Until recently it was prayed in Latin, the universal language of the Church. In fact, Latin is still praying in some cults. 16324 members I enrolled Our Father in LatinPater noster, qui es in caelissanctificetur nomen tuumadveniat regnum tuumfiat voluntas tua sicut in caelo et in terra. You will be able to discover every day a video on reflection of the gospel of the day, and learn more about its origins. A lot of people have the strange idea that if they recite our father in Latin, it will have better results than if they do so in their original language; and that is because it is the language used by Pope Francisco Bergoglio and all his predecessors. Enter this article and find out if it is true what you think is true. In addition to our father in Latin, two versions of prayer are known; Matthew's version of the gospel under the sermon and the shortest form quoted in the gospel according to Luke 11:1, when one of the disciples present asked him to teach them to pray, just as John the Baptist had taught His disciples. In Matthew's text, the first four requests are addressed to God; while the remaining four relate to humanity. Only the gospel according to Matthew presents (Save) Hail, Regina, mater misericordiae; vita dulcendo et spes nostra, ointment. Ad te clamamus, exules, filii Evae. Ad te suspiramus, gementes et flentes in hac lacrimarum whey. Eia ergo advocata nostra, tuos tuos misericordes oculos ad nos converte. Et Iesum, benedictus fructus ventris tui, nobis post hoc exsilium cheese. Either clemens, O piia or dulcis Virgo Maria. Amen.Anima Christi (Soul of Christ)Anima Christi, sanctify me. Corpus Christi, save me. Sanguis Christi. Aqua lateris Christi, wash me. Passio Christi, comfort me. Or ben Iesu, exaudi me. Intra tua offends absconde me. Ne allows when I split up. Ab evil host defends me. I hora mortis meae voca me. Et iube me venire ad te, ut cum Sanctis tuis laudem te in saecula saeculorum. Esparzá - published on 05/12/16Ly hear that Latin is a dead language. But to claim that Latin perished with the Roman Empire is not only inaccurate, but openly false, how, then, would it be explained that several modern philosophers, including Descartes, have written their works in Latin and not in the Romanesque languages? Why does the latter not em have the old imperial language? Why did Latin become Latin in the Middle Ages? Moreover, why is it still read, cultivated and actively used in more than one room? While we have addressed these issues in previous posts, on this occasion, we want to share three prayers - our Father, Hail Mary and Creed - in the original Latin text, as they were asked less than a hundred years ago, in nomine Patris, a Filii, a Spirits Sancti. Amen.Pater NosterPater noster, qui es in caelis, sanctificetur nomen tuum. Adveniat regnum tuum. Fiat voluntas tua, sicut in caelo et in terra. Panem nostrum cotidianum en nobis hodie, et graduate nobis debita nostra sicut et nos dimittimus debitoribus nostris. Et ne induces us in tentationem, libera te us to evil. Amen.Ave, MariaAve, Maria, full gratia, Dominus tecum. Benedicta tu i mulieribus, et benedictus fructus ventris tui, Iesus. Sancta Maria, Mater Dei, ora pro nobis peccatoribus, nunc, et in hora not be displayed. Amen.Credo ApostolorumCreation in Deum Patrem alnigt, Creatorem caeli et terrae.
