Your RatingUser Rating: 5 (44 votes) Plantronics M22 Amplifier Do I need an amplifier (Plantronics M22) for my phone? Most phones do not provide sufficient power for a headset. A headset amplifier will provide additional power for the headset via batteries or an AC adapter. Amplifiers also provide volume (inbound and outbound) and mute controls. Although most phones require an amplifier, some don't. Check our list of office phones that don't require an amplifier in our direct connection headset page. You can also check our Compatibility Guide to learn if your phone will need an amplifier to work with your headset. (After selecting a headset model, please go to the amplifier/adaptor section on the right side of the page.) Plantronics M22 and Plantronics M12 (older model) headset Amplifier connect Plantronics H-Series headsets to just about any single or multi-line office type phone and offer ergonomically designed volume, headset/handset, and mute controls. Connect Plantronics headsets to most single or multiline phones. Plantronics M22 Installation Instructions - The line cord comes out of the wall staying in your phone. The hand receiver cable is the only cable to be removed from your phone. Plug the Hand receiver from the base of the phone and connect it to the back of the Plantronics Vista M22, where it shows a picture of just a hand receiver. Then the short cable that came with the Plantronics Vista M22 is plugged into the back of the Vista M22 where it shows a picture of a full phone and the other end plugs in where the hand was receiver.
