There are several ways to customize your interest in your behavior: browse channels by category: the app divides all content into categories. Later, it may be related to the nature of the content or the origin of each of these channels. In other words, you can switch channels that offer news, entertainment and sporting events. Use search engines to find what you need: It comes with an integrated tool that lets you search for available channels that you've forgotten to categorize. Customize channel offer customization options: Use the options menu to set up custom channel assignments. In this way, you can delete all tabs that you are not very interested in deleting (for example, if you want to watch American channels) and all bookmarks that do not have your favorite ones. In this way, we can make other decisions. For example, you can lock an app with a password or lock the options menu so that anyone can change it. If this option is available, you can also choose streaming quality. Select a player: Live NetTV does not provide the capability to run these channels from the application. So send a signal to a multimedia player that supports the streams we need to do. If you press one of the channels and you don't want to set the default player, you can choose from many. If you haven't found it yet, just choose your favorite you need to download it.
