Lore[edit | source of editing] Once used by seedseers as a place for spiritual reflection and meditation, Haukke Manor has long been emanate by the people of Gridania as a symbol of excesses. After years of protests, the building was finally sold to a wealthy Wildwood Elezen named Lady Amandine. From face creams invented from rare Coerthan honeys to shampoos derived from the milk of exotic phurbles, her daily beauty treatment ritual escalated until rumors were made to bathe in the blood of her virgin maids. However, no amount of man-made tinctures could hide the hideous scars she eventually suffered during the accident, and she was soon forced to turn to a darker solution, signing her soul in a final effort to literally save face.
