Since you have to play for a very long time to get to the next level, the levels get boring pretty quickly. You should choose the appropriate tracks randomly and not always drive these same 3 or 4 tracks to the level. Excellent game that knows how to convince with the principle of the game and graphics. Of course, it's not a game you can play for hours at a time, but that's not the right point of criticism. I also think it is very good that you can remove any forced advertising for £2.29 - a fair price for a good game. A small criticism would be that it is not immediately obvious how to remove the ad (when advertising is uploaded, it is briefly recorded, but it is quickly overlooked and was not quite clearly designed for ME). Two other small critics would be that a) descriptions are not always fully readable and that the car completion in the chat does not work properly. Otherwise I have nothing to complain about, so I'm happy to see further updates and can recommend the game to anyone who likes racing games. Hillclimbracing 2 is by lengths better than Hillclimbracing 1, they personally greatly appreciate the graphics are getting better and there are only two points that would make me table from the first advertising after every race and every run that comes, Do not spend it on video games, but second, the keyboard would not find how to be. the best video game I have ever played and maybe my opinion has helped you and also want to play Hillclimbracing 2, I can only recommend! Developer website App support PublisherFingersoftPlatformsAndroid 4.2+, iOS 8.0+PriceFreeSizeVaries with deviceLatest version1.16.3 After the success of voping 8.8 million downloads on their previous Hill Climb Racing game, Fingersoft has released a new follow-up to the popular title. Hill Climb Racing 2 is a casual racing game where players can kill their time competing against other players! GameplayNouncings for the game are fairly straightforward – there are only two pedals that players control. Left pedals brake the car, the right pedal is for acceleration. Bumps and ridges along the racetrack could tilt and topple your car, and the goal is to avoid your driver colliding with the ground. Players can also perform bikes and middle air turns to earn extra bonuses! Hill Climb Racing 2 is divided into two modes of play, and players have the freedom to play whatever they want. Adventure modeTho game mode is a standalone game mode application. The goal of the game is just to drive as much as you can without crashing the car. Now and then you will receive tasks such as reaching certain checkpoints (e.g. 500m) will earn you rewards such as breasts. These breasts each contain a variety of goodied inside, including new objects and extra gold! Completing these will put them on the chill - for example, players have to wait 8 or more hours after completing the task before getting a new one. Starting out players can only access the countryside map, but there are many others waiting to be unlocked! Check out this beautiful forest map! Cup ModeNaster Cup is a competitive game mode of the app, where players race against other cars. It's unclear if they are bote-offs or other players. Winning the race will earn you precious breasts! Extensive customizationSHokar each contestant enters the screen where they can choose and upgrade their vehicle using the coins they earn. This includes various parts including engine, adhesion, suspension and AWD. Here we can give vehicles a new look, such as new licks of paint. But they can't be bought with gold. Instead, they can only be obtained by opening the breasts obtained throughout the game. Not only can cars be tailored to your liking, drivers can be adapted! It's a great feature I don't even see in many races. Hats, avatars, tops and bottoms can all be switched up to create your own character. As with customizing a vehicle, you can only select items that you collect from your chest that cannot be purchased. This may be a bit annoying because you can't choose new items to buy, but it was more exciting to see what was in my chest! The graphics and PerformanceOverall Hill Climb Racing 2 is smooth and polished, with game interfaces and menus looking incredibly well made. Optimization is excellent and the graphics are wonderful, giving a wonderful gaming experience!
