. The entity appears in the church and inhabits Jesse. Three days later, Jesse wakes up and decides not to leave the church, saying it's not over yet. 22SeeSeth Rogen & Ev; Evan GoldbergSam Catlin5, 2016 (2016-06-05)2.08[2] In 1881, a cowboy leaves his home and heads to the town Ratwater (then it becomes clear, that Annnville was founded on its ruins), looking for medicine for his sick daughter. In the present, Jesse baptizes his covens. One of them, Linus, confesses to Jesse about his impulses. Odin Quincannon and his demolish a house after buying his land. At church, Jesse takes a drink from Cassidy's flask and will sing because of his DeBlanc and Fiore try to extract what's inside Jesse: first with a song, then with a chainsaw. Cassidy interrupts and is shot, but manages to kill them. Tulip continues to torment Jesse for the job, but he refuses. Jesse uses his new power over Linus. Cassidy buries the bodies of the two men, but they are now seen in their motel room being questioned by Sheriff Root, who they tell Us about the government. 33The PossibilitiesScott WinantChris Kelley12 June 2016 (2016-06-12)1.75[3] Tulip meets a woman named Dany in Houston, Texas and receives a piece of paper with the address of the enigmatic Carlos, with Tulip intending Jesse to help confront and kill the man who ruined their lives. Jesse tests the limits of his persuasion skills and finally understands the nature of his abilities when Donnie confronts him with a gun, with Jesse later holding control over him. Cassidy tells Jesse about the possibilities of his abilities, discovering the true nature of Fiore and DeBlanc: they are angels of Heaven and people will die if they don't recover what's inside Jesse. 44Monster SwampCraig s'iskSara Goodman19 June 2016 (2016-06-19)1.14[4] Cassidy tries to tell Jesse about Fiore and DeBlanc, even if he falls on deaf ears while Jesse is distracted by the thought of restarting All Saints' Congregation, which wants more visitors. He later converted the atheist Odin Quincannon to Christianity, using his power, in front of the entire congregation to achieve this goal. Angry at the death of a woman, Tulip performs a form of vigilante justice, but the consequences are not as expected as she mistakenly throws Cassidy out of a window, only to find out he's an immortal vampire. 55South Will Rise AgainMichael SlovisCraig Rosenberg26 June 2016 (2016-06-26)1.43[5] Eugene asks Jesse for help with him and his father after a disturbing message is transmitted to Eugene. Jesse respects him and helps him in more ways than one. Fiore and DeBlanc attempt to placate their reason for being on Earth, but are unable to convey their message. Jesse meets the angels, who inform him of Genesis and Jesse's powers are not to be used; but Jesse abused them to help those who came to him after he persuaded Quincannon in church. Tulip and Cassidy bond after learning of Cassidy's secret, and Quincannon meets with Green Acres representatives with unexpected results. In 1881, the cowboy witnesses in a side room of the city's saloon a group of criminals attacking a family of newly arrived settlers: they kill their father, rape their mother, and force their young son to watch. The unarmed cowboy ignores the landscape and leaves town with medicine for his baby. But when he notices another schooner of the prairie with family headed to Ratwater, returns to prevent them from suffering the same fate as the previous family. Back in in he must realize that the new family is trading Indian scalps and therefore had received a warm welcome from the people of the city. The cowboy is badly beaten and his horse is killed by a cynical preacher, who reveals the cowboy as a bloodthirsty former Confederate soldier, known as the Gettysburg Butcher. Forced to return home on foot, the cowboy arrives too late: his son is dead, as is his beloved wife. He grabs his two rioters and an army sabre to get revenge. 66SundownerGuillermo NavarroNick Towne43 July 2016 (2016-07-03)1.49[6] DeBlanc reveals to Jesse the secret of this, what is inside him: Genesis, the powerful son of an angel and a female demon. Jesse, Fiore, and DeBlanc head to the motel, where they fight a female seraphim, a higher-ranking angel, in search of Fiore and DeBlanc, who were traveling illegally on earth. Since angels cannot die (when their human body is killed they return within seconds), they must mutilate the seraph to prevent it from further action. Eugene makes new friends at school. Tulip reaches an understanding with Emily and helps with her chores. Eugene comes to Jesse at the church to give him back the pardon Jesse conferred the city. Angrily, Jesse tells Eugene to go to hell, making him disappear. 77He GoneMichael MorrisMary Laws10 July 2016 (2016-07-10)1.55[7] In the present, Odin Quincannon asks Jesse to sign the church, claiming to have won the bet. Jesse lies to the sheriff that he knows what happened to Eugene and rips the church floor in a desperate attempt to get Eugene back. Cassidy confronts Jesse for sending Eugene to hell, and exposes himself to sunlight, revealing exactly what's to Jesse. Although a young Jesse and Tulip have approached, Jesse's father delivers Tulip to the child protection services. That night, Jesse angrily prays that God will kill his father and send him to hell. Later, armed men come to church and kill Jesse's father while Jesse confesses that he prayed for this to happen. 88El ValeroKate DennisOlivia Dufault17 July 2016 (2016-07-17)1.65[8] In the 1980s, Odin Quincannon lost his family in a gondola accident during the winter, causing his spark for atheism. Jesse rejects Quincannon's attempts to take down the church, and sees Eugene return from hell. Tulip decides to buy a dog. DeBlanc and Fiore are called to church to extract Genesis in exchange for Eugene's return. As Quincannon becomes impatient and plans his assault once again, Donnie figures a way around Jesse's power. Although Genesis is pulled out, he manages to escape after an argument with Jesse, Fiore, and DeBlanc. Jesse asks for another at Quincannon with a bigger bet than before. 99End the songMichael SlovisCraig Rosenberg24 July 2016 (2016-07-24)1.57[9] In 1881 Ratwater, the Butcher of Gettysburg Gettysburg slaughter those who killed his family. He ends up in hell, where he has to re-experience the death of his wife and son again and again. Fiore and DeBlanc offer him the chance to reunite with his family in heaven, when the cowboy kills Jesse and returns Genesis to Fiore and DeBlanc. In the present, Jesse tells Sheriff Root where Eugene is before fleeing the police car in the night. Fiore and DeBlanc book a trip to hell (from which DeBlanc won't return). Tulip asks Emily to take care of Cassidy while she takes care of something else, and Emily sees exactly what Cassidy really is. Sheriff Root discovers Fiore and DeBlanc's mutilated body in Fiore and DeBlanc's hotel room and kills her, just to allow her unknowingly to return. Cassidy and Jesse make amends, and Cassidy helps Jesse use the sky phone to find God. 1010Call and answerSam CatlinSam Catlin31 July 2016 (2016-07-31)1.72[10] Tulip returns in search of Jesse, and finds him in an unusual place. Sheriff Root interrogates Cassidy to find out Eugene's where. Carlos' betrayal comes to light, and vengeance comes to the fold. After the deliberation, Tulip and Jesse decide what to do with Carlos. As the police move to where they think Jesse is, Donnie, Tulip, Betsy, and Jesse prepare for the call to God. Although Quincannon shouts his problems with God's existence to the crowd, Jesse attempts to make the call with technical problems. God seems to show up to answer questions from the crowd, but Jesse has his own questions. With Genesis, Jesse obtains God to reveal that man is an impostor and that God has disappeared and no one knows where he is. With people's faith broken by the call, the consequences for citizens happen in various ways, which leads to the complete destruction of the city and the people of Annnville. Jesse, Tulip, and Cassidy are at a distant dinner, where Jesse shares his plan for them to travel and find God. When they stop due to running out of gas, Jesse uses Genesis to make police officers do embarrassing things, but they are abruptly interrupted by the Killer Saint (the Cowboy) who begins to slaughter them all. As soon as he escapes, the trio makes their way to Mike, a religious scholar Jesse knows through his father. Mike reveals that a local strip club manager allegedly saw God attend the strip When the Killers' Saint arrives shortly after the trio leaves, Mike kills himself to avoid tell him Jesse's where it is. At the strip club, club, Manager, Tammy, is forced to tell Jesse and Tulip that God only came because he liked jazz music, after she was accidentally shot by a security guard Cassidy was fighting. In a motel later that night, Jesse sees the Killers' Saint walking down the street, and discovers that Genesis is unable to work on him. 122Mumbai Sky TowerSeth Rogen & Ev; Evan GoldbergSam Catlin26 June 2017 (2017-06-26)1.35[12] Jesse, Cassidy and Tulip escape little from the Saint of the Killers, learning of Annnville's fate in the trial. Cassidy then remembers seeing Fiore on television, now an act at a local Indian-style casino and hotel. It is revealed that after returning from Hell, Fiore attempts to kill himself after the loss of DeBlanc, but ends up earning a job instead as an act of novelty where he kills himself and comes back to life. After the interrogation, Fiore reveals to Jesse and Cassidy that the man chasing them is the Saint of the Killers and that the two angels hired him to kill Genesis/Jesse. Cassidy promises Jesse that he can convince Fiore to call back the Saint of Killers. While at the casino, Tulip comes across a man from her past and kills him during a fight. At the bar, Jesse comes to the conclusion that he might find God in New Orleans. Leaving the hotel, Jesse tells Fiore to find peace. Fiore tells the Saint of the Killers that the contract is still valid, and then asks the Saint to finally kill him, which he does. 133DamselsMichael SlovisSara Goodman3 July 2017 (2017-07-03)1.11[13] Arriving in New Orleans, Jesse, Tulip and Cassidy look for jazz bars in search of God. Jesse is horrified when a man in a dog costume is introduced to them as God. Eventually, Jesse meets a singer who is then kidnapped by a mysterious group and saved by Jesse. She later reveals that she is an operator of the mysterious group and confirms the existence of Genesis to their boss, Herr Starr. Meanwhile, Tulip and Cassidy go to a house owned by Denis, apparently a friend of Cassidy's. Tulip tells Cassidy that he is hiding from a man named Viktor, who he previously cheated on. Hoping to end the problem, Tulip allows herself to be found and captured by Viktor's men. Meanwhile, in hell, Eugene is made to relive the memory of the day he became Arseface repeatedly, with the memory showing it wasn't his fault. A dysfunction in hell eventually pulls him out of memory and shows him to be in a prison-like position. He learns that his cell door is open and comes out into a long hallway full of cells. Asking for help, Eugene is shocked and terrified to see Adolf Hitler come out of the cell next to him. 144ViktorMichael SlovisCraig Rosenberg10 July 2017 (2017-07-10)1.19[14] In an infomercial, Cassidy acknowledges who played the impostor God who spoke to Jesse's congregation. They locate his talent manager who provides them with a demo reel given to by the people who hired the actor. In the tape, the man is executed to get to Heaven. Cassidy reveals to Jesse that Tulip has gone to Viktor and may be in danger. Tulip is greeted with an extremely frosty reception by everyone at Viktor's house, before Jesse comes to save her. After confronting Viktor, Tulip tells Jesse that Viktor is her husband. Meanwhile, in hell, the cells continue to break, and in times of descent, Eugene binds with Hitler and discovers that his worst memory is Munich 1918, when he met an art gallery owner. The ward superintendent meets with Eugene to tell him to act badly, because he's in hell, and they're going to look at him, sanctioning deviant behavior. On his return, Hitler is beaten by another inmate, Tyler, with other inmates joining. Eugene sees the surveillance camera and starts kicking Hitler. 155DallasMichael MorrisPhilip Buiser17 July 2017 (2017-07-17)1.27[15] In flashbacks, it is shown what happened to Jesse and Tulip after Carlos betrayed them and Tulip lost their unborn child in Dallas. They try to lead a normal life with legal jobs, but they can't get pregnant again. After a while, Tulip secretly resumes her work as a contract killing. When Jesse discovers that she is back in crime, also learning that she has taken contraceptive pills all the time, he decides to return to his father's church to become a preacher himself, which leads to their breakup. After that Tulip meets Viktor and marries him for his money and power. However, when Dany calls her and tells her that he has found Carlos, he leaves Viktor immediately. In the present, Tulip takes her stepdaughter to Denis' house while Jesse meditates on killing Viktor. However, Cassidy convinces Jesse not to, claiming that Tulip never stopped loving Jesse. Instead, Jesse gets Viktor to sign the divorce papers. In the evening, the Saint of the Killers appears at Viktor's house in search of Jesse and kills Viktor. At gunpoint, the frightened daughter, who hid in a closet, tells the killer that she knows Jesse's where she is. 166SokoshaDavid EvansMary Laws July 24, 2017 (2017-07-24)1.19[16] When the Saint of the Killers shows up at Denis' house, Jesse, Tulip and Cassidy are only able to escape. In a library, they research their pursuer and find out that he has lost his soul. Jesse confronts the Saint and makes a deal with him: He will have a new soul so that he can enter Paradise, but Tulip, Cassidy, and Denis, who turns out to be Cassidy's son, must stay behind. In search of a soul in a Voodoo store, Jesse discovers that a Japanese company has taken on the business of a soul affair. It turned out that Jesse came from a family called that somehow she was involved in this. Unable to find a corresponding soul in the company's armored truck, Jesse discovers that his soul does. So he extracts 1% of it and gives it to the Holy Saint in time. Instead of sending him to hell, Jesse disarms the Killers' Saint, locks him in the armored truck, and drives him to a place called Angelville, where he sinks him into a swamp. 177PigWayne YipOlivia Dufault31 July 2017 (2017-07-31)1.10[22] In Vietnam, Herr Starr investigates the case of a floating pig, which generated media exposure, and resolves the matter by ruthlessly killing everyone involved. In flashbacks, he is shown joining a powerful organization called grail, which preserves the lineage of Jesus Christ for the apocalypse and inexorably fights any conflicting tradition. Meanwhile in New Orleans, Jesse, Tulip, and Cassidy participate in a game in which people are shot while wearing a bulletproof vest, and trick other players into stealing their money. Later, Denis tells his father that he is dying of congestive heart failure and wants to be turned into a vampire to survive, but Cassidy refuses. While Tulip suffers nightmares about the Killers' Saint, Jesse has reconsidered sacrificing part of his soul for his friends and discusses the matter with a street preacher. Herr Starr has the information on his phone that his next target is Jesse. 188HolesMaja VrlićMark StegemannSe August 7, 2017 (2017-08-07)1.15[18] In Hell, the superintendent announces that the reason for power outages is due to the presence of a person who should not be there, and vows to find the culprit. Hitler suspects it's Eugene and tricks him into helping another prisoner. For his good deed, Eugene is thrown into the Hole as punishment, where he is shown an intensified and fabricated memory of Tracy promising himself to God and masturbating Jesse, leading back to his attempted rifle suicide. When Eugene returns to the others, Hitler offers to help him escape. Meanwhile in New Orleans, Denis' health deteriorates, and he insists that Cassidy make him a vampire. Jesse analyzed the audition tape: the serial number of the gun in the video was archived and no other surface clues. When Tulip has a new refrigerator installed in the apartment, she follows the holes left by the Killers' Saint's bullet in the adjacent apartments and finds Lara Featherstone, a Herr Starr agent who inspected Jesse, masquerading as a modest victim of domestic abuse. In a phone call, Cassidy asks someone called Seamus for advice on how to handle Denis, and is advised not to turn him into a vampire. 199Puzzle PieceMichael DowseCraig Rosenberg14 August 2017 (2017-08-14)0.99[19] Grail agents uncover evidence of Jesse's power, but Herr Starr, disinterested, orders them to kill Jesse. After a Grail SWAT team fails, Herr Starr is advised to B.R.A.D. in order to complete the task. During the fight with the soldiers, it turns out that Cassidy really did Denis in a vampire. While B.R.A.D. is ready, Herr Starr begins to take an interest in Jesse, after discovering that he is looking for God. B.R.A.D., revealed to be a combat drone, has been activated and is about to destroy Denis' apartment with a missile, when Herr Starr calls the mission out, after finding something interesting in Jesse's file. The missile destroys Harry Connick Jr.'s home, killing the singer. Herr Starr meets Jesse in a bar and offers help in the search for God. 2010Dirty Little SecretSteph GreenMary Laws21 August 2017 (2017-08-21)1.03[20] Lara Featherstone makes her way into Tulip's confidence in order to hurt. Cassidy ties in with his son, who seems to have no control over his vampire desires. Jesse repeatedly uses his powers on Herr Starr to reveal the true nature of the Grail. He learns that it was the Grail that hired and killed God's impostor. However, it becomes clear that neither the organization nor Christian religious leaders know where God is. Later, Jesse meets the last descendant of Jesus Christ. He is nicknamed Humperdoo, and has an intellectual disability due to inbreeding that makes him unfit to play the role of the new Messiah. Herr Starr suggests that Jesse should use his powers to fill the void left by God's absence, which Jesse rejects, relying on his friends. Meanwhile, Herr Starr wants to be the one who helps Jesse find God, so he orchestrates Tulip's discovery of the Killer Saint's weapons that Jesse had buried under Denis' apartment, in order to cause conflicts between Jesse and his friends. 2111BackdoorsNorberto BarbaSara GoodmanAsara Goodman August 28, 2017 (2017-08-28)0.90[21] In flashbacks, a teenage Jesse is plunged into a swamp, locked in a coffin, by his grandmother L'Angelle to break his will. In the present, when Jesse and Tulip have the armored truck lifted from the swamp, the Saint of the Killers appears to have disappeared, leading to tensions within the group. Herr Starr reveals to his agents his plan to replace the Messiah with Jesse. Jesse has the intuition that the man in dog costume may have been the Almighty, after all. However, when he returns to that place, the person is no longer there. Tulip tries to have the weapons of the molten Saint, but they cannot be destroyed. So he sends them to Brazil by mail. After recording Jesse's prayers to him, including the one in which he prayed for his father's death, Herr Starr repeats his offer to Jesse to take Jesse's place, which Jesse refuses again. As a result, it was revealed that the armored truck had been exchanged from the Grail, and the Saint of the Killers was released by an agent. In hell, after seeing Hitler's worst memory of his last day as a good person, Eugene accepts the help escape and enter the Hole to find a backdoor together. 2212On yours SlovisSam Catlin & Rachel Wagner September 4, 2017 (2017-09-04)1.10[22] In Hell, Hitler tells Eugene that he must prove that he does not belong there to find the backdoor. When it does, they can escape through a tree. In a flashback, he is shown how the Grail secures the Collaboration of the Saint of the Killers by freeing him from his new soul, thus restoring his powers. Meanwhile, Jesse declares that he no longer wants to think of God. When the Saint of the Killers attacks Jesse and his friends, he is stopped by the superintendent of Hell. She takes him with her, telling Jesse that he is lucky to have Herr Starr on his side. Back in hell, the Saint asks to meet Satan. The ambulance Jesse uses to take his friends to the hospital belongs to the Grail and takes Tulip and Cassidy to Herr Starr, who reveals his plans for Jesse to them, telling them Jesse doesn't really take care of them. After watching the news, in which the Pope announces the disappearance of God and the arrival of the Messiah (Humperdoo), Jesse comes to the conclusion that he has no choice but to take God's place. He calls Herr Starr, who then kneels before him. 2313The end of the roadWayne YipSam Catlin11 September 2017 (2017-09-11)0.97[23] The plot summary of this episode may be too long or overly detailed. He wants Cassidy as his partner. However, Cassidy is turned on by his plan, but eventually returns to him again. Jesse and Tulip lost the fight. To prevent T.C. from taking Tulip's soul, Jesse offers to steal Madame Boyd's deposit, which is stored in a bank deposit box. With the help of Jody and T.C., they manage to rob the bank and feed all of Gran'ma's souls, but that's still not enough. So Jody kidnaps Madame Boyd, and they extract her soul because Gran'ma devours. Jesse shoots Madame Boyd later to stop her from fighting in the graves. He promises to pay his debt to his grandmother and decides to call the Grail. In his New Orleans office, Herr Starr meets the Allfather, who tells him about his plans to destroy the world with a nuclear apocalypse in preparation for the Messiah's second coming and wants to talk about Jesse Custer. 307HitterMichael MorrisCarla Ching5 August 2018 (2018-08-05)0.88[30] The plot summary of this episode may be too long or overly detailed. (August 2018) (Learn how and when to remove this template message) Hitler works in a fast food sandwich under a pseudonym, planning a fascist revolution, when the Saint of the Killers shows up with Eugene and takes him away in chains. When Jesse and Tulip burn Madame Boyd's body, the Grail arrives in Angelville. In with Herr Starr on the terms of Jesse's release, Gran'ma requires more souls. Starr agrees to get souls from the Japanese soul dealing company, which is owned by Grail, provided he can borrow Jesse immediately. Marie L'Angelle agrees, but threatens to kill Jesse if Starr doesn't follow him. Before Starr sent Lara Featherstone and Tulip with Jody undercover to Osaka, Tulip asked Jesse to take care of Cassidy. This reveals his plan to kill his grandmother as soon as he has gained his powers back. Meanwhile, Cassidy becomes Eccarius and takes part in his plan with the Sons of Blood, even biting one of their disciples. When a gang of murderous priests, hired by the Grail, try to kill Eccarius and arrest Cassidy, they are defeated by Cassidy. It turns out that Eccarius, unfaithful to Cassidy, killed all the victims he turned into vampires. Starr orders his agent Hoover to continue the hunt for Cassidy. T.C. asks Gran ma of Genesis. When Starr and Jesse arrive in New Orleans, Starr asks for Jesse to kill him to rewind his soul fragment and takes Jesse to meet the Allfather, who he is assigned to do. 318The Tom/BradyWayne YipMary Laws & Kevin RosenAugust 12, 2018 (2018-08-12)0.94[31] The plot summary of this episode may be too long or overly detailed. Starr is reluctant to kill his superior. When Jesse is overwhelmed by the Allfather's bodyguards, he is tied to a stretcher. Grail scientists manage to extract Genesis from his body and, after several failed attempts, transfer it to a clone of Humpertoo. The clone is executed before the hell Humpertoo is brought into the room. Meanwhile Marie L'Angelle negotiates with Satan, who would claim his soul after his death, to deliver tulip to him. Satan sends Sydney, the Angel of Death, to an e-commission to get Tulip. Cassidy and Eccarius capture grail agent Hoover, who is looking for them, and turn him into a vampire. Cassidy discovers that Eccarius has killed all the other vampires to increase his supernatural abilities, and confronts Eccarius. In the fight, Eccarius kills Cassidy out, and Hoover flees. Tulip, Lara Featherstone and Jody manage to rob osaka's soul dealing company vault. On their return to New Orleans, they are stopped by Sydney, but Tulip tricks her into taking Featherstone instead, who still carries the suitcase full of souls. In Australia, Jesse falls mortally from the sky. A few months earlier in the Middle East, Jesse and Tulip managed to invade Masada, where Cassidy is being held captive by the Grail. Cassidy is in a cell with an outcast Archangel and is tortured by an American mobster named Frank Toscani, who teaches advanced torture at the University of the Grail. Herr Starr loses an ear in the next fight with Jesse. However, Cassidy refused to leave Masada, apparently due to an argument with Jesse over Tulip. Meanwhile, the Killers' Saint and Eugene Root are still searching for Jesse in the United States. Jesse has nightmares where he sees an atomic explosion in a phallic rock formation, his dead father calls him on the phone and tells him to start looking for God again, and tries to strangle Tulip. As a result, he leaves the same night, leaving Tulip behind. Herr Starr gives to God, and together they decide to make Jesse suffer. 352Last CenaJohn GrilloGary Tieche4 August 2019 (2019-08-04)0.62[34] The plot summary of this episode may be too long or overly detailed. After his wounded friend was killed by British soldiers, he fled Dublin. On his way home, he was attacked and turned into a vampire, so he resigned so as not to return to his family. When his cllimate tells him that the angels have been moved by his fate, his good mood is restored. During their journey, Eugene discovers that the Saint of the Killers does not want excuses like him, but intends to kill Jesse. Eugene is arrested by the deputy team, after an officer in the adjacent bathroom booth insults him to put his mouth to a hole in the divider. The Saint shoots the policeman as they leave. Meanwhile, Agent Featherstone discovers how Tulip has sneaked into Masada. At the Grail Hospital, Tulip reveals her personality disorder in a Rorschach test, but is discharged anyway. She goes to Cassidy's cell only to find out he's been taken back to Benshonort. At the brothel, Jesse alone beats all the customers in a fight. Unfortunately, the child was accidentally shot. In an attack of rage, he kills Jesus de Sade, before returning to the airport observed by God. There he meets Adolf Hitler, who tells him that Satan is dead and that he would like Jesse to join him in hell, which he rejects.
