The 2020-21 school year is the 44th year of the Delaware College of Mathematics. The Delaware Department of Mathematics was founded by Dr. William J. Geppert Jr., a former math supervisor at the Delaware Department of Education, and the late Dr. Willard Baxter, who retired from the University of Delaware. The Math League is currently funded by DCTM – Delaware School of Mathematics Teachers. The goal of the Delaware High School Math League is to foster interest in math through a team competition. There are four levels of competition – 7th grade, 8th grade, 9th and 10th grades. Schools are separated into geographical areas for regional competitions. With the end of the four regional group meetings, the highest scoring teams and the leading teams from each region are invited to participate in the invited competition. The awards were given to the regional winners and to win the invitational competition at the Math League's ballrooms.
